REVOLT AGAINST COAL PRICE HIKE GROWS STEADILY

200 Rails Start Fight; Mines Protest.

BY PHILIP HAMPSON.

More evidence appeared yesterday of the mounting resentment against the boosting of coal prices by the national bituminous coal commission created by the Guffey-Vinson coal act. The commission put into effect on Dec. 16 a schedule of minimum prices which not only discriminates against Illinois' coal industry but has increased the fuel bill of the entire nation.

Developments yesterday:

1. An effort was started by 200 of the country's railroads to stop the enforcement of the price fixing order which they say adds $21,000,000 annually to their fuel costs.

2. A petition was filed in the United States District court here by several Illinois mines asking a temporary injunction against enforcement of the price boosts.

3. A warning was issued by Gov. Henry Horner that Illinois will fight the discrimination against its coal mines in favor of coal mines of other states.

4. An order was entered by Federal Judge Martin T. Manton in New York staying the increase in prices in New York harbor for smokeless coal shipped from West Virginia.

5. Chicago coal dealers estimated that the Guffey-Vinson act will increase Chicago's fuel bill by about $6,000,000 a year.

Railroads Launch Attack.

In Washington members of the Association of American Railroads and the American Short Line Railroad association, representing about 200 railroads, joined forces in attacking the legality of the minimum price ordered by the coal commission for locomotive fuel. The two groups filed a petition in the Circuit Court of Appeals asking an annulment of the order of the coal commission setting the minimum price.

The commission announced late last night that a hearing would be held in Washington on Feb. 14 on revision of minimum prices established for coal sold to railroads. Marketing rules and regulations will also be discussed.

In the federal District court in Chicago the United Electric Coal Companies and several other Illinois companies joined in filing a petition in which they asked that the coal commission be restrained from enforcing its order setting a minimum price of $2.15 a ton for locomotive fuel. This is the first court attack to be filed in this district against enforcement of the coal commission's orders.

Refuse to Alter Order.

A spokesman for United Electric, whose president and other top executives are in Washington, said the petition was filed after efforts to get the coal commission to change its price order had failed. The petition charges the coal commission with discrimination, lack of fairness and with preventing Illinois companies from selling coal to customers they have had for many years.

Gov. Horner in Springfield last night confirmed reports that he will start a fight to end the discrimination against Illinois mines.

"I am highly perturbed over the situation," Gov. Horner declared. "We will do everything in our power to correct it. The coal commission's rulings put other states, including Indiana and Kentucky, in a more favorable position to sell coal to Illinois consumers than our own producers.

Continue Buying Illinois Coal.

"The state government will continue its policy of buying Illinois mined coal even though the rates set by the coal commission raise the price higher than coal mined in other states.

"The rates as set by the commission are ruinous to the Illinois coal industry and as soon as possible I shall submit a formal protest."

It is known that Gov. Horner has his staf at work collecting data as to the effects of the coal commission's price boosts upon business of Illinois mines. It has been charged that Pennsylvania and West Virginia mines as well as those of Indiana and Kentucky are given increased competitive advantages under the new price scale.

Price Increase Stayed.

The order in New York by Federal Judge Manton was entered on behalf of the Carter Coal company. The order stays an increase in the price

SURVEY ASSAILS SOCIAL WORKER RELIEF CONTROL

Urge Sound Business Methods in Chicago.

BY WILL O'NEIL.

Sixty Chicago business men yesterday completed a six weeks' investigation of the Chicago Relief administration. Their conclusions were announced here last night by a representative of Gov. Horner. In essence the business men recommended that:

Walter Gregory.

"The administration of relief should be taken out of the hands of the social workers and made a business proposition. The social workers have their place in handling unemployable cases, but their domination of the CRA should be ended. Until this is done there can be no efficient administration of relief in Chicago."

Estimates by the CRA showed that in February 95,012 families, or cases, having a total of about 240,000 individuals, must be cared for with public funds. The estimated number of cases in January was 92,080.

Prepared by Illinois Council.

The report was prepared under the direction of the Illinois Council on Public Assistance and Employment. Walter Gregory, chairman of the council, took the report to Gov. Horner in Springfield Wednesday. It was released after a three hour reading by members of the Illinois Emergency Relief commission, which met yesterday to allocate state relief funds for February.

The 60 business and efficiency experts who made the report were loaned by 35 firms to the council for the survey. Through the council these business men drew nine conclusions and made recommendations thereon. These were:

"1. The present law, which limits the CRA to 8 per cent of its total funds for administrative purposes, should be revised. Administrative expenditures should be sufficient for an efficient and economical administration of relief.

Wants Business Management.

"2. Social service training does not include training in office management or actual relief administration. Yet it is apparent that district administrative authority resides in the social service supervisor. The emphasis in the general management of CRA district offices should be shifted from social service to business management, with adequate stress on social service techniques where indicated.

"3. The survey indicates that about 56 per cent of the persons now on relief are employable. The remainder are unemployable because of physical incapacity, children in the home, or some similar reason. Social workers should continue to handle the unemployable cases. A special department should be created in each office to handle the employable cases and speed them toward private employment.

Suggest Permanent Setup.

"4. Relief is no longer an emergency proposition. The administration of relief should be set up on a more permanent and adequate basis.

"5. Social service principles should

BOARDING IT UP

BABY SHEILA CRIES AND PROUD PARENTS MAKE THE MOST OF IT

Her mother, Mrs. Trudy Kaplan, 26 years old, spanked her. Mrs. Kaplan's husband, Edward Kaplan, 36 years old, a butcher, came home during the spanking and berated Mrs. Kaplan.

Mrs. Kaplan telephoned her mother, Mrs. Ida Rathner, 50, 4731 North Drake avenue, and said she was coming home. Instead, Mrs. Rathner hurried over and scolded Kaplan. Then she marched out.

CLEAR TEACHER OUSTED IN 1917 AS PRO-GERMAN

Minneapolis, Minn., Jan. 28.—(AP)—The board of regents of the University of Minnesota today cleared the name of Prof. William Schaper, discharged from the university faculty for alleged pro-German speeches in the world war. The regents voted to offer him the rank of professor emeritus and to give him $5,000 back pay.

Prof. Schaper, who taught political science at the university until his expulsion shortly after the United States entered the world war, now is a member of the faculty of the University of Oklahoma. His case, which attracted wide attention at the time of his discharge after he had made speeches opposing the entry of the United States into the war, was recently brought to the attention of the regents by Gov. Elmer A. Benson, who urged he be reinstated.

Jury Acquits Wife in Killing of Love Rival

BY VIRGINIA GARDNER.

In a carnival setting marked by cheering, clapping, and hysterical weeping by women spectators, Mrs. Ada Szczytowski, 32 years old, was freed by a jury in the Criminal court yesterday of the charge of murdering her philandering husband's girl friend. She admitted shooting her rival, Miss Irene Kirstein, 26 years old, to death on Nov. 22, but pleaded self-defense.

[Sixty-four other women have been acquitted of murder charges in Cook county since 1906. Nineteen were convicted in this thirty-two year period and they served sentences in the penitentiary. Several others were found guilty, but were freed after new trials.]

It took the jury 100 minutes to decide, in five ballots, that the pretty, demure Ada, mother of three children, was not guilty. At 5:25 o'clock, Ada was taken from the anteroom where she had been smiling and talking with a woman bailif, to the crowded courtroom. A clerk read hastily, "We the jury find the defendant not guilty."

Hurrah, Hurrah for Ada.

As Judge Rudolph Desort left the bench a storm of applause and cries of jubilation set up a terrific din, spectators arose and threw their arms around each other. The jury, bewildered, but pleased, remained seated. Ada stumbled, weeping, toward the jury box.

In her deep, passionate voice, whose husky, dramatic tones helped make her a forceful witness in her own behalf the previous day, she said: "Thank you, gentlemen, every one of you." She hung her head becomingly.

Preceded and followed by photographers, she haltingly made a dramatic exit from the courtroom, entering a room adjoining chambers. The jury followed her out, three portly figures and bald heads going first, younger members following. All self-consciously adjusted vests or pulled on coat sleeves. Later Louis Seifer, 1331½ North Central avenue, foreman, declared they thought the statement of self-defense impressive.

Withholds Opinion of Husband.

"We also thought she was terribly mistreated by Irene," he said. Asked what he thought of her treatment by Rudy [her husband, Rudolph] he said: "I guess I'd better not say."

Meanwhile Ada's husband, a short, thin-haired man with a pointed nose, of colorless appearance, ran about the corridors waving his arms and crying: "My wife, my wife! She's free!"

He tried to get to her and was restrained by bailifs. Ada remained bowed in picturesque grief as camera men snapped her in the ante-chamber. But her attorneys, Roland Libonati and Robert Romano, sensed that something was missing in this picture. They leaned over and whispered to her. Would she see Rudy?

"I was afraid she might not go for it," Attorney Libonati said later. "But she did. She said, 'I will take him back, yes.'"

He was brought in. His wife looked at him, and cringingly he crept up to her and flung himself on her neck, his eyes streaming.

"Ada, Ada," he blubbered, as an audience of 30 or 40 bailifs, photographers, lawyers and miscellaneous persons looked on, some gratified, others embarrassed, "I'll never do it again—what I did—I'll never, Ada, darling."

They arose and clinched in a more romantic pose at the suggestion of attorneys and sundry other advisers.

Throughout the closing arguments by Assistant State's Attorneys Julius Sherwin and Eugene Wachowski and her own counsel, Mrs. Szcztowski sat with her eyes downcast.

"In not asking the death penalty the state does not deviate from the demand that you do justice," said Sherwin.

Reminds Jury of Confession.

He reminded the jurors of testimony that she continued firing after Irene had dropped to the floor. He quoted from her confession a question put to her: "Were you afraid of Irene Kirstein as you shot her?" He quoted her answer: "No, I was not, because I caught her off guard."

Although Rudy's testimony regarding the illicit relationship between him and Irene, a clerk in his bakery at 1351 North Paulina street, was ordered stricken from the record, Attorney Libonati appealed to the jury:

"You are men of experience. Although you are liberal about a man's affairs outside his marriage, you can't be about the conspiracy to break up this home, sanctified by the birth of children."

WOMAN CHIEF ASKS HER CLANSMEN TO EAT MORE HERRING

LONDON, Jan. 28.—(AP)—The first woman chief of the Clan MacLeod on the Island Skye asked her clansmen today to show their fealty by eating more herring and wearing hand-made Skye tweeds, island products.

The new chief of the 1,000 year old clan is Flora, "The MacLeod," middle-aged, graying, and with merry blue eyes. Her ancestral home, Dunvegan, is believed to be the oldest inhabited castle in Scotland.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

MONTREAL, Que., Jan. 28.—Four American snowshoers from Biddeford, Me., trudged into Montreal last night, ending a 350 mile hike to attend the International Snowshoers' congress, opening here tomorrow. Clad in heavy blanket cloth suits, they were the advance guard for hundreds of Americans who will come by special trains from Maine and Massachusetts points.

CHINA'S ARMIES BROKEN UP; PUSH GUERRILLA WAR

BY CAPT. M. M. CORPENING.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

HONGKONG, Jan. 28. — Since the fall of Shanghai and Nanking to the Japanese invaders there is no "war front" in China. As far as normal warfare goes, the conflict was over with the fall of Nanking to the Nipponese in mid-December.

The Chinese have now adopted guerrilla tactics entirely. The armies, which for six months put up spectacular but futile resistance to the Japanese in the Shanghai-Nanking area, have been scattered to the interior and expect to make no definite line stand.

Army Is Disorganized.

There is little organization in the Chinese armies. A pass through one general's territory would not be honored in another area. Chinese officials admit that a car carrying a foreign flag would make a good target for undisciplined troops. Nelson T. Johnson, American ambassador, told me at Hankow, the new Chinese capital, that he had been trying without success for weeks to get American military attachés into the fighting zones to observe the warfare.

Thus, while the first phase of the Japanese conquest appears to be about over, the question of Japan eventually whipping China still is open to debate. Chinese officials at Hankow say it is impossible. The farther inland Japan sends its troops the longer its line of communication becomes and the greater its difficulties.

The Chinese contend the very guerrilla tactics now in progress will defeat the Japanese: that and the passive resistance of the civilian populations in new territories which the Nipponese invade. The primitive communications of China being what they are, most of the population of the country have not and never will hear of the war.

What Has Japan Accomplished?

What has Japan accomplished by its invasion to date? Chinese officials say it has only damaged its own export trade by blockades of the Chinese coast, which have kept out much Japanese goods which normally would have been absorbed by China. The best figures obtainable for this trade damage indicate that it totals about $300,000 a year.

A former professor of economics now serving the Chinese government says China's internal economic structure has not been affected by the hostilities. He says this is an economic war and that China is impregnable.

The Japanese censorship in the areas they have conquered is just about airtight. For example, an American correspondent arriving in Shanghai armed with a pocketful of credentials and letters of introduction calls upon the Japanese ambassador in Shanghai. The ambassador sends a cordial and polite assistant to say that the ambassador regrets exceedingly that he is busy and could he [the assistant] be of any service.

Visitors Barred from Interior.

HULL PROTESTS SENTRY'S INSULT TO DIPLOMAT

Attacked for Trying to Help Woman.

Arms Increase Asked

NATIONAL DEFENSE—President presents eight point plan for increasing army and navy strength in special message to congress; program meets with criticism in senate and house because of failure to define foreign policy. Page 2.

Washington, D. C., Jan. 28.—(AP)—Secretary Hull tonight instructed Ambassador Grew at Tokio to make representations to the Japanese government regarding the slapping of American Third Secretary John M. Allison at Nanking by a Japanese soldier.

At the same time the state department published an account of the affair, which is at considerable variance with the official Japanese version, and Secretary Hull took occasion to praise Allison's work.

Hull's representations followed the recent emphatic protest he addressed to Japan regarding violations of the American flag and depredations against American property by Japanese soldiers.

Two Americans Slapped.

The state department disclosed that not only Allison but another American was slapped in the face by the Japanese soldier. This was Charles Riggs, a member of the faculty of Nanking university, an American institution, whose collar was torn off.

According to the state department account, the incident grew out of Allison's investigation of an attack on a Chinese woman by Japanese soldiers. She was taken by Japanese from the agricultural implement shop of Nanking university.

Allison and Riggs went to the Japanese barracks where, the woman said, she had been raped three times. They were accompanied by the woman and by a Japanese consular policeman and gendarmes in civilian clothes.

Go as Protection to Woman.

"At that point," Allison cabled, "a discussion was held as to whether or not Mr. Riggs and myself should accompany the woman into the building while she attempted to identify her assailants. Because of previous experience of intimidation of Chinese who had accused Japanese of wrongdoing, Mr. Riggs did not wish the woman to be left alone.

"The gendarmes said we had better not go into the building, but did not definitly say we could not.

"One of them forcibly took the woman and walked with her through the open gate of the compound, whereupon he was followed by Mr. Riggs. I followed and just inside the gate we stopped to discuss the matter.

"While doing so a Japanese soldier dashed up angrily and shouted in English, 'Back, back,' at the same time pushing me back toward the gate. I backed up slowly, but before I had time to get out of the gate he slapped me across the face and then turned and did the same to Mr. Riggs.

Renews His Assault.

"The gendarmes with us tried feebly to stop the soldier and one of them said in Japanese 'these are Americans' or words to that effect. We were then outside the gate on the street. As soon as the soldier heard we were Americans he became livid with rage, repeated the word 'Americans' and also attempted to attack Mr. Riggs, who was nearest him.

"The gendarmes prevented him, but he succeeded in tearing the collar and some buttons off Mr. Riggs' shirt. In the meantime the officer in command of the unit appeared and shouted at us in an offensive manner. At no time did either Mr. Riggs or myself touch a Japanese soldier nor did we speak to any except the gendarmes with us."

Allison, in his cable to his superiors, expressed astonishment at the official

Won't Punish Soldier.

SHANGHAI, Jan. 28.—(AP)—A Japanese army spokesman declared today the Japanese soldier who assaulted the United States diplomat in charge of the Nanking embassy would not be punished as he was only doing his duty.

The spokesman said the Japanese authorities were taking a serious view of what they considered the insolent attitude of the American diplomat, John M. Allison, third secretary and now ranking American embassy official in Nanking.

The spokesman asserted Allison's almost daily protests against the actions of Japanese soldiers in conquered Nanking had nothing to do with the attack.

Might Have Been Shot.

The army spokesman said the apology tendered Allison after he protested to the Japanese consul general was merely a courtesy gesture. Any one disobeying a Japanese sentry, he added, could be shot.

Allison's reports to Washington of Japanese attacks on American nationals and property had caused a strong protest to be lodged with the Japanese government. The United States ambassador to Tokio presented the protest Jan. 17.

It was learned that two high ranking Japanese officers were flying from Tokio to Nanking to investigate the American charges. Shinrokuro Hidaka, Japan's acting ambassador to China, also left to make a five day investigation in Nanking.

Japs Suppress Protest.

TOKIO, Jan. 28.—(AP)—The Japanese foreign office spokesman said today the text of the United States note of Jan. 17 charging "flagrant disregard of American rights shown by Japanese troops" would not be made public in Japan.

Japanese newspapers carried only brief accounts of an incident in which the United States embassy third secretary, John M. Allison, was slapped at Nanking by a Japanese sentry.

Wife Returns to U. S.

Scotia, N. Y., Jan. 28.—(AP)—Mrs. Charles Riggs, wife of one of the men reported slapped yesterday by a Japanese sentry at Nanking, said today she last heard from her husband on Jan. 25, when she received a Christmas card. She said her husband had been in China since 1916, being sent there by the Congregational Church mission board.

After spending the summer near Tientsin in North China, Mrs. Riggs brought four of their five children to the United States. A son, 20, already was in the country attending the University of Illinois. Mrs. Riggs expects her husband to come to the United States in June on a year's leave of absence.

ANTI-JAP TERROR REIGN INCREASES; 8 BOMBS THROWN

SHANGHAI, Jan. 28.—(AP)—A bomb thrown from a passing automobile exploded at the entrance of the residence of the Japanese consul general here tonight. The building was damaged slightly but no one was hurt.

It was the eighth bomb explosion within 24 hours in the Shanghai area. The bomb thrower escaped.

Tonight's bombing was considered one of a series ascribed to Chinese terrorists seeking to kill Japanese, destroy Japanese property and so intimidate Chinese that none will have any dealings with the Japanese conquerors of the Shanghai area.

On the only major battlefield of th undeclared war, some 350 miles north of Shanghai, two Chinese columns were reported to have driven a spearhead into the Japanese army's broad front in Shantung province.

Poland Promises to Stop Attacks on Soviet Trains

MOSCOW, Jan. 28.—(AP)—The soviet government today announced it has accepted assurances by Poland it would take measures to prevent attacks on Russian trains, such as that reported at Dobunovo, Polish frontier town, last November. Russia charged a soviet train coach was set afire after the crew was locked in at the Polish station, but that the engineer detached the flaming car and prevented possible loss of life.

PRESIDENT ASKS VAST NAVY AND STRONGER ARMY

Foreign Policy Query Is Raised in Congress.

BY WALTER TROHAN.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Jan. 28.—[Special.]—President Roosevelt's militant armaments program encountered its first criticism on Capitol hill today as he submitted an eight point national defense program, which includes an 800 million dollar long range naval building plan, in a special message to congress.

Critics made it clear that they were not objecting to necessary national defense, but challenged the President's program on the ground that it was unaccompanied by any declaration of foreign policy.

In his message Mr. Roosevelt asked for only 25 million dollars more to be added to the billion dollar defense program he submitted to congress in his regular budget message Jan. 5, for expenditure in the fiscal year beginning July 1. The message also suggested appropriations for starting construction of two additional battleships and two additional cruisers in the present calendar year.

The additional battleships requested for this year would be in addition to the two provided for in the navy bill already passed by the house. The two battleships provided for in the regular naval appropriation bill are replacements, as are the two battleships now under construction.

Navy Bill Submitted to House.

Immediately after the reading of the message, Representative Carl Vinson [D., Ga.], chairman of the house naval affairs committee, introduced a bill authorizing the 20 per cent increase in the tonnage goal of fighting ships, as proposed by the President. Vinson's bill calls for the appropriation of 800 million dollars for 47 new ships. This would make necessary revision of the Vinson-Trammell act, which holds navy construction to the limitations of abrogated navy treaties.

Vinson's bill would provide for three new battleships, which, in addition to the four new ones ordered and appropriated for, would give the United States eighteen under age battleships on completion of the long range program.

Measure's Other Provisions.

The bill would add 2 aircraft carriers, to make a total of 8; 8 cruisers, to make a total of 47; 25 destroyers, to make a total of 147; 9 submarines, to make a total of 58, and would add 22 auxiliary vessels. These would number 5 destroyer tenders, 4 large seaplane tenders, 7 small seaplane tenders, and 3 repair ships.

The bill also would add 1,000 airplanes to the navy goal of 1,200 planes. The navy now has 1,100 planes. There was no action from the house military affairs committee on the army suggestion for raising its goal from 2,320 planes to 2,794 planes. It is expected that a bill authorizing the increase over a period of years will be introduced shortly.

Cites Effort for Limitation.

In his defense message the President pointed out the many years' effort of the United States to bring about limitation of armaments in the world, and pledged continued effort in that direction. However, he added, the time has come when this nation must think of its own safety.

"It is with the deepest regret," his message read, "that I report to you that armaments increase today at an unprecedented and alarming rate. It is an ominous fact that at least one-fourth of the world's population is involved in merciless, devastating conflict in spite of the fact that most people in most countries, including those where conflict rages, wish to live at peace.

"As commander in chief of the army and navy of the United States it is my constitutional duty to report to the congress that our national defense is, in the light of the increasing armaments of other nations, inadequate for the purposes of national security, and require increase for that reason."

The President's message makes the following specific recommendations:

1. Authorization of $8,800,000 army anti-aircraft additions, with $6,800,000 to be spent in the next fiscal year, beginning July 1. Previous budgets had authorized an average of about 5½ millions each year for all ordnance material, of which less than a million dollars went for anti-aircraft guns.

2. Four hundred and fifty thousand dollars for increasing the army enlisted reserve. Because the army has virtually no enlisted reserve almost nothing has been expended in this connection. Money is appropriated for National Guard and citizens' camp activities, which are regarded as reserve units.

3. Authorization of $6,080,000 for army dies and material equipment, of which $5,000,000 would be spent in the next fiscal year. The ordnance department has been given an average of $80,000 each year for dies in the past. Because this appropriation involves every department of the army, the war department was unable to give accurate information for comparison with past expenditures.

Munition Reserve Sought.

4. Spending of $2,000,000 to increase army munition reserves. The army has asked and received about 4 million dollars each year for ammunition and target material. All has been fired within each fiscal year and not held in reserve.

5. Authorization of the flat 20 per cent increase in the Vinson-Trammell act.

6. Authorization and appropriation for start of work in next fiscal year on two additional capital ships and two cruisers.

7. Authorization and appropriation of $15,000,000 for experimental naval vessels. Experimentation for vessels in the past has been held down to between 1 and 1½ million dollars.

8. Legislation for elimination of war profiteering and equalization of war burdens.

Vandenberg Calls for Facts.

In the senate, amid a chorus of approval for the message, Senator Arthur H. Vandenberg, [R., Mich.] called upon the President to disclose "the justifying facts, if any, for the biggest regular budget for arms in our history," and to clarify the nation's foreign policy. His criticism was voiced in a statement and not from the floor of the senate.

"What are these conditions which hazard our security to an extent which demands still more American arms?" he asked. "The world's armament race is just as unprecedented, as alarming and ominous as the President says, but it is no less ominous when he says we must join this race for the sake of our national security.

"If that is true, so be it—we shall never surrender the national security—but it requires more than this generalizing message to prove it. Congress and the people must have the justifying facts, if any."

Demand Raised in House.

In the house after Vinson had submitted his bill Representative Maury Maverick [D., Tex.] joined in the Vandenberg demand for a definition of an American foreign policy. Both he and Vandenberg found supporters to their demand.

House Minority Leader Bertrand H. Snell said he is willing to do everything necessary for the full and ample protection of the American people, but that he is not interested in any one's ambition to police the world. He added that he would like a little definite information as to what is going on in the President's mind.

Late today Mr. Roosevelt conferred for an hour and a half with Secretary of State Cordell Hull, Undersecretary Sumner Welles and Norman Davis, his ambassador at large. The conference embraced the reaction to his defense message as well as international affairs, it was understood.

AWARD $30,500 DAMAGES IN AUTO ACCIDENT TRIAL

Damages of $30,500 were awarded early today by a jury in the Circuit court in Waukegan to James M. Cannon, 44 years old, 1515 Monroe street, Waukegan, an insurance man, and his daughter, Ruth, 17 years old, for personal injuries suffered in an automobile accident.

The verdict, the largest of its kind ever awarded in Lake county, gives $26,500 to Cannon and $4,000 to his daughter. They had sued for a total of $55,000.

Japs to Tax All Incomes of More than $290 a Year

[Copyright: 1938: By the New York Times.]

TOKIO, Jan. 29 [Saturday].—The Japanese income tax exemption limits are again being lowered to reach incomes of 1,000 yen [about $290] annually. The change will affect an additional 500,000 taxpayers and add 5,000,000 yen [$1,450,000] to the national revenue. This is part of a new taxation plan designed to raise 300,000,000 yen [$87,000,000] yearly to cover the interest on war borrowings.

CHINESE ARMIES BROKEN UP; PUSH GUERRILLA WAR

Aim to Beat Japanese by Harassing Tactics.

ant refers the correspondent to the Japanese navy department, where another credential is presented. Here a similar scene is enacted. This goes on indefinitly and soon the supply of letters runs out, but no pass is obtained.

The Japanese authorities will not permit any press representative to visit their troops. Every avenue of transportation is thoroughly guarded. No airplanes, of course, are available, and no matter along what highway you start from Shanghai a bayonet appears on each side of the car and it is explained that it is a good place to turn around.

All the news available from the Japanese side is thoroughly censored before being released at press conferences, which are held twice daily. Questions are politely answered by the spokesman with the statement that information on that subject must come direct from Tokio and that he is not authorized to comment.

Chinese Use Similar Tactics.

Practically an identical situation is encountered on the Chinese side. The Chinese are not as frank as the Japanese. The latter, when asked if one can do this or that, say yes or no. Mostly no. The Chinese invariably say they will find out, but they never do. One thing they have in common is a good blockade of roads.

One tries all sources in seeking to overcome these obstacles. Officials say that for any one to see either Gen. Chiang Kai-shek, dictator of China, or his wife, who is head of China's airforce, it is necessary to see their political adviser, W. H. Donald, and that is exceptionally difficult.

It is hard, but it can be done. The gentleman granted an interview, in which he committed himself to promises of help. After ten days it was learned that the general, his wife, and Donald had left for unknown places for an indefinite time.

If a complaint is made, one is advised that promises do not mean much in this country.

Hard to Get Out of China.

Once having gotten into the interior of China by devious routes, a traveler is apt to find himself there more or less permanently. The trafic is heavily on exit—a fact which is not revealed when they take you inland.

Take Hankow, for example. Railway trafic to Hongkong is concerned principally with military necessities, and the line is subject to almost daily air raids by the Japanese, making travel highly dangerous. One plane is operated in each direction daily, except Sunday.

The airplane run to Hongkong is, according to the airline's office in Hankow, booked solidly for two months ahead. Of course, if a traveler happens to have a friend with good connections a reservation can be persuaded to fall out in one's favor. How good the friend is can be determined accurately by the price of a ticket.

The Difficulty Begins.

Having established sufficient friendship, a call is left at one's hotel to be awakened at 6 a. m. The airport is at Wuchang, across the Yangtze from Hankow, and then some five miles out in the country.

The hotel furnishes a taxi, which delivers you to the ferry. The airline bus is supposed to be on the other side. No bus is there. It is just daylight and raining—no ceiling nor visibility.

After much gesticulating with a policeman—pointing to a suit case, the direction of the airport, the sky, etc.—he finally allows that you might want to get to the airport and finds another taxi.

Upon arrival at the airport you find that the plane is a three motored Junkers that was obsolete years ago. The motors are being warmed, so one assumes it is going to start despite the weather.

Pilots Good—and Need to Be.

The steward, who had for a uniform an old army coat and breeches which did not match, could speak a few words of English. Asked about the weather, he replied "weather no count"—and it didn't to him. Asked if he thought the plane could get off the muddy field, with no runways and a heavy load, he replied, "no fail yet." The passengers hoped he could say the same tomorrow.

There is no question about the ability of the pilots—they are good. With a terrific load, the takeoff was perfect.

The trip was anything but pleasant, with passengers sitting in each others' laps and with the steward and an unfortunate woman, who became violently ill, sprawled out in the aile. The ventilation was none too good. It took five hours to fly the 475 miles non-stop. No wind, and the ground was not seen except at the takeoff and the landing.

Tonight, Mother, MORE great DINNERS for you and your grand family . . . and . . . we . . . will . . . wash . . . the dishes. Think of it . . . a generous, delicious dinner for you and ALL your family and navy a dish to wash. Tonight?

JAPAN ORDERED TO PREPARE FOR A GREATER WAR

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

TOKIO, Jan. 28.—The Japanese government frankly admitted today that it expects the war with China to develop into something bigger. The nation was informed by Gen. Gen Sugiyama, minister of war, that it must prepare to fight a third power, which he did not name, but which generally is believed to be Russia.

Gen. Sugiyama's sensational statement was made in parliament, where the armed forces of the nation are seeking appropriations of about $1,800,000,000 to carry on the war in China for this year. The army and navy already have spent about $1,200,000,000 for the last six months of warfare.

"Situation Becoming Grave."

"The current incident [the war with China] gradually is assuming greater proportions and the situation rapidly is becoming more grave," Gen. Sugiyama told parliament in reply to questions. "Foreign supplies are entering China through Mongolia, Canton, and Indo-China. I believe the volume is considerable, but accurate figures are unobtainable.

"In any event, the imperial army holds the key to settlement. Taking warning of experiences obtained through the Chinese incident, and also to cope with this new situation which is developing, I believe the army forces must be increased.

"The question has been asked if it will be necessary to strengthen the army after termination of the incident. We are mapping plans carefully to meet all contingencies. Since Japan must fight a long term war with China, we must prepare for a country other than China."

Threatens Naval Race.

Admiral Mitsumasa Yonai, naval minister, added his voice to the warlike attitude of Gen. Sugiyama. Speaking of reports of French, British, and American naval building, he declared:

"Japan cannot permit other nations to become superior in this manner. If third powers embark on armament expansion on a large scale, we intend to carry out rapid expansion."

Observers generally agreed that it was Russia, and not the United States nor Great Britain whom the war minister meant Japan must prepare to fight. Relations between Japan and Russia have been strained, upon several occasions almost to the breaking point, for several years. There have been many skirmishes between Japanese and Russian troops along the Manchukuan-Siberian frontier.

Halt Parcel Post Service.

In recent months the Russians have noticeably stiffened their attitude toward the Japanese. Soviet officials, including the war minister, have made speeches in which they openly insulted the Nipponese with charges of "hooliganism," and warned that they were fully prepared for war, which they charged the Japanese were plotting, together with Germany and Italy. Japan, Germany, and Italy are allied in a pact against communism.

The latest Russian-Japanese incident occurred this week, when Russia suspended all parcel post service with Japan in reprisal for the detention of a soviet plane in Manchukuo, which is Japan's puppet state.

The plane was forced down on Dec. 19 and its two occupants are still in jail. The Japanese charged that the plane carried machine guns and bombing equipment. Russia insists the ship was a mail plane.

RUSSIA MASSES ARMY

BY SAM BREWER.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, Jan. 28.—Russia has assembled a formidable army on its far eastern frontier and has been sounding out Great Britain's willingness to support it in curbing Japan, reports in diplomatic circles here said today.

The large force normally kept in Siberia has been increased recently, it is said, by three divisions of infantry, two mechanized divisions, two of artillery, one each of cavalry and engineers, and a large air force, the exact size of which is not known.

The Russian idea is that they are ready to fight Japan if other interested powers, notably Great Britain, will guarantee them against an attack from the European side—that is to say, an attack by Germany.

Threatens to Quit League.

The Russians feel that now is the decisive moment, and if the powers do not act quickly, they must give up all idea of keeping a foothold in the orient.

Hints have been dropped, it is understood, that if Russia does not find support it may quit the league of nations and seek to come to terms with those now hostile to it.

The British believe such a move may be the result of fear that the democracies and dictator countries may come to an agreement and leave Russia out in the cold.

The British expect that the suggestions will be made more formally through Maxim Litvinov, soviet foreign minister, to Capt. Anthony Eden, British foreign secretary, while they are at the league of nations meeting in Geneva.

40,000 IN BATTLE FOR FIVE MILES OF SPANISH HIGHWAY

Rebels' Reserves Bombed in Teruel Drive.

HENDAYE, France [at the Spanish Frontier], Jan. 28.—(AP)—The Spanish government shifted the spearhead of its widely developing offensive in eastern Spain today and struck at insurgent lines southwest of Teruel. A government communique said several insurgent positions southwest of that city had been captured.

In the same sector, government dispatches said, insurgent attacks south of El Muleton, a hill position overlooking Teruel from the west, were driven off.

At the northern end of the 40 mile long battle front government airmen attacked a principal source of insurgent power. Rebel troop concentrations on the outskirts of Carinena, about 30 miles southwest of Saragossa, were bombed and machine gunned, it was reported.

Reserves Concentrated.

Gen. Francisco Franco, rebel commander, had been assembling reinforcements there for a march southward to block the government threat to his only supply artery, the Teruel-Calamocha highway.

Forty thousand government and insurgent troops fought hand to hand on a five mile section of the highway, between the villages of Singra and Torre la Carcel, about 30 miles north of Teruel. Fighting of less intensity occurred all along the road from Teruel to Calamocha.

[A rebel communique said the loyalists launched offensives at two points on the Teruel front, but made no gains. Loyalist troops were repulsed "with large losses" at Celades, north of Teruel, and the rebel lines held firm south of Turia, the communique asserted.]

Teruel of Secondary Value.

Rebel sources said the government's drive had created a "new campaign" which made the fate of Teruel of secondary importance. Teruel was captured by the loyalists on Dec. 21.

Earlier dispatches from the insurgent side said the defenders of the strategic road had captured several Americans and Canadians among 300 prisoners.

Drive Off Bombers.

SALAMANCA, Spain, Jan. 28.—(AP)—A rebel spokesman said tonight fifteen government war planes attempted to bombard Salamanca, the rebel capital, this afternoon, but were driven off by anti-aircraft batteries. The planes dropped their bombs on the outskirts of the city, injuring several children, he said.

PENSIONED BY CITY AFTER 44 YEARS; HE'D WORK FOR NOTHING

Milwaukee, Wis., Jan. 28.—[Special.]—Charles Hauserman, pensioned after 44 years on the public pay roll, is looking for a public job with no pay. He will retire next week as executive secretary of the park commission, and at the age of 66 wants to give the public the free benefit for the rest of his working days of the specialized skill and knowledge he has acquired in its service.

In announcing his retirement today Hauserman said that his 44 years of regular pay days, security and pleasant work had created an obligation on him as an employé as well as on the public as his employer.

His pension under the new city and county employé pension law will be about $230 a month.

FRANCE SEIZES 25 TO BREAK UP PASSPORT RING

[Copyright: 1938: By the New York News.]

PARIS, Jan. 28.—Police revealed today the arrest of a gang of 25 persons who specialized, allegedly, in the counterfeit passport trafic. Most of those under arrest are Poles, Hungarians, and Chinese.

Authorities believe they have broken up the largest European organization supplying faked passports for shady enterprizes. They said the gang and its agents operated mostly on the fashionable Champs Elysées, which was said to be a hotbed of spies and drug vendors.

Passports and visas were sold for as little as $4, although United States credentials cost up to $500, depending on the customer's purposes.

The Surete Nationale [national police] also rounded up a number of Spaniards. They were charged with trying to bribe crews aboard Spanish loyalist freighters loading at French ports to take their vessels into rebel harbors.

REVOLT AGAINST COAL PRICE BOOST GROWS STEADILY

of smokeless coal shipped into New York from West Virginia which was to have gone into effect on Monday. James W. Carter, president of the Carter company, who filed the suit, is attacking the constitutionality of the Guffey-Vinson act.

Chicago's bill for approximately 12 million tons of coal it consumes annually will be increased by 6 million dollars a year as a result of price boosts ordered by the commission, coal men estimated yesterday. This increase is based on an estimated average raise of 50 cents a ton.

Cost to Exceed 61 Millions.

Chicago's former bill was about $33,600,000 annually for domestic coal and $23,400,000 for industrial and commercial coal, a total of $57,000,000 The 6 million boost resulting from the enforcement of the Guffey-Vinson coal act will bring the fuel cost for Chicagoans to about $63,000,000 annually, coal men estimate.

On the basis of the city's 3,500,000 inhabitants the 6 million increase will amount to about $1.85 for each citizen, or $7.50 per person for the 800,000 estimated as being gainfully employed.

Coal men assert that the average increase of 50 cents a ton for domestic coal will not be fully apparent in the quoted prices. Substitution of inferior quality coal for better grades which must be made in meeting the terms of the coal commission's orders will account for the increase.

Percentages Established.

The commission established the amount of coarse and fine coal which must be included in a ton of delivered coal selling at a prescribed price. But in so doing it increased the percentage of fine coal to such an extent that quality has been reduced, although prices remain about the same. Thus, the cost to the consumer has actually been raised.

VATICAN MAY NOT O. K. COUNTESS' MARRIAGE TO ZOG

VATICAN CITY, Jan. 28.—Vienna reports that King Zog of Albania is about to announce his engagement to Hungarian Countess Geraldine Apponyi, 22 years old, raise the question of whether such a union would be approved by the Vatican, since she is a Roman Catholic.

In all "mixed marriages" among prominent people, especially when one of them is a sovereign, the Vatican requires the Catholic party to give a written promise that all children born of the union be brought up in the Catholic faith.

In this case, the first boy born of the marriage will be heir to the throne of Albania, the population of which is 80 per cent Mohammedan. Thus, it is regarded unlikely such a promise could be given. The countess, daughter of the former Gladys Virginia Stewart of New York and Count J. N. Apponyi, could marry King Zog only in defiance of the church and probably will have to embrace the Mohammedan faith.

PUT UNDER COURT SUPERVISION.

Robert Johnson, 18 years old, 8307 Maryland avenue, was placed under supervision of the Boys' court for one year by Judge Gibson E. Gorman yesterday after he pleaded guilty to a charge of carrying concealed weapons.

ICKES MOPS UP WEST'S OFFICE; FIRES CHIEF AID

Washington, D. C., Jan. 28.—(AP)—Secretary Ickes swooped down on the office of Charles H. West, undersecretary of the interior and "presidential contact man," today and virtually liquidated its personnel.

The coup, which was a climax to Ickes' long-standing antagonism toward the undersecretaryship, was carried out in West's absence.

West's own job was left untouched [he is a presidential appointee], but Ickes personally fired James A. Rohrer of Mount Vernon, O., West's brother-in-law and administrative assistant. Only a receptionist was left in the office. The other three workers, West's confidential secretary, a stenographer, and a messenger, were transferred to the general land office.

No official explanation was given other than verbal statements that Ickes was "fed up" and considered the office a useless appendage.

The White House was silent, but elsewhere there was little effort to conceal the open secret that Ickes and West never have been congenial.

Sled BreaksThrough River; Boy, 8 Years Old, Drowned

Ralph Wuttke, 8 years old, 1410 North 15th avenue, Melrose Park, was drowned yesterday when his sled broke through the ice in the Des Plaines river, south of Chicago avenue in River Forest. Ralph's brother, Hans, 10 years old, who was nearby, tried to rescue him but only clutched the sled as the swift current carried the body away. Hans called the River Forest police, who began dragging the river for the corpse.

WIFE SHOOTS HUSBAND.

Steve Levak, 48 years old, who lives at 14th street and Honore avenue, just outside North Chicago, was shot in the arm last night by his wife, Frances, 47 years old, during a quarrel. He was taken to the St. Therese hospital, Waukegan.

A. F. L. OPPOSES SENATE INQUIRY ON LABOR BOARD

Fears Rigid Regulations for All Unions.

BY CHESLY MANLY.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Jan. 28.—[Special.]—Chances for a senate investigation of the national labor relations board, which Senator Edward R. Burke [D., Neb.], has accused of tyrannical conduct and almost invariable prejudice in favor of the C. I. O., were considerably weakened today when the American Federation of Labor did a right about face, coming out against an inquiry.

The A. F. of L., whose convention at Denver last October went on record vigorously condemning the labor relations board, now takes the position that a senate investigation might result in amendments to the Wagner labor relations act "with a view of putting the unions in a strait jacket."

Two Reasons Advanced.

Senator Burke and other members of the judiciary subcommittee were surprised by the change of front on the part of the A. F. of L. In the speculation that followed two possible reasons for the switch were advanced:

1. Pressure on the part of the Roosevelt administration to prevent an investigation.

2. The A. F. of L. belief that it will soon take over such unions as it wants of the C. I. O.

Some of the chief lieutenants of the C. I. O. are blaming Dictator John L. Lewis for failure to make peace with the A. F. of L., and there are widespread evidences that the C. I. O. is cracking up. The A. F. of L. naturally would not want the Wagner act amended if it should absorb the C. I. O.

The A. F. of L. switch was disclosed in a letter from Charlton Ogburn, its general counsel, to all members of the judiciary subcommittee considering Senator Burke's resolution. Mr. Ogburn said the board's decisions, with few exceptions, had been "fair and demanded by the evidence."

Objects to Some Employés.

"I could consider that there are some of the board's appointees who could be replaced with more capable and experienced persons to advantage," he wrote. "There are a few members of the board's staf who let their apparent prejudice in favor of the C. I. O. be shown in some of their mediatory activities." But, Mr. Ogburn continued, an investigation would be followed by efforts to amend the Wagner act.

JEWEL BANDITS KILL POLICEMAN, WOUND ANOTHER

New York, Jan. 28.—[Special.]—A police veteran, Sergt. David Kilpatrick, was shot to death and Patrolman Royal Pollitt wounded today when five young gunmen shot their way out of a police trap in a Bronx pawnshop holdup. One of the bandits was shot, another captured, and the other three escaped with loot in jewelry.

The wounded bandit was identified as Martin J. Lavin, 35 years old, said by police to be a killer who had served time in an insane asylum. The captured man was George de Renzzio, 25, paroled robber.

In Manhattan, several hours later, a bandit machine gun squad stole a $24,000 pay roll from three employés of the United States Lines, shipping operators.

EAGER TO FACE C. I. O. ACCUSERS, ASSERTS GREEN

Dual Unionism Charge False, He Says.

Miami, Fla., Jan. 28.—(AP)—William Green, president of the American Federation of Labor, today said he desired to meet his opponents face to face at the Washington convention of John L. Lewis' United Mine Workers.

"I would like to meet my accusers and answer their unfounded charges," Green said, indicating he would do so, possibly next week, if he is able to complete his work at the A. F. of L. executive council meeting here.

The mine workers, now in session, have threatened to revoke Green's membership in their union on the ground of fostering dual unionism and other charges.

Green Summoned to Trial.

The A. F. of L. president was summoned by letter to appear before the miners' convention for a trial on the charges.

The principal basis of the dual unionism charge was Green's issuance last May of a local charter to the Progressive Miners of America in Illinois, an offshoot of the U. M. W. The P. M. A. now seeks an international charter covering the United Miners' field, which probably would be granted if the A. F. of L. expels the Committee for Industrial Organization affiliates whose charters now are suspended.

Green said the matter of expulsion had not yet come before the A. F. of L. executive council, but that an auditor's report of the U. M. W. was considered at today's session.

Financial Backing Traced.

The council concluded, he said, that the U. M. W. was the financial angel of the C. I. O. and that the C. I. O. exists only in name as far as financial standing is concerned.

"The C. I. O. is financed, kept, sustained, and fostered by the United Mine Workers," Green declared.

He cited an auditor's report which he held to show the mine union contributed $1,434,000 to the C. I. O. in the last six months in one form or another, which was $149,000 more than the U. M. W.'s total income from taxes on its members.

Miners Hail Roosevelt.

Washington, D. C., Jan. 28.—[Special.]—The United Mine Workers' convention today adopted a resolution praising President Roosevelt for policies which the miners said have been beneficial to the nation's working classes. The convention paid tribute to the ten persons killed in the Republic Steel riot in South Chicago last Memorial day and criticized Chicago police who were detailed to the riot. Delegates also criticized Gov. Martin Davey of Ohio, Mayor Dan Shields of Johnstown, Pa., and other state and city officials who they said favored steel manufacturers' interests.

ROCKFORD'S FOOD SUPPLIES CUT BY TRUCKING STRIKE

Rockford, Ill., Jan. 28.—[Special.]—Seven fuel companies operating under working agreements with the General Chauffeurs and Sales Drivers' union resumed unrestricted coal deliveries here today, but food supplies dwindled in stores throughout the city because of a transfer drivers' strike called this morning.

Meat market and grocery operators said they would be unable to supply many types of food for shoppers Saturday due to the tieup.

SURVEY ASSAILS SOCIAL WORKERS' RELIEF CONTROL

Sound Business Tactics Urged for Chicago.

not influence fraud investigation. This should be handled by a businesslike fraud department in each district office.

"7. The present system of issuing all relief orders from a central office is too rigid. It should be modified to allow time to meet emergencies. It did not result in a promised reduction of staf.

"8. Paupers from out of town manage to struggle along in Chicago for a year and then apply for relief here. The residence requirement should be lengthened, possibly to three years, to stop this.

Check on Private Work.

"9. Many on relief who have not reported private employment to the CRA could be traced through the records of the social security board records. Access to these should be sought."

Office routine and operation that should be decided by the office manager from an efficiency standpoint is often decided according to the likes and dislikes of the [social worker] supervisor, the report said.

"Administrative authority in the district office should be placed in the hands of a district manager," it continued. "This person should be well qualified both from a business and social service point of view."

The report said that the survey indicated a majority of the families now on relief have received assistance either intermittently or constantly for more than four years. Many of these people, the report added, will never be able to work again.

"This is the first time to my knowledge that this complex problem has been placed squarely before a purely business group," Commissioner Leo M. Lyons of the CRA said in a written statement.

Recommendations Constructive.

"The recommendations contained in the report are constructive and will increase the efficiency of the Chicago Relief administration. It is my desire to meet with the council and its staf early next week so that full benefit might be taken of its findings and recommendations."

The business men made actual studies of 2,000 CRA cases. When they found they had obtained a representative cross section of the entire relief load the survey was terminated. Statistical estimates were based on the sample 2,000 cases as applied to the entire relief load of 88,739 cases at the time the survey was made.

The report estimated that at least 5 per cent of the entire load, or 4,400 cases, were receiving relief through fraud and that this was costing the taxpayers at least $1,500,000 a year.

The report also said that approximately 7 per cent of the heads of families receiving relief were aliens. As these men and women, under a recent act of congress, are not eligible for WPA jobs, they cannot be taken off direct relief except through private employment.

The investigators found that while most cases studied fell into a classification of "poor, but kept up as much as possible" in regard to standard of living, that:

"In most cases where the family was living in utterly deplorable circumstances the condition was due to intemperance or improvidence."

The Illinois Emergency Relief commission allotted Chicago only $1,709,094 in state funds for February relief needs. Mr. Lyons estimated that the highest case load in the history of the CRA, 95,012 cases, will require $3,576,716 for February needs. The city has $399,563 to use during the month if the total funds of $4,395,519 for 1938 are to be used in equal portions for each month.

'TODDY' DILLON AND 442 OTHERS UP FOR PAROLES

Board Will Start Hearing Cases Monday.

Edward [Toddy] Dillon, Chicago's notorious society bandit, heads the list of 443 burglars, robbers, jewel thieves, automobile strippers, rapist, parole violators, and other inmates of Illinois prisons whose cases will be considered Monday by subcommittees of the board of pardons and paroles.

In keeping with the board's strict parole policy, in effect for a year, only a few of those on the February docket were expected to win freedom. From among 512 cases considered in January, only thirteen convicts sentenced from Cook county were paroled. The February docket includes 232 committed from Chicago.

Dillon was a brilliant black sheep son of a well-to-do St. Louis, Mo., family. Once questioned about the murder of his father, a physician, Dillon later served two robbery terms in New York.

Holds Up Five Hotels.

Then he started on Chicago. From the proceeds of five hotel robberies he bought a sporty wardrobe and began to squire girls he met at fraternity dances. He was arrested in 1931 and sentenced to a one to twenty year term. If freed he faces return to Sing Sing penitentiary in New York as a parole violator.

Another convict seeking parole is John Bagdonas, an undertaker involved in an attempt to take the $140,000 estate of James Kelly, flophouse miser, by a forged will. He was sentenced on Feb. 26, 1936, to serve one to five years for conspiracy to bribe a juror. He also must complete a one year sentence in the county jail for contempt of court in the forgery case.

Frank Vecci, alias Vicci, 52 years old, asks parole after serving the maximum of a ten year to life sentence as a jewel robber. His criminal record dates from 1906.

Robber Asks Second Parole.

Maurice Weiner, another jewel robber, wants a second parole. Paroled in 1931 after serving ten years for robbery, he spent the next six years in a federal prison for hi-jacking interstate trucks. After completing his federal term he was taken back to Joliet.

Sentenced in 1934 as a burglar to one year to life after the state dropped an habitual criminal count, Henry Anderson is another on the list. He was paroled previously from Pontiac reformatory.

Lawrence Messina was returned to Pontiac in 1935 as a parole violator when his companion, an automobile thief, was shot by policemen. He was sentenced in 1934 to one to twenty years for stealing automobiles.

U. S. EXAMINERS CHECK BOOKS IN BANK SHORTAGE

Belleville, Ill., Jan. 28.—[Special.]—Federal bank inspectors today began examining records of the Belleville Bank and Trust company, which was closed yesterday by its directors because of a shortage estimated at $125,000 discovered by state bank examiners.

The cashier of the bank, George Wuller, 45 years old, father of seven children, resigned yesterday. He has remained in his home under the care of a physician. No formal charges have been placed against him.

Louis Klingel, a director and attorney for the bank, said $94,000 of missing bonds belonged to the bank. He said $15,000 in bonds and $15,000 in cash belonged to the account of Bishop Henry Althoff of the Belleville Catholic diocese.

Federal examiners entered the case because deposits in the bank are federally insured.

ZION WOOS NEW INDUSTRY; ALTERS LAND CONTROL

A move to bring new industry into Zion was made yesterday with the announcement that 1,000 property owners would be given deeds for leases on their properties, and about 2,100 pieces of other property would be made available for outright purchase.

The substitution of deeds for leases marks an historic change in Zion history. Property holders heretofore could not dispose of their properties without the consent of Wilbur Glenn Voliva, general overseer. Under the new plan it is expected that outsiders will more readily buy Zion property.

CIGARET CASE COSTS 10 DAYS.

Alva R. Graham, 48 years old, 517 North Clark street, accused of stealing a cigaret case in a department store, was sentenced to serve ten days in the county jail by Judge James M. Corcoran in the Evanston Municipal court yesterday.

Before Kidnap Jury

[TRIBUNE Photos.]

Other witnesses included Attorney Edmund S. Cummings Jr. (left), who handled details of ransom payment, and George Kukovac (right), who delivered cash on motorcycle.

A true bill charging John Henry Seadlund with the kidnaping of Charles S. Ross was reported to have been voted yesterday by the federal grand jury. Plans went forward for an early arraignment and trial.

Among the witnesses who appeared before the grand jury were Miss Florence Freihage, former secretary of Ross, who was with him when he was seized in Wolf road on Sept. 25; George Kukovac, motorcycle messenger who delivered a $50,000 ransom to Seadlund; Attorney Edmund S. Cummings Jr., Inspector Earl J. Connelley of the federal bureau of investigation, and Dr. Chester Ihle, 4753 Broadway, a dentist. Dr. Ihle had identified the body of Ross by dental work.

District Attorney Michael L. Igoe said that an indictment against Seadlund probably would be returned Monday or Tuesday.

FREED IN WILL COUNTY; JAILED IN COOK COUNTY

Abraham Karatz, former St. Paul lawyer convicted in 1935 of plotting to embezzle $5,000 from the Amalgamated Trust and Savings bank, was seized in Joliet yesterday by three Cook county officials—Assistant State's Attorney James Cunningham and Deputy Sheriffs Walter Scholler and Patrick Keenan—and locked in the Cook county jail. Karatz was freed on bond by Judge Edwin L. Wilson of the Will county Circuit court on Jan. 14 as he was about to begin a one to five year penitentiary term.

Abraham Karatz.

"Judge Wilson had no right to free Karatz after the state Supreme court upheld his conviction," said Wilbert F. Crowley, first assistant state's attorney.

Karatz was seized after Judge Wilson continued to Feb. 4 a hearing on the petition for a writ of habeas corpus which effected the lawyer's release two weeks ago.

EXECUTED PAIR TO BE BURIED IN SAME CEMETERY

St. Louis, Mo., Jan. 28.—[Special.]—The bodies of Mrs. Marie Porter and Angelo Ralph Giancola, who died in the electric chair today at Chester for the same murder, will lie in the same cemetery.

Giancola was buried today in Calvary cemetery and Mrs. Porter, the mother of four children and his partner in the slaying of her brother, William Kappen, will be buried Sunday afternoon.

Only members of Giancola's family were present at the brief service in the cemetery. Private services will be held for Mrs. Porter.

20 MILLIONS PAID IN STATE JOBLESS TAXES FOR 1937

Deadline Tomorrow; Many Get Extensions.

With the deadline for payment of the Illinois unemployment compensation tax tomorrow night, Martin P. Durkin, state director of labor, announced yesterday that 20,000 Illinois employers have paid $20,000,000, representing their 1937 pay roll tax.

To accommodate an estimated 5,000 employers, who have not yet filed returns, Durkin said the office at 205 West Wacker drive would remain open until 5 p. m. today and all day tomorrow. Unless the state tax of 1.8 per cent on total pay rolls is paid in full, or an extension is granted, Durkin said delinquent employers face double taxation by the state and federal governments.

Federal and State Taxes.

The federal tax this year is 2 per cent. A credit of 90 per cent, however, is granted employers who pay the Illinois tax. Under the present federal ruling, a delinquent employer must pay the entire federal and state tax, a total of 3.8 per cent.

Illinois manufacturers and other business men have asked the government for a blanket extension. Many have been unable to build up an adequate reserve since the Illinois tax was enacted last July, due principally to the last four months' business slump.

The government refused to grant a blanket extension, but ruled that in certain cases, and with adequate proof of hardship, the collector of internal revenue could grant extensions up to sixty days.

If an employer presents a certified copy of the federal extension, Durkin said that the state will grant a similar extension. Several employers have taken advantage of this provision, he said.

Insurance for 2 Millions.

Durkin estimated that the unemployment tax will serve as job insurance for 2,000,000 workers in Illinois. It is levied only on the total pay roll of an employer who employs eight or more persons. The payments so far, he said, have ranged from checks for 13 cents to $700,000.

With the deadline for filing federal returns on Monday, Miss Elizabeth Eckert, chief clerk for the collector of internal revenue, said last night 6,515 employers have paid $1,242,951 representing their 0.2 per cent tax.

Her department serves only the 26 northern counties. About 5,000 employers have secured extensions until April 1, she said.

FINED $100 ON GAMBLING CHARGE.

Bloomington, Ill., Jan. 28.—[Special.]—Dave Callahan, charged with being the keeper of a gambling house, paid a $100 fine here today. Callahan and five alleged customers were arrested in a raid. The customers were fined $15 each.

1938 SCHOOL LEVY UP FOR COURT O.K. UNDER NEW LAW

1st County Government to Seek Approval.

The school board yesterday became the first local government to have its 1938 tax levy placed before the County court for confirmation under the new preadjudication act adopted by the general assembly last year. County Clerk Michael J. Flynn filed an application for approval of the $62,092,732 levy under the provisions of the law. County Judge Edmund K. Jarecki fixed Feb. 25 as the last day for filing objections to the levy.

The new act, designed to insure that all taxpayers will benefit from objections sustained by the court, requires that the court pass on the levies of the major governments in Cook county before tax bills are sent out. Under the old system objections were not filed until after the bills were payable.

Test Suit Before Court.

A suit testing the constitutionality of the new law is pending before the Illinois Supreme court. Cook county officials hope the court will issue its ruling at the February term.

Judge Jarecki said yesterday that if the Supreme court does not announce its decision at the next term he will proceed with hearings on objections to the 1938 levy simultaneously with those on 1936 taxes. Hearings on 1937 objections will not be held for another year.

If the new act is validated, county officials anticipate that litigation of objections to 1938 taxes will be cleared by next October or December, as it is believed that the County court can finish with its hearings in time to permit appeals to the Supreme court in the June term. This would allow ample time for preparation of the 1938 tax bills which are scheduled to go into collection April 1, 1939.

15,000 Personalty Complaints.

The board of tax appeals announced yesterday that approximately 15,000 complaints have been filed against 1937 personal property assessments. The large increase over last year, when 2,300 complaints were registered against 1936 assessments, is laid chiefly to the use of federal income tax returns in making assessments. The board already has ordered reductions totaling $9,212,475.

SOUVENIRS MAY BE LOSS; JULIANA'S BABY IS AWAITED

AMSTERDAM, Jan. 28. — (AP) — Fidgety Netherlands souvenir manufacturers today kept one eye on the calendar and the other on Soestdijk palace, where there were no signs of the imminence of the birth of Crown Princess Juliana's baby.

Most of the souvenir mugs, spoons, and saucers were engraved "January, 1938," in the expectation the baby would arrive in the middle of the month.

The committee formed to distribute cradles for all babies born the same month as Juliana's also was embarrassed. It has been handing them out since the first of the month.

GORDON THORNE OF OLD CHICAGO FAMILY IS DEAD

Son of Montgomery Ward's Ex-President.

Gordon Comstock Thorne, son of the late William Cobb Thorne, former president of Montgomery Ward & Co., died yesterday apparently of a heart attack, in Miami Beach, Fla., where he was spending the winter. He was 44 years old and lived in Chicago at 3400 Lake Shore drive.

Gordon C. Thorne.

The body was sent to Chicago last night for burial, but funeral arrangements have not been announced.

Mr. Thorne, whose grandfather, George R. Thorne, was one of the founders of the mail order house, was born in Chicago. He attended Lehigh university and the University of Wisconsin.

He was married four times, the first three marriages ending in divorces. He married Miss Virginia Milner in 1917, Miss Helen Maginnis in 1922, Miss Ann Alston Clore in 1926 and Mrs. Marion Bolin of Ashland, Wis., in 1929. He is survived by his fourth wife, a son, Montgomery Ward Thorne, 4 years old, and a sister, Mrs. Helen Thorne Norcott.

His mother, Mrs. Katherine Thorne, died in April, 1930, leaving him a $2,000,000 trust fund.

FUR BEARING STOOL PIGEON OF FOLSOM PENITENTIARY DEAD

Folsom, Cal., Jan. 28.—(AP)—Rusty, Folsom prison's stool pigeon, is dead.

For 16 years Rusty, a cat, rambled the cell blocks earning his keep by his ability to detect food that prisoners sought to hide in their cells. Said Clerk Joseph H. Doherty of the warden's staf:

"He would go to a cell door and sit there if he detected the odor of food, until a guard came. He couldn't be bribed, either. He wouldn't have a thing to do with anybody in convict clothes."

Boy Picks Dynamite Cap; Three Fingers Blown Off

HOOSIER INCIDENT

By CALEB

NEXT Monday opens the fourteenth annual Hoosier Salon to be held under our roof. This approaching auspicious art exhibit reminds me of a story told me last year.

It occurred in connection with a former Hoosier Salon. The occasion was the big Hoosier preview party. All the pictures had been hung, and the invited guests had seen them and had celebrated with characteristic Indiana enthusiasm.

When the party was over, one officially involved person lingered on—getting things straightened out, making extensive notes and preparing news copy for an Indiana daily. Before she left the store, a corps of "cleaner-uppers" was busily making fresh the Salon.

When she descended to the first floor, a watchman unlocked the big door and let her out with a friendly "Good night, madam." Through the still streets, an hour or more after midnight, the reporter went to her hotel.

Sophisticated Chicago reporters may not wear galoshes or carry a galosh bag, but this little Indiana reporter did. At the conclusion of the preview she had thrust her notes and copy and the photographs of prize pictures into the bag—or supposed she had. At her hotel, preparing to put the finishing touches on her story for the night mail, she found the copy and pictures missing!

Telling of it, she said, "You can imagine how they lock up that precious Field store during the long hours of the night." But she returned and beat on the big plate glass doors with half frozen fists until she attracted the attention of a shadowy figure within, to whom she told her troubles. Then started a frantic search through party debris already cleared and transported to the (as she expressed it) "sub-sub-sub-basement." With her help, some of our night people, with typical Field spirit, finally found the material, and in usable condition! The reporter was saved embarrassment. Her morning deadline was made. The Hoosier Salon story appeared in the daily as it was supposed to appear.

To some of us who see or hear of numerous happenings behind the scenes, these human, friendly incidents are partially responsible for the pride we have in our organization.

7 NEW MEASURES URGED TO REDUCE AUTO ACCIDENTS

Aldermen Want Enforced Education Program.

A program of enforced education for motorists and pedestrians to reduce automobile accidents on streets and highways was recommended to the city council in a report made public yesterday by Ald. G. Lindell [9th], chairman of the council subcommittee on trafic accident prevention.

The report and its urging of compulsory, as against voluntary, education are based on a study of Chicago's 1937 auto fatalities. This study showed that a majority of the deaths occurred under the most favorable operating conditions; that is, the motorist was a responsible person and in normal condition, the vehicle was in good condition, and road, weather, and light conditions were good.

Seven Measures for Reform.

Among the reform measures suggested by Ald. Lindell's committee are:

1. A uniform speed campaign, such as those in St. Louis and other cities.
2. Intensified efforts to improve knowledge of motor vehicle operating regulations.
3. Wider use of accident preventions squads and motorcycle police to forestall accidents.
4. Wholesale suspension of sentences for minor trafic violations while offenders attend a school for trafic violators.
5. Coördination of the many agencies interested in accident prevention to crystalize public opinion.
6. Passage of a drivers' license law.
7. Investigation by police to learn if motorists involved in accidents carry liability insurance.

Facts About 826 Accidents.

1. Pedestrians constitute 75.4 per cent of all trafic fatalities.
2. Persons in their prime [between the ages of 25 and 54] constitute 40.9 per cent of those killed and adults [25 years and over] constitute 77.7 per cent of the total.
3. Passenger cars are involved in 75 per cent of all fatal accidents.

Further breakdowns of the figures in the analysis show that 44.8 per cent of fatal accidents occur between 6 p. m. and midnight; 18.1 per cent from midnight to 6 a. m.; 10.8 per cent from 6 a. m. to noon, and 26.3 per cent from noon to 6 p. m. The fatalities were most numerous at intersections, where 48.7 per cent occurred, with 24.8 per cent between intersections and 16.5 per cent at other locations.

4.8 Per Cent Involve Drinking.

In 79.9 per cent of the cases, the motorist involved was in normal condition; in 4.8 per cent of the cases he had been drinking; in .1 per cent he had a physical defect and in 15.2 per cent, his condition was unknown. Motorists in 43.3 per cent of the cases were driving inattentively, in 33.7 per cent they were driving properly and the cause of the other 23 per cent of the accidents was not determined.

The analysis further showed that in 73.7 per cent of the fatalities, the road surface was dry, in 20 per cent it was wet and in the remaining 6.3 per cent, the condition of the surface was not noted. The weather was clear at the time of 76.5 per cent of the accidents while it was otherwise in 23.5 per cent.

The majority of the trafic deaths—54.2 per cent—occurred in good artificial light, 33.7 per cent occurred in daylight, 6.1 per cent in poor artificial light and 6 per cent in other conditions.

ASPHYXIATED WHILE PARKED IN AUTO ON ROAD

Joseph M. Meyers, 25 years old, of 2258 West 21st street, was asphyxiated and his woman companion overcome early yesterday as they sat in a car east of Pulaski road and Wilcox street. Meyers, a wholesale candy salesman, was crumpled over the wheel when a passing fireman noticed the car. The head of his companion, Miss Mary Bojak, 21 years old, 2603 West 19th street, lay on his shoulder. The engine of the car and a heater were running.

An inhalator squad under the direction of Lieut. Charles Bratt worked for an hour over Meyers, but was unable to revive him. Physicians at Garfield Park hospital said Miss Bojak will recover.

TIMES CHANGE, OLD FASHIONED DRIVER LEARNS

Gets 10 Days for Drunk Handling of Wagon.

The automobile age caught up with Charles Loetch yesterday when he was sentenced to ten days in the county jail and was prohibited from driving for ninety days on a charge of driving while intoxicated—to wit: a horse and wagon.

Charles Loetch.

Judge J. M. Braude of the Safety court, which was established to deal with drunken and reckless motorists, told Loetch that the ban on his driving includes both horse drawn and motor propelled vehicles.

Struck Making U Turn.

On Thursday Loetch, who is 50 years old, and lives at 1619 Newberry avenue, made a U turn in 18th street at Ashland avenue. His wagon was struck by a car driven by John Beynon, 7657 Coles avenue. Loetch drove on, pursued by Beynon in the damaged car. Because the motorist stopped to tell police about the accident, Loetch reached his home before he was caught.

"I was sorry for the horse being out in the cold that day," said Loetch, "so I had a little whisky."

Ernest J. St. Leger, 4919 Sheridan road, whose automobile struck two parked cars Thursday, was sentenced to ten days in jail and suspended from driving for thirty days for driving while intoxicated.

A ten day jail sentence was also imposed on John E. Barragan, 8740 Buffalo avenue, who automobile struck another in front of 9631 Avenue L on Thursday. He also lost use of his car for ninety days for reckless driving.

Fined for Driving Faults.

Defendants fined and barred from driving by Judge Braude were:

BRUNO TALKOWSKI, 1113 West 25th street, fined $10 and costs and suspended six months for reckless driving.

JOHN HANSEL, 2134 West 18th place, fined $2 and $3 costs and suspended thirty days for leaving the scene of an accident.

ANTHONY MOLE, 2302 South Kirkland avenue, fined $1 and suspended three months for leaving the scene of an accident.

In the Evanston court, Andrew Anderson, 1245 Leon place, Evanston, who was fined $100 and $16 costs on Dec. 6 for disregarding a stop sign, was taken to county jail yesterday to serve out the fine. His car was involved in a collision in which Joseph Dunn, 1922 Maple avenue, Evanston, was fatally injured.

A.C.FAEH, MASTER AUTO SHOWMAN, KILLED IN CRASH

Sister-in-Law Also Dies in Trafic Accident.

Alexander C. Faeh, known as the master showman of the automobile industry because of his successful staging of the last three automobile shows in Chicago, and Miss Ruth Slawson, his sister-in-law, were fatally injured when their sedan crashed into a street car yesterday.

Faeh was driving north in Vincennes avenue and a southbound street car was turning east into 78th street on its way to the car barns when the collision occurred. Both he and Miss Slawson were pronounced dead at the Auburn Park hospital. No one on the street car was injured.

Faeh and Miss Slawson were bound for the office of the Chicago Auto Trade association, 307 North Michigan avenue, where he was general manager and she was a secretary.

In Days of Electrics.

Faeh, who was 57 years old, lived at 10637 Hale avenue with his wife, Orpha, and Miss Slawson, who was 40 years old. He entered the auto industry as assistant manager of the Cleveland Automobile club back in the days of electrics.

He was general manager of the Chicago Auto Trade association from 1930 to 1932 and was reappointed in February, 1935.

An inquest will be held this morning in the chapel at 734 West 79th street. Funeral services will be held there at 4 p. m. tomorrow. Burial will be in Cleveland Monday.

Dies of Injuries.

Michael Galvin, 75 years old, 2861 East 93d street, who was struck by an automobile Dec. 31 at Stony Island avenue and 85th street, died in the South Shore hospital yesterday. Frederick Anderson, 52 years old, 1452 East 71st place, was the driver of the car.

Charles King, 25 years old, 4159 Jackson boulevard, died in the county hospital yesterday of injuries incurred Tuesday when he was struck by an automobile at Cicero avenue and 51st street. Harry See, 25 years old, 7953 South Hermitage avenue, told police that King stepped from behind a parked car into the path of his automobile.

Up to 4 p. m. yesterday ninety-four persons had been killed by automobiles in Cook county since Jan. 1. Of these, seventy-six were killed in Chicago, where 1,256 were injured in the same period.

DRUGGIST ROBBED SECOND TIME BY THE SAME BANDIT

Davis Kanter, the druggist at 1657 North Wells street, is wondering whether the medium sized young man who is getting so familiar intends to make a career of holding up his store.

The youth, wearing a lether jacket, soft dark hat and gray trousers, first confronted Kanter late Thursday. He bought a large roll of adhesive tape, then displayed a pistol and used the tape to bind the druggist's hands and mouth. Leaving his victim in a rear room, the robber looted the cash register of $5.

Yesterday morning, early, he returned. The pistol was displayed again. Kanter was bound and placed in a rear room. This time the bonds were tighter. Before Kanter could escape the bandit fled with $55.

NAZIS REPORTED SPLIT OVER WAR CHIEF'S WEDDING

Army Officers Nettled by Choice of Bride.

BY SIGRID SCHULTZ.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

BERLIN, Jan. 28.—Although the reichstag will not be called into session on Sunday, as originally planned, for celebration of the fifth anniversary of Reichsfuehrer Hitler's assumption of power, Nazi officials said tonight that the whole of Germany will mark the day.

The celebration will include traditional torchlight processions, a speech by Dr. Paul Joseph Goebbels, minister for propaganda and national enlightenment, and distribution of national prizes for scientific and artistic achievements.

Hitler last night canceled plans for a gala session of the reichstag, because, it was said, the present international situation makes it inadvisable to outline Germany's foreign policy now. Another report said Hitler's planned reichstag speech, in which he had been expected to reveal a new program, was postponed because Der Fuehrer was too busy to write it.

Studying Industrial Memo.

He is studying a new memorandum submitted to him by German industry on the shortage of raw materials and is working on a new book. He has devoted much time to the book, dictating to a trusted secretary until 2 or 3 o'clock in the morning.

Hitler's failure to convoke the reichstag as political circles in Berlin had expected, started rumors of serious differences of opinion among Nazi leaders. It was rumored that young army officers were indignant over the recent marriage of Field Marshal Werner von Blomberg, minister of defense, and said so. They were said to object to the standing in society of Frau von Blomberg's family. As a result, it was reported, Von Blomberg considered resigning.

[Von Blomberg married Fraulein Gruhn on Jan. 12. The wedding was secret, and the official news agency did not disclose even the Christain name of the bride. Close friends of the field marshal had no knowledge of his plan to marry, it was said.]

Expected to Retire.

Some responsible sources pointed out that Von Blomberg will be 60 years old next September. The German army believes strongly in the principle of keeping command in the hands of relatively young officers, and it is assumed that Von Blomberg will withdraw at least in the course of the year.

The Nazis have been using the wave of criticism which swept over army and government quarters after the announcement of Von Blomberg's marriage to try to impress Der Fuehrer with the necessity of taking strong action against groups they described as "reactionary royalist." These radical warnings also were leveled at industrialists who criticized several features of the four year plan for economic self-sufficiency. They objected notably to the vast building program of the Nazi party, which they said cannot be carried out in view of the shortage of iron in Germany.

Hitler had invited the leaders of German industries to a banquet which was to take place this week. The banquet has been postponed until the end of February to gain time to work out a compromise between the economic program suggested by the industrialists and the program of the Nazi leaders.

Flaming Wells in Texas Visible 100 Miles Away

Brownsville, Tex., Jan. 28.—[Special.]—More than 25,000,000 cubic feet of gas and some 600 to 700 barrels of distilate have been destroyed by fire daily since twin gas wells in the La Blanca oil field in southern Hidalgo county, west of here, were ignited Jan. 8. Tremendous bursts of flames are visible at night from points a hundred miles away.

Oil Pours Into Flooded River.

Dallas, Tex., Jan. 28.—(AP)—The swollen Sabine river collapsed an east Texas oil field pit near Gladewater today and 62,000 barrels of crude pours into the stream. The oil, valued at about $36,000, caused a fire hazard and operators feared the incident might be repeated. Other flooding east Texas rivers, swollen from recent rains, forced more than 200 families from their homes.

Sentence Palestine Jew to Death; First Since '29

JERUSALEM, Jan. 28.—(AP)—The Haifa criminal assizes today pronounced the first death sentence for a Jew in Palestine since 1929, when it decreed hanging for Policeman Mordecai Schwartz for the murder of an Arab policeman. Heavy police convoys meanwhile guarded parties of tourists, including Americans, bound for holy places.

RECOVER STOLEN FUR COATS; SEIZE SIX AS ROBBERS

State's attorney's police and postal inspectors yesterday arrested six men and recovered some of the 83 fur coats stolen Jan. 13 from a Champaign, Ill., store. Federal agents indicated they would question the men about postal robberies.

Those arrested are James Driscoll, 58 years old, 2153 Adams street; Harry Brown, 36, 922 Eastwood avenue, a junk buyer; Albert Lira, 23, 4307 Ravenswood avenue; Theodore Dalps, 34, 4155 Broadway, a furrier; Joel Randall, 33, 4108 Kenmore avenue, an accountant, and Herbert Vaughan, 48, 6413 North Hamilton avenue.

Driscoll, known to the police as English Jimmy for 20 years, was acquitted in 1920 of the $250,000 Heller-Rose company jewel robbery in Chicago. In 1935 Dalpe was questioned in connection with the purchase of stolen furs and rugs.

PLAN NEW BRIDGE TO REPLACE SPAN CRUMPLED BY ICE

Niagara Falls, N. Y., Jan. 28.—[Special.]—With thousands of persons watching, the skeleton of the demolished Niagara Falls Honeymoon bridge continued to settle on the ice covered river today. A large segment sank from sight in open water near the American shore this afternoon. It was said the wreckage appeared to have been moved downstream about forty feet.

Plans for a new and greater bridge already were under way. The International Railway company, owner of the span which yesterday collapsed before the pressure of a tremendous ice floe, announced that architects will be asked at once to design a new and finer bridge.

Hinda wears too few clothes, according to the police censors, which is why Hinda no longer appears in the girly-girly show of Billy Rose at his new Casa Manana café. Hinda got her walking papers after Deputy Police Commissioner Cornelius O'Leary said she went too far in her strip act.

GREEK ARMY MEN SEIZED FOR PLOT TO KILL DICTATOR

Report Troops Called Out Following Purge.

ATHENS, Jan. 28.—(AP)—Fifteen persons, including three army officers, were arrested tonight for participating in an alleged plot to assassinate Premier John Metaxas, Greece's "strong man." A brief police announcement said the 15 would be "detained" one year.

Gen. John Metaxas.

The arrests followed a warning by the controled press that the government had entered a period of "strict severity" and that a number of "agitators" had been banished to remote islands. The exile order was believed to have been the result of the circulation of government opposition pamphlets several days ago.

"Severity without pity will operate against all those who have thought, or in the future think, of disturbing the peace of the people," the papers warned.

Report Army Mobilized.

VIENNA, Jan. 28.—(AP)—The Greek army was reported mobilized today to put down possible disturbances growing out of the mass exile of leading opponents of the dictatorial government of Gen. John Metaxas. [In Athens the Greek government denied the report.]

Private advices from Athens said that Metaxas, premier and "strong man" of Greece since 1936, had arrested all former leaders of parliament and sent them to remote islands.

Although the announcement in Athens of banishment mentioned no names, those known to have been deported included former Premier George Kaphandaris, former Foreign Minister Andrew Michalokopulos, and John Theodokis, leader of the Monarchist National party.

The government said the opposition leaders had disseminated "false, libelous literature, calculated to weaken the people's belief in the national government's colossal work," according to reports here.

King Loses Powers.

King George II. came to the throne of Greece in November, 1935, with the restoration of the monarchy. In August, 1936, he summoned "Little John" Metaxas to form a government, and since that time the king has dropped more and more into the background. Some foreign observers considered his position was growing increasingly like that of the king of Italy under the Fascist government of Premier Benito Mussolini.

'UNDERGROUND' INFLUX OF JEWS ROUSES AUSTRIA

Aids Spirit Refugees Across Border.

VIENNA, Austria, Jan. 28.—(AP)—The Austrian state council speeded up today its consideration of measures for curbing the influx of Jews who are being smuggled by "underground railway" from Poland and Rumania. The haste was considered necessary because the underground has been geared to high speed following an increase in Polish and Rumanian anti-Semitism.

The measures before the state council would compel every one in Austria to obtain an identification card to prove his citizenship. Reliable sources said many Jews in Austria had not conformed to the law by telling police of their presence. These would be subject to deportation or, at least, loss of their means of livelihood, as they have no work permits.

Hungary Also Acts.

Steps similar to those under consideration in Austria are being taken in Hungary. In one border district 4,500 persons were ordered to establish their citizenship or, if without credentials, prove that their ancestors lived in Hungary in 1851.

The underground system is reminiscent of that which aided escaping slaves before the American civil war and aristocrats during the French revolution. Fugitives are rushed from one secret hideaway to another until safety has been reached. It is said that 350 Rumanian Jews have been brought to Austria in this manner in the past ten days.

Since November approximately 1,500 Jews have been smuggled into Austria from Poland. From the Vienna terminus, the underground runs out to the west: Switzerland, France, the United States and South America.

Pace Is Quickened.

The underground system has been running since the world war created new frontiers, governments and restrictions. Never has it operated faster than now, however, when it is reacting with legal proposals to limit Jewish immigration and supervise all foreigners.

A new note has been added to Vienna life by the presence of increasing numbers of Rumanian Jews. The men are long bearded, wearing skull caps and picturesque garb.

Newspaper surveys indicated many of these immigrants were being smuggled over the Austrian-Czechoslovakian frontier. Brun, Czechoslovakia, was reported to be one of the important centers of the underground. A syndicate there was said to be selling false passports at high prices.

IF YOU

are a parent

—with young or grown-up children, if you are a young man or a young woman looking into the bewildering world beyond the shelter of parents or college, if you are curious about human problems today, you must not miss Sinclair Lewis' new novel, THE PRODIGAL PARENTS.

LEWIS GANNETT declares, in the N. Y. Herald-Tribune: "It may well become Sinclair Lewis' most successful book, for there are in America some thirty or forty millions of us puzzled parents wondering whether we've done anything like the right thing by our children." And STERLING NORTH says in the Chicago Daily News: "It has a wide chance for prolonged popularity. It will stir up no end of controversy in every home where it is read, with violent divergence of opinion based largely on the age of the controversialist."

THE PRODIGAL PARENTS is sweeping America. Why not be among the first to read it?

Story of Childhood Rounds Out Bruce Lockhart Autobiography

BY FANNY BUTCHER.

"A Son of Scotland," by R. H. Bruce Lockhart. [Putnam, $3.] Published last Monday.

With the same lack of self-consciousness or egotism that characterized "British Agent," "Retreat from Glory," and "Return to Malaya," Bruce Lockhart rounds out his autobiography with this volume about his childhood in Scotland. Because the events of childhood are mild and unepochal, if an autobiographer does not go into the psychological roots of his behavior, "A Son of Scotland" probably will not have the great popularity of "British Agent" . . . for love and politics are more exciting to the nonparticipant than rugger and fishing and walks down the streets of Edinburgh and through the crags of the Scottish highlands.

Bruce Lockhart may not have written an exciting book in "A Son of Scotland," but he has written a delightful one, not only rich with the feel of the land he loves best in the world, but filled with skilful portraits of his fellow Scots, ancient and contemporary. They are done with a quiet, rather solemn sort of Scotch humor that is subtle enough to be able to laugh at itself as well as at others.

The age-old warfare of Highlands and Lowlands and of the Scot with his whisky . . . "believing that a raging thirst, like most other temptations, must be fought by each man in single combat" . . . vie with the author's love of fishing and other intriguing subjects. His school days are described with zest and honesty, and somehow, without his stating it, the reader knows that Bruce Lockhart has a philosophy of life and that it is a good one.

Dos Passos Trilogy in a Single Volume.

"U. S. A.," by John Dos Passos. [Harcourt-Brace, $3.] Published Thursday.

The component parts of "U. S. A."—"The 42d Parallel," "Nineteen Nineteen," and "The Big Money"—were published over a period of six years. The publication of this vast American trilogy in one volume is an important literary event, for it gives to readers for the first time the full impact of John Dos Passos' brilliant technical experiment.

He uses unusual devices to simulate in print the tempo and the tenor of the present day in the U. S. A.—the "news reel," made up of extracts from actual newspaper headlines of the period; the "camera eye," which records brief "candid" observations of characters touching the lives of the principals, very short biographies of prominent men and women of the period [even when they have no direct influence], and narratives of the lives of the main characters. The resultant apparent confusion of time, movement, and direction is the author's tacit judgment of the period.

John Dos Passos has become one of the outstanding novelists of the American scene, and "U. S. A." is the statement of a new and indigenous technique. . . .

Young Author's First Novel Holds Promise.

"Boundary Against Night," by Edmund Gilligan. [Farrar & Rinehart, $2.75.] Published Wednesday. Selection of the Discoverers.

Immediately post-war Boston is the background of this first novel by a young Harvard man [class of 1926]. It is, like "U. S. A.," chaotic, but it has less design in its chaos, although it is more conventionally plotted and executed.

The book's hero, blinded in the war, belongs to an old and wealthy Boston family, and with him the family dies. One of his closest friends is a young, lusty, woman-maddened policeman, whose mother starved to death.

The pages are peopled with characters from every walk of life, multiple in number and in life patterns. What they all have in common is the passionate violence of their lives. Fate, their inner impulses, their environment, or mere chance throw them into violent juxtaposition. The war has wracked some of them, the social system others. All of them play grim parts in the postwar drama, with the Boston police strike as the climax.

Some of Mr. Gilligan's pages are ones that no reader will forget. Others are ones that he would like to . . . and can easily. "Boundary Against Night" is a remarkable first novel, for its promises of the author's future genius perhaps more than for their present fulfilment.

Mary Borden Writes Another English Tale.

"Strange Week End," by Mary Borden. [Harpers, $2.50.] Published last Wednesday.

With amazing deftness, Mary Borden, an American, depicts the British so essentially that she has become one of the most popular of English novelists for the English. Perhaps her very perspective of birth helps her. Perhaps it takes a new eye to see old things anew. Perhaps Mary Borden is just a born story teller who has added to her natural talent the polish of hard work.

"Strange Week End," for sheer novel writing, is as good as Mary Borden has done. It is about a group of English men who fought in the war and came home to find their emotional and social stability wavering. It is about their wives whose standards also have lost their bases. It is about their children, who will have to make a new pattern of their lives. It is at the same time about individuals in their class and the class itself, about English politics and English daily life.

"Strange Week End" is a misnomer, for it is no tale of mystery, although Mary Borden manages to give her readers an impending sense of the tragedy which ends the book.

2 Books Give New Insight Into Civil War

BY CHARLES LEAVELLE.

"Jefferson Davis," by Robert McElroy. [Harpers, $8.]

"The American Civil War," by Carl Russel Fish. [Longmans-Green, $3.50.]

Nearly 73 years have passed since the meeting of Grant and Lee at Appomattox Court House ended the civil war. Only a few persons who remember the war are alive. The prejudices are dying out. True evaluations are emerging. Here are two works that make absorbing and illuminating reading, especially when taken together.

Prof. Robert McElroy's two volume study of Jefferson Davis should become the standard. It is the work of a true historian who yields not to the lure of colorful legend, but who gives himself sufficient space to make his account human and alive. Prof. McElroy has done for Davis what Freeman of Virginia has recently done for Lee.

The biography begins with the boy Davis in Kentucky and follows him through his school days, West Point, the Indian wars, the Mexican war, the senate, and the American civil war. It spikes many of the legends that have grown up about his name, but balances this with many heretofore unpublished anecdotes. Here, too, is an understanding of President Davis' belief in personal slavery.

The Davis of reconstruction days has become fairly well known through his letters and writings, but here is a view of the man himself during his last days in his beloved south. The entire work is a masterful re-creation of a man and his times.

For many years as professor of history at the University of Wisconsin, Carl Russell Fish worked on a great analysis of the civil war. It would be a study that would transcend the many general narratives and commentaries on the conflict among the states. It would treat the war topically, without bias; it would estimate its consequences far beyond our times.

This great work was near completion when Prof. Fish died, and it is agreed by scholars everywhere that it is all the things he planned it to be. The manuscript was edited and assembled by Prof. William Ernest Smith of Miami university, who added two chapters. There is much previously unused material here, including memoirs that make clear the contemporary views. The study of the military campaigns is clear and understandable. Best of all, it is stimulating reading for any one.

Looking Over Latest Books

"The Marsh," by Ernest Raymond. [Stokes, $2.75.]

Those who like to skip pages will be unwise to sit down with this long novel, for it is definitly not their fare. None can deny that "The Marsh" is slow reading. But it is a fine, sensitive, full bodied portrait of the London slums worth hours of any one's time.

First impressions that here a perfectly honest writer is at work on a biographical novel he felt impelled to put on white paper are retained to the end of the book. The fall of Danny Counsel is powerful reading, not because of any element of suspense—for there is little of that—but because Ernest Raymond tells his story with the minuteness of a confession or a case history and with no economic arguments on the side.

"The Marsh" has little plot, but it contains some magnificent writing. Danny's every move is completely accounted for, and a dozen minor characters—particularly his mother and his mistress—are well handled. Slow reading brings a full reward in this instance. P. W.

The Allure of Hawaii Delightfully Described.

"Hawaii: Isles of Enchantment," by Clifford Gessler. [Appleton-Century, $5.]

A former Chicago newspaper man, who was at one time Hawaiian correspondent of THE TRIBUNE, has collaborated with E. H. Suydam, one of America's most talented illustrators, in a book which is enough to set any footloose reader hurrying to the South Seas. Only a poet can write properly about Hawaii, and Clifford Gessler has the gift of words to do justice to these isles, where he has lived for sixteen years.

Mr. Gessler narrates the tragi-comedy of Hawaii's history since 1778, then takes his reader on a tour of the islands whose names are songs, where blue sampans ply, and a large share of the world's sugar and pineapples are produced with scientific efficiency. Mr. Suydam's drawings harmonize happily with the text. R. P. MacF.

1934 Asturian Revolt Is Theme for Novel.

"Rehearsal in Oviedo," by Joseph Peyre. [Knight, $2.50.]

This is the second novel by Joseph Peyre to be published in this country. It is the story of the Asturian revolt of 1934, which now appears as a rehersal to the present bloody conflict in Spain. The writing has the same demoniac quality as that of Peyré's first, which was "Glittering Death," the Goncourt prize winner of 1935.

The author has a faculty of creating prose that sears its way into the mind and of picking tales of far reaching importance. In this case there are epic implications for those who can see them. C. L.

The British Approach Characterizes a Story of Lloyd's of London

"Lloyd's: The Gentlemen at the Coffee House," by Ralph Straus. [Carrick & Evans, $3.75.]

Ralph Straus uses what might be termed the British approach to this history of the oldest insurance organization. The Hollywood approach, as shown in the recent movie, was one of sensationalisms and romance. The British approach is a bit more sober.

Londoners were inclined to look at coffee as "that sooty drink." But the rapidly established coffee houses soon became the center of various trade groups. To the house of Edward Lloyd in Lombard street, in the latter part of the 16th century, drifted the gentlemen who risked their money on the insurance of vessels, English and foreign. Lloyd, to aid his patrons, began gathering and publishing the news of shipping. He devised one of the modern world's first news collecting systems.

The evolution of Lloyd's into the present day pillar of financial strength was in the British tradition of slow but sure. Mr. Straus indicates that he has a deep reverence for this policy. His book moves along in the same way. W. D. O.

MAYOR TO SPUR LAGGING TRANSIT MERGER EFFORTS

Moves to Avert Deadlock in Committee.

BY WILLIAM BROMAGE.

Mayor Kelly said yesterday that he would confer with transit interests in the next few days to urge them to renew their efforts to work out a unification of the surface lines and elevated railways companies.

He said he would ask them to try to reach some basis of agreement by Feb. 7 when company interests are scheduled to report to Federal Judge James H. Wilkerson on the negotiations which have been in progress for the last six weeks. The work is being carried on by a special transit settlement committee named under an arrangement made in Judge Wilkerson's court Dec. 14.

New Deadlock Is Reported.

It became apparent after a meeting of the committee yesterday morning that unless Mayor Kelly can provide the necessary spur, the companies will be unable to make a constructive report to the court. Negotiations looking toward a consolidation of the two rail systems, it was learned, have virtually collapsed and the company interests are ready to go into court and report their inability to reach an agreement.

Elevated interests contend they are willing to coöperate in carrying out the city plan for transit improvement, that they already have suggested a basis of consolidation and are ready to consider an alternative plan.

Surface lines interests, say that they, also are willing to coöperate in the city plan, but that there are obstacles which appear to prohibit a financial consolidation of the two systems as they now stand.

Would Delay Unification.

The surface lines representatives have favored adoption of an ordinance providing for the improvements set up in the city plan, leaving unification with the elevated as one of the later steps in the program. However, on Mayor Kelly's insistence and at the suggestion of Judge Wilkerson, they agreed to try to work out a unification which would become operative simultaneously with a new ordinance.

Mr. Barker is vice president and treasurer of Sears, Roebuck & Co. He is chairman of the board of Encyclopædia Brittanica and has been an associate of the university for several years. He lives at 242 East Walton place.

FOUR CITIES TELL EFFORTS TO HALT LAKE POLLUTION

The mayors of four northern Indiana industrial cities, which have been warned to cease polluting Lake Michigan with sewage by next Jan. 1, declared yesterday that their respective municipalities are moving as rapidly as possible to comply. Doubt existed, however, that all will meet the deadline with new disposal plants.

East Chicago, Mayor Andrew Rooney said, already has a city ordinance authorizing establishment of a sanitary district. Mayor L. B. Clayton of Gary said his city council probably would take action on a similar ordinance Monday night. Mayor Frank R. Martin of Hammond and Mayor James T. McNamara of Whiting said engineers were making surveys of the problem in each city.

Denies Sending Extortion Notes to Insurance Man

Frank R. Thomas, 38 years old, 325 South Prospect avenue, Park Ridge, an insurance underwriter, denied yesterday in Federal Judge Philip L. Sullivan's court that he sent any of seven extortion letters to R. G. Lamberson, 640 North Oak Park avenue, Oak Park, a publisher and director of an insurance company.

WRIGHT DEFENSE PAVES WAY FOR AIRMAN'S STORY

Defendant Will Give Own Version of Killings.

Los Angeles, Cal., Jan. 28.—(AP)—Counsel for Paul A. Wright produced witnesses today who testified that they had never seen any display of hostility between Wright and John Kimmel, whom he is accused of murdering. Attorneys said Wright will tell his own story of the shooting early next week.

Wright, former airport manager, is charged with killing his wife, Evelyn, and Kimmel, his "best friend," in the living room of his Glendale home last Nov. 9.

Premeditation Charged.

The defense is seeking to tear down the state's contention that Wright shot the couple deliberately and after premeditation. To bolster his contention that Wright killed the couple in a jealous rage when he found them in an embrace, Jerry Giesler, Wright's attorney, called to the stand Harry M. Shaver and Gerald McClelland, air line officials.

Both testified they had never seen any evidence of animosity between Wright and Kimmel.

Tells of Club Meeting.

Shaver said Wright was at Kimmel's home two days before the tragedy, listening to the radio broadcast of a football game. McClelland testified that following a meeting of an aviators' club Wright and Kimmel sat in a bar, matching coins for the drinks, outwardly congenial as usual. That was the night of the shooting.

Eight other witnesses gave similar testimony today.

Earlier, the defense introduced witnesses who testified that Wright had always been a thoughtful and affectionate husband.

Road Crews Battle Cold in Clearing Roads of Snow

Escanaba, Mich., Jan. 28.—[Special.]—Handicapped by bitter cold road crews struggled on today seeking to clear state highways of snowdrifts, often as deep as thirty feet. Snowshoes, skis, and toboggans were about the only reliable means of transportation. Railroad snowplows behind double-header locomotives made slow progress opening branch lines. At Marquette a milk shortage threatened.

LOSES HIS CLAIM HE'S NOT FATHER OF ONE OF TWINS

Shakespeare Quoted to Overrule Parent.

Mitchell, S. D., Jan. 28.—[Special.]—The contention of a farmer that he is not the father of one of his wife's twin sons was overruled today by Circuit Judge A. B. Beck at Lake Andes.

In his decision in the unusual case the judge quoted Shakespeare in support of the almost insurmountable presumption of common law that a child born in wedlock is legitimate. The quotation is from act one, scene one, of "King John," as follows:

Sirrah, your brother is legitimate;
Your father's wife did after wedlock bear him:
And if she did play false, the fault was hers:

Claim Made in Divorce Suit.

The matter was first brought into court in 1933 when Ewald Peddle, who formerly lived in Chicago and now is a farmer near Lake Andes in Charles Mix county, filed suit for divorce. He made the surprising claim that he was the father of only one of the twin boys.

At the time the court fully investigated the biological aspects of the case. The farmer asserted the twins were born nine months after he and his wife were in Chicago, where she became friendly with another man. Mrs. Peddle did not deny her husband's allegation.

After a long investigation Judge R. B. Tripp granted a divorce and approved an agreement whereby one of the twins was awarded to Peddle and the other to Mrs. Lena Peddle. But he made no decision concerning the sons' paternity.

The case was reopened recently by Mrs. Peddle's petition for custody of both twins and an increased allowance for their support. Judge Beck today ruled in her favor, granting her legal custody of both boys and allowing her $50 a month for support of her five children.

Agree It Could Happen.

Physicians at Yankton, S. D., said the twins were of the fraternal as distinguished from the identical type. Therefore, in their opinion, it was possible for the pair to have different fathers.

All genetic experts are agreed that identical twins, resulting from the splitting of a single cell, can have only one father. But fraternal twins, resulting from the fertility of two cells, need not have the same fathers, according to scientists.

"One little fellow looks like me," Peddle testified in December, 1933, when he won an uncontested divorce, "but the other doesn't. In fact it doesn't look like my wife either. Besides, she told me I was the daddy of one but not of the other."

4 Cars of B.&O. Train Leave Rails; Passengers Unhurt

The last four cars of a Baltimore and Ohio passenger train were derailed last evening by a spread rail near the Avenue N viaduct in South Chicago. None of the passengers was injured. They found places in the front cars and the train, coming from New York, continued to the depot in Chicago.

SINKING OUR MARINE.

The federal maritime commission has called the attention of congress and the nation to the urgent need for a rehabilitation of American shipping. A "rapidly ageing merchant fleet" is less and less able to meet the commercial requirements of our foreign trade and we are falling seriously behind in the keen competition of the world. But replacement of old ships cannot be hoped for in present conditions. "Despite the urgent need for new construction," says the commission, "private operators hesitate in the present labor situation."

The investigation by a senate committee and current news in the press have disclosed this situation, which is unprecedented in our maritime history. No merchant marine can survive much less progress while mutiny, insubordination, and continual interruptions of service continue. These disorders are not in the interest of maritime labor. They are fomented by radical agitators with other purposes or by reckless and short-sighted labor agents. As a result of the chaos they are creating the livelihood of marine labor is being jeopardized, to say nothing of shipping investment and the interests of the nation in competent transport.

If the conditions of sailors on some ships call for correction, they can be corrected without destroying the American marine. They are not responsible for the wide demoralization of personnel. Jurisdictional strikes are responsible for a good deal of the injury which American shipping has suffered, and the spirit of insolence and irresponsibility which endangers life and property is of course the result of vicious agitation. The lot of the sailor has been immensely improved under modern conditions. There is little necessarily hazardous duty at sea, although there was much in the days of sail. And there are no great hardships. The personnel works largely indoors even during inclement weather. Comfortable accommodations can be provided without great cost and should be. Proper food bought in quantities is not expensive and should be required. Refrigeration makes fresh meat and vegetables available. Work in the engine rooms is like other mechanical work. Operation does not call for exposure and danger. The steersman is housed. Deck hands have little to do except to paint in fine weather. About the only dangers are from carelessness or incompetence of officers or men.

In short, the American merchant marine can provide a good occupation provided it is saved from the pirates that are now demoralizing its operation. A ship cannot be run by a soviet or a rabble. There must be unquestioning and prompt obedience and efficient performance of duty. The sea will tolerate nothing less.

The American marine can have a personnel fit for all its responsibilities, but the laws of the sea must be strictly enforced. When this is accomplished there is no controling reason why American ingenuity and enterprise should not hold their own with that of other nations in this industry, as it does in other industries.

PLANNING THE COUP DE GRACE.

"A typical prairie state," was Mr. Farley's scornful description of Kansas, but in so far as eastern opinion is concerned, he might just as well have referred to any other state in the Mississippi valley. He really meant the back country—those states that are back of the seaboard.

In the opinion of politicians of tidewater states, the Mississippi basin is merely a bread basket and material yard. The inhabitants may produce coal, iron, copper, silver, gold, and oil. They may raise wheat, barley, flax, corn and cotton. These raw materials, however, should move to the seaboard states by the cheapest possible [water preferred] route, and there be manufactured into articles to be consumed in the interior sections. The attitude is precisely the same as that of a world power toward its dependencies. The colonist may dig, sow and reap—but not manufacture.

Due to many conditions, one of which was a natural transportation advantage, industry has gained a foothold in the middle west and persists despite government persecution of its railways. Because of this, Senator McAdoo of California has introduced two bills into congress designed to apply the coup de grace. Cheap transportation between the Atlantic and Pacific seaboards is to be assured by a remission of Panama canal tolls applying to American ships trading between the two coasts. In another bill this trade is to be further subsidized by direct payments to the shipping companies by the maritime commission.

As good Americans, midwesterners subscribed their share toward the construction of the Panama canal. It has halted their industrial development by definitly allotting all western markets to eastern seaboard manufacturers. Even this is not enough. The canal must now be operated at a tremendous deficit to insure the continuation of seaboard domination. In addition, the states of the Mississippi valley will be expected to assume their share of the canal deficit as well as their share of the subsidies to ships that will be operated to ruin their trade.

Every senator and congressman representing those states that lie between the Alleghenies and Rockies should unite to defeat this measure by so important a majority that it will never again be brought before congress.

EFFICIENT POLICE WORK.

Police Commissioner Allman and his department are to be congratulated upon their remarkable record of six years in the reduction of property losses through theft, robbery, and burglary. In 1932 the loss in merchandise and cash amounted to $7,129,606. By 1937 this loss had fallen to $2,456,736, the lowest in ten years and $389,120 less than in 1936.

If the police are to be congratulated for their efficiency, the community will congratulate itself even more heartily. Citizens will recall the days when Chicago was gangster-ridden and suffered world disrepute as a crime center which, though exaggerated by newspapers in the United States and Europe more concerned to advertise Chicago's ills than to expose their own, had enough truth to bring about revolt and reform. It was characteristic of Chicago that it faced the facts, however uncomfortable, and it was characteristic that militant action followed. It did not try to shirk discredit by elaborating upon the shortcomings of other cities. It tackled its own problems and it has gone a long way toward solving them. Today Chicago has a police service of which it has reason to be proud. It is by no means perfect, but it is at the front of American cities. For this progress Commissioner Allman, who became full commissioner in 1931, must be given a large share of credit, also Mayor Kelly, who has supported him, and the men on the force who have loyally served the commissioner's able administration.

NEW ARABIAN NIGHTS AND DAYS.

British broadcasting to the Arabs in Arabic was begun this month. Big Ben sounded off in London and Sir Bernard Reilly, governor of Aden, followed with a short message. The king of the Yemen was listening in at his palace and he received greetings from his son, Prince Seis-al-Islam Husain, who begged "to present to my lord the king my deepest respects." The minister for Saudi Arabia spoke, noting the fact that the east and the west were meeting, and there was a news bulletin telling of disorders throughout the world such as form the content of most news bulletins. It included the report of a fight between police and rioters in North Palestine, where one Arab was injured. There was a violin recital by Ruth Pearl, some Arabic music, and the national anthem.

The German and Italian press became furious and accused the British of going about their imperial brutalities in their customary sniveling fashion. From these outbursts it might be concluded that the broadcasts are better than they seem to be. The Italians have been working on Arabic sensibilities for some time with programs going out of a station at Bari. The Italians have been telling the Arabs that Great Britain intended to crush them with steel and fire but also have been giving them a good deal of bel canto and Italian orchestral music. The British decided that they were forced into the broadcasting competition. They supplied the Arab villages, cafés, and, as has been noted, the palaces with short wave receiving sets, and this strange duel is on. It is not exactly new because European countries have been bombarding each other for a year or more with programs to promote national interests and make trouble.

The Arabs are particularly singled out just now because of their importance in the imperial trade route fight going on between the Italians and the British. In the foreground of it is Mussolini's desire to force Great Britain to recognize his conquest of Ethiopia. The Arabs ought to be highly entertained, but it must be remembered that they have been told stories by experts. The job is a heavy one to throw on the shoulders of the British Broadcasting company, which as a governmental corporation never had to ask a British listener whether he liked a thing or not. He took what he got and if the broadcasting company thought more of his higher life than he wanted to think of it himself, all he could do was to get a short wave reception set and try and pick up something from elsewhere than his native land.

Scheherazade of the "Thousand and One Nights" had to end each broadcast on such a note of suspense that her lord would defer the execution until he heard the rest of the story. That's a hot spot to put British broadcasting in, but it is in the preferred Arabic tradition and we still think that what the B. B. C. needs is Donald Duck or Charlie McCarthy.

A LITTLE ENCOURAGEMENT.

The massacre clock has registered its first thousand casualties for the year 1938. It stood at 1,054 killed and injured on Jan. 24. If comparisons are made with the year 1937 there is some cause for encouragement, as the same total was reached on Jan. 19, 1937. On the other hand, a decrease of 200 maimed bodies and fractured limbs has been accompanied by an increase of seven fatalities, which has been carried through from the New Year's day carnage of eight killed.

The difference in driving conditions may have some effect on the total, but it is somewhat difficult to discern in what direction they point. Any student of the massacre clock knows that slippery pavements decrease the number of killed and injured through the promotion of careful driving. It is evident that many otherwise reckless individuals drive more cautiously when their own safety is immediately involved.

On the whole, the figures should demonstrate to the police, the motor clubs, the safety council, the press, and others engaged in the war on accidents that their cause is not quite as hopeless as it sometimes appears.

Editorial of the Day

MRS. O'LEARY'S COW.

[Des Moines Tribune.]

In a recent story from Hollywood it was said that it took three days for all the combined directors and technical experts to induce the cow on the set to overturn the oil lamp which was supposed to have started the great Chicago fire, currently being made into a picture.

But the truth is mighty and will prevail. After sixty-seven years of dispute about the blame for the Chicago fire Mrs. O'Leary's maligned cow has again been vindicated.

Charles H. Coles, an octogenarian business man, comes boldly forth to reaffirm that the cow never kicked over the lamp at all. On Oct. 9, 1871, the night of the big blaze, Mr. Coles was a small boy with a healthy curiosity. He saw the flames devour Mrs. O'Leary's barn and pass on to the fence and houses next door.

Hurrying over to investigate, he found the blacked carcass of the cow on the floor, but no remains of a lamp or lantern. He recalls that the only bit of metal discernible in the ruins was the cowbell of the much maligned victim.

But if Mr. Coles thinks he has this legend permanently whipped, history should disillusion him.

RAINY DAY TALE.

A county building employé took his wife's umbrella to work one rainy day, forgot to bring it home, and next time it rained took his daughter's umbrella. He left that at his office, too, and when it rained the following day and he took the other daughter's umbrella his wife said: "If you don't bring home all those umbrellas tonight don't come home yourself." This made such an impression that when he got up from a restaurant chair at noon he started out with an umbrella that was not his. The owner ran after him and snatched it out of his hand. At 5 o'clock he gathered up the three umbrellas and took the elevated home. Across the aile from him he recognized the man whose umbrella he had picked up in the restaurant. As he was getting off at his station the other man called after him: "See you made a pretty good haul today."

Already what their ears would hear. To share
Vicariously love's great duet that yearned

Their bodies blend as music did their souls?
Would harmonies resolve from human strife?

ALL CHILDREN NEED NOT HAVE MEASLES.

MEASLES is such a widespread disorder, especially among children, and may be accompanied by so many complications, that it deserves the earnest attention of parents. Rarely serious in itself, it frequently is followed by pneumonia and running ears [middle ear infection]. Thus it becomes a malady to be avoided—never invited.

Inasmuch as it is highly contagious, we must assume that every child will be exposed sooner or later—at school, at play, in crowded stores or public conveyances.

Most of us are familiar with the pathetic appearance of the measly youngster with his bleary eyes and red, blotchy face and body. Many will exhibit a temperature that is fairly high—at least for the first day.

Few will fail to recognize the rash, which consists of red, raised blemishes which have a tendency to run together and which "break" out about the third or fourth day—around the temples, then back of the ears, later spreading over the face, neck, trunk, and limbs. In from one to three days it begins to fade and is succeeded by slight scaling of the skin.

Unfortunately, there is no vaccine that will protect against the infection. Hence we must make every effort to ease the severity of the attack once it has appeared. Luckily, however, one siege leaves behind it an immunity, so that there is very little probability that a recovered patient will ever suffer from measles again. This means that the blood of all veterans of the ailment contains a large percentage of antibodies [neutralizing agents], which form within a week or two after the return of the fever to normal. The serum of these persons, therefore, will afford a high degree of security if injected into one who has not as yet come down with the disease. As time goes on, the circulating medium loses some of its power but even after a lapse of thirty years these fighting chemicals still exist in fair concentration.

Enough data are now at hand to prove that the administration of convalescent serum to the one who has been exposed—before the disease has developed fully—will either ward it off entirely or result in only a light case, free from after-effects. Many authorities believe that the giving of this substance within the first four or five days will produce a high degree of resistance.

In a large group of suspects [3,610], injections of convalescent serum were employed. Of these, 84 per cent escaped entirely and all but a few of the remainder had the infection in mild form.

The question is often asked, "Can the blood of a father or mother who has had the disorder in childhood be employed in this manner?" The answer is—yes, although it is not as potent as that obtained from one who has recently survived the affection. Even though it is not stopped entirely a great victory will be achieved if, through this procedure, we can modify the intensity of the symptoms. In half the cases, at least, adult serum will be helpful.

Too few physicians appreciate the value of the plan. They and parents alike are inclined to say, "O, well, everybody has measles anyway. Why not go through with it?" No thinking medical man will take that attitude. If his experience has been at all extensive he will recall the cases of desperate illness which sometimes ensue and the lives lost, particularly in infancy, because of the oncoming pneumonia.

Whether recovered or adult neutralizing material is used or not, the victim should be kept quiet, warm, and comfortable in a darkened room and a steam kettle should be in constant operation to relieve somewhat the bronchitis and the cough which are usually present. After the temperature has become normal the patient may be allowed to sit up and—within four or five days—parade about the room.

PAINFUL TONGUE.

R. R. R. writes: I had all the symptoms you mention in your article on tongue distress. After reading an article referring to the chemical that is used to color oranges I ceased taking orange juice produced by the usual method of pressing the orange before peeling it. My trouble immediately disappeared, and since that time I have followed the plan of taking juice only from peeled oranges or from other citrus fruits which were not colored. This may explain the problem of certain others.

REPLY.

Many chemicals will give the symptom of painful tongue. Your suggestion is timely and may be helpful to some who are suffering from irritations of drug origin.

NERVOUS STOMACH.

J. F. D. writes: What are the symptoms of a nervous stomach? Is it curable? Does the eating of citrus fruit affect it?

REPLY.

Certain nervous individuals may suffer from dyspepsia. The symptoms may include abdominal discomfort, pain after eating, heartburn, water-brash, distention after meals, and flatulence. Any or all of these may be present.

The eating of citrus fruits has little, if any, effect.

If the trouble is due to some emotional disturbance no trace of organic disease will be found. Treatment consists of sedatives such as bromides, outdoor exercise, and relaxation at stated periods.

ST. VITUS' DANCE.

R. W. writes: Is St. Vitus' dance curable in a patient, now 29, who developed it at the age of 12?

REPLY.

Sydenham's chorea is a malady of childhood and seldom begins after the age of 15, although toxic states during pregnancy predispose to the disease. The vast majority of cases recover, but relapses are frequent. It is really a manifestation of rheumatic fever, and heart disease may appear as a complication. With skilled care recovery should come.

Are you sure you have a true chorea?

HAVE EXAMINATION.

E. G. writes: I cannot eat or drink without the contents flowing from my nose. I have had chronic catarrh all my life.

REPLY.

There may be some obstruction in the throat or a spasm of a muscle. Have the mouth and throat examined carefully.

WET BRAIN.

T. L. writes: What is a "wet brain"?

REPLY.

The pouring out of fluid from serous surfaces within the brain. The condition may occur in alcoholics after a prolonged debauch. Signs of pressure and unconsciousness may appear.

FROM ACROSS THE SEA

SANTIAGO, Chile.—American science, and flying men who blazed the sky trail in South America, have solved a freight problem that had existed since the days of Spanish dominion and defied the efforts of white man, Indian and beast.

Organization honors go to the Pan American Grace Airways corporation—known as "Pangra," on the southern continent—whose planes have completed the transportation of 1,000,000 pounds of mining machinery over 19,000 feet high Andean peaks, to recommence operation of a rich gold mine neglected since the days of slave labor under the conquistadors.

Neither the llama, far famed beast of burden in the Andean heights, nor the more common burro could accomplish the task. The plane took thirty minutes on a journey that occupied the burro ten days—but there is more in the story.

The gold mine is in a jungle valley of the Tipuani river, which rushes down from Bolivia's highest peaks. So inaccessible was the site and so perilous the trail that only slave labor carried out the metal, in the days of the Incas and conquistadors.

"Golden river," as it was known, came to an end with the slavery system. No present day Indian would dream of the mining task. But knowledge of the rich metal deposits, which in former days had flowed copiously through Cuzco and Lima to distant imperial Spain, continued to intrigue the white man and modern mining engineers.

The recent rise in gold prices persuaded engineers of the Bolivian Aramayo company — a Franco-British-American concern—to take up the problem anew. If only modern machinery could be got over the peaks and into Golden River valley, the proposition would be attractive again.

The llama was tried, but it failed. It just lies down if more than sixty pounds is put on its back. It knows the weight margin to the ounce. The burro failed, even with an extra pair of nostrils, because of the high altitude. To obtain a greater oxygen supply, it is common to bore an extra set of holes in the nasal cavity of the Andean burro when young.

Then the "Panagra" was called in. It made surveys and a weather station was established to study air currents in the valley. Fog hours were charted and also precipitation intensity.

The American airmen agreed the job could be done and soon dug out an airport by the river bank. Machinery was transported at the rate of 10,000 pounds per day. Some single pieces, such as the machinery for the compressors, weighed 1,800 pounds.

It was an air express order, and every day, for a hundred days, the planes from La Paz, the Bolivian capital, crossed the peaks and swooped into the valley of Golden river. Well laid plans and careful meteorological studies prevented mishaps.

Now the million pounds of machinery is being assembled, ready to mine the golden nuggets.

SHARE IN ESTATE.

Chicago, Jan. 25.—[Legal Friend of the People.]—I am heir to an estate from which I am supposed to draw $30 per month. Rents of a building cover the estate. The executor moved in one of the flats and pays only $30 a month rent when the flat originally paid $45.

1. Who should say how much rent is to be paid on each flat?
2. When the estate is taken out of the Probate court could I force the executor in any way to sell the property so that I can receive my share? Does the executor have to file a [3] writ of execution covering expenses of same with the Probate court and [4] how often?
5. When the will is not being properly executed should same be taken into and reported to the Probate court clerk?

J. W. B.

1. The executor does not necessarily have anything to do with the real estate as executor. His rights and powers depend on the wording of the will. Unless the will specifically gives the real estate to the executor with instructions it seems likely that the title is now in the beneficiaries and if they are not satisfied the remedy is by partition proceedings.
2. Depends on the wording of the will.
3. A writ of execution is the court process under which a debtor's assets are subjected to payment of judgment. It seems probable that you mean to ask whether he must file a final account and the answer is yes.
4. At the time of closing.
5. Yes.

Where owners of undivided interests in real estate cannot agree any one of them is entitled to force a division or a public sale by partition proceedings. The cost of such proceedings, including the complainant's solicitor's fees, are chargeable against the proceeds of sale.

TRIBUNE LAW DEPARTMENT.

ESTATE SETTLEMENT.

Chicago, Jan. 25.—[Legal Friend of the People.]—1. What is administrator's fee in Illinois and how is it determined?

2. Are attorney for estate fees included in administrator's fees or a separate item?
3. Are the fees variable, [4] depending upon the length of time estate is open?
5. Is there an additional fee if administrator looks after any real property outside of Illinois?
6. Supposing an Illinois estate consisted of $100,000 personal property. What might be the approximate fees, respectively? G. W. D.

1. The Illinois statute says not over 6 per cent of the personal property.
2. The former, in our opinion, but opinions differ.
3. Yes.
4. This ought not to alter the fees.
5. The administrator as such does not necessarily have anything to do with the real estate. If he is employed by the heirs to manage foreign real estate this would be a separate employment and presumably should be separately paid.
6. Ordinarily the full 6 per cent would not be allowed by the probate judge on an estate as large as this. We are not in a position to name the exact figure.

RELIEF.

Chicago, Jan. 27.—This letter is written merely as an appeal of a native Chicagoan to the one newspaper that is essentially Chicagoan.

I have read articles alleging that Lyons, the relief commissioner, is holding two jobs at $5,000 per year each. Also John Martin's nonsensical reply about $25,000 worth of ability. You are an employer and have a pretty good idea of the value of a $25,000 employé. I saw an article in your paper about "683,419 Out of Work in Illinois." At the security wage of $94 per month, this man Lyons alone is keeping approximately nine family men out of jobs.

As a Chicagoan, I ask whether or not there is a man in Chicago capable of holding an executive or supervisory job in the WPA? Lyons is from Rockford. What is Lyons' war record? How did he get the job? The Merchandise Mart is overloaded with hundred of loafers drawing from $125 to $300 or better a month—and most of them are from downstate or out of the state. How come? Is this a Horner political football?

Many Chicagoans are getting $35 and $65 per month under the supervision of these glorified plow deserters. Why not send a couple of smart reporters into the maelstrom on North Wells street and see what they can find?

As you are probably aware, the theatrical project, the art project, and the writers' project are three of the most glaring examples of communistic nurseries and alien employment. Why should we support communistic monkeys and alien parasites who would not support the government in the event of a national emergency?

My protest is not a selfish one. I am sick of being besieged by veterans who walk the streets. I am disgusted as I look around me and see native Chicagoans on relief while the money appropriated for jobs in Chicago and Cook county is being expended on a lot of people who never contributed 5 cents or 5 minutes to the development of Chicago. As Ald. McDermott wisecracked in the city council the other day, what becomes of the money? Horner had a 2 cent tax, then a 3 cent tax pushed through for relief. All we ever read or hear about is we have no money for relief. Where does it go? Recent revelation of the sales tax manipulation is part of the story.

Kelly is being criticized by the bogus philanthropists and the 5 job law enforcement officer for the condition. You know and we know that all Kelly and the city council can do is beg for alms from the state.

THE TRIBUNE came in for a lot of censure when it was the first sheet in the United States to try to penetrate the Roosevelt ian myth, but gradually the Chicago public has again come to the realization that THE TRIBUNE is the only essentially Chicago newspaper in Chicago and that, being Chicago born and bred, it has guts.

On June 29 a bill was passed by congress giving veterans preference and striking aliens off relief and WPA jobs. What became of that one? Hopkins decided that veterans did not have to be given preference unless on relief and that aliens on relief were to be retained. Who is Hopkins—or is there a congress? And what for?

The answer is: The veterans who, unfortunately were forced on relief, have the lousy jobs. The others, who didn't go on relief, can't get jobs.

All recipients of relief—with the exception of veterans—should be disfranchised until they prove over a period of three years that they are self-supporting.

DANCING THROUGH SCHOOL.

Glen Ellyn, Ill., Jan. 26.—In this morning's Voice of the People one who signs himself "Dance Director" favors making social dancing "an integral part of an individual's education while at school."

This is fantastic. What the boys and girls of today need are the fundamentals of education—the "three R's" so scoffed at these days. They are not getting these educational necessities because teachers are already swamped with frills which they must teach.

Those boys and girls who leave the grade schools without the foundation on which all education must be built will never be educated. They are passed through high school and college and pour into offices and shops, factories and stores, and into all places where men and women must work, not fitted for any work which calls for any degree of education. They cannot add or subtract, multiply or divide, accurately. They cannot handle fractions and percentages. They misuse the short and simple words in everyday use. They cannot write a paragraph without glaring errors of grammar and rhetoric. They cannot read, understandingly, the events of the day because they have no background of history which would enable them to estimate the importance of what is going on in the world. They constitute what a dictator the other days called "the bellowing herds of democracy."

Not dancing, not painting, not embroidery, not the social graces, not any form of boondoggling, but a solid base on which an education may be built, is what these children need.

CHARLES LEE BRYSON,

RARE OLD CHICAGO.

Chicago, Jan. 27.—Don't you think something should be done in the way of commendation for the producers of the film "In Old Chicago"?

Their faithful fitness to historical record was refreshing after so many examples of incongruity, anachronism, and anomaly which have marred previous period plays.

Their revelation of one of Mrs. O'Leary's sons as the fire time mayor, and another as the Boss Tweed of his day was a joy to those who believe that historical facts, however suppressed during the times when they are news and not history, should be made available to the student. Almost the producers may be forgiven for neglecting to stress Mrs. O'Leary's splendid service as warden of the county jail.

But why did they neglect the cow? All of us who are familiar with the early history of Chicago know that she was, in civil life, Prince Henry of Battenburg.

NEIGHBOR.

CHILDREN ON CHILD MARRIAGES.

Chicago, Jan. 24.—We, the members of the Senior Student council of the Goudy school request that the American press refrain from publishing any news about child marriages, and also refrain from printing intimate bedroom scenes of child brides with infants. May we ask you to use your power and force in establishing legislation which would prevent child marriages in the United States?

EDNA ROTH,
President of Senior Council.

A. M.'S CHILDREN.

Chicago, Jan. 26.—Does our President know about your contributor, A. M., feeding his kiddies oatmeal with weevils? Why not take some of that million dollar contribution he is seeking to aid the sufferers in China and buy A. M. some oatmeal without weevils? At any rate, his children should certainly be listed with suffering Chinese.

American Aviation Makes Its Bow for 1938.

BY WAYNE THOMIS.

American aviation for 1938 went on display at the International Air show at 7 o'clock last night. And, as spectators in the International amphitheater at 42d and Halsted streets quickly discovered, the show is the first aviation exhibition at which visitors are expected to have a pleasant time as well as to gape.

Those who peered down into the vast arena, with its floor of brilliant green as a perfect background for half a dozen glittering airplanes, felt the thrill of a brilliant spectacle. They also had the satisfaction of examining machines ordinarily seen only as specks in the sky.

The Curious Satisfied.

Graphically complete exhibits answered those who were curious about the whys and wherefores of aviation. Secrets of speed, what happens when a plane falls into a tail spin, how an airplane wing generates lift, and the mystery of the invisible radio beam which forms an aerial highway, all of these were explained by working models that visitors were invited to operate themselves.

To cap the evening there was an hour of laughter, gayety, color, and some serious moments whipped together in a potpourri called the "Cavalcade of Flight." Incidents in aviation history were interspersed with a ballet, comedians, and tableaus celebrating triumphs of the Wright brothers, Louis Bleriot, and Col. Lindbergh.

The amphitheater, which seats almost 40,000 persons, was well filled for the debut of this production, which will be presented at 4 p. m. and 9 p. m. daily until the show closes Feb. 6.

Five Planes in Main Arena.

The main arena held five planes, the largest of which was a Douglas DC-3 sleeper plane. It is being exhibited jointly by the Douglas Aircraft company, and four air lines, American Air Lines, Pan-American Airways system, United Air Lines, and Transcontinental and Western Air, Inc. A catwalk over one wing permits a careful inspection of the interior.

The other four ships in the arena were on pontoons, each occupying a tiny pond of its own.

The lower wings of the amphitheater to the north and south of the arena are filled with fresh creations of the country's airplane manufacturers.

The second floors of the amphitheater wings have perhaps the most interesting exhibits of all. In the north wing are the miniature radio beam, the miniature wind and spin tunnels of the national advisory committee for aeronautics and its water channel for testing pontoon and flying boat hulls, and the bureau of air commerce exhibitions of light beacons and radio service.

American Airlines' instrument flying school is in the south wing with the aircraft engine and accessory booths.

STATE FARMERS SUPPORT PARITY CROP PRICE LAW

Springfield, Ill., Jan. 28.—[Special.]—Resolutions designed to encourage organized farmers in their attempts to bring about equitable balance between agricultural and other groups were adopted at the closing session of the Illinois Agricultural association's twenty-third annual convention today.

Following an address by Edward A. O'Neal, president of the American Farm Bureau federation, in which he reviewed the progress of national farm legislation, delegates endorsed the essential provisions of the agricultural adjustment act of 1937 which was sponsored by the federation. The principals backed by the association are mainly embodied in the Pope-McGill bill now being considered in a conference committee of congress.

The resolutions favor an ample supply of basic farm products, an opportunity to control surplus reserve supplies supported by adequate federal loans, means to assure producers a chance to adjust production and give the individual farmer a fair share of the current market parity or near parity price.

Day By Day Story of the Experimental Farms

By Bob Becker

Tracks of Red Fox

January 28, 1938.

ALTHOUGH the red fox is given little protection from hunters in Illinois he manages to keep his skin intact in many northern parts of the state. And he still is covering considerable country on his hunting trips, leaving behind in the snow a record of his wanderings, his searches for food, and his occasional visits to barnyards.

In recent years it has been fairly easy to find fox tracks on and around the Tribune experimental farm near Yorkville. The big stands of timber, slightly rolling country, excellent sites for fox dens, and other physical characteristics of the country have made it suitable for the foxes. Food is abundant.

The tracks made in the snow by a fox [when the animal is walking] are in a straight line. If there is much snow on the ground you may see the marks of his brush. The tail of the animal is likely to register as it sweeps lightly from one side to the other. A third feature of the fox's tracks is the way his pads [five] leave distinct, round impressions. These characteristics should be kept in mind by the outdoor fan who is trying to differentiate between the snow tracks of the fox, dog, and coyote.

Size of Footprints.

The fox's fore feet leave depressions in the snow that are about 3½ inches long and 2¾ inches broad. The hind foot marks generally measure about 3 by 2¼ inches. The prints are, of course, smaller than those of a wolf. One of the most interesting things about the way a fox walks and makes impressions in the snow is the relationship between the fore and hind feet. He puts his hind feet in the depression made by the fore feet.

In winter the animal makes his fore feet "break trail" for the hind feet. Thus walking in the snow is not so difficult. When there is no snow Reynard is able to pick out noiseless places for his fore feet and then put his hind feet in those same spots and thus avoid unnecessary noise.

Picks Up Young Pig.

Here were a number of sows with litters of young pigs. The fox apparently had to have food for its young secreted in a den on the north bank of the stream. The animal went over the fence around the barnyard, neatly picked up a little pig, and then headed for the river on a run.

RADIO EDUCATION CHANNELS SET UP BY COMMISSION

Part of Short Wave Field Is Reserved.

BY LARRY WOLTERS.

The federal communications commission has just set aside twenty-five channels between 41,000 and 42,000 kilocycles in the short wave field for exclusive use by nonprofit agencies for the advancement of education. These, it is hoped, will be utilized by public school systems, colleges, and universities. In many instances it is expected these stations, ranging in power from 100 to 1,000 watts, will broadcast program material direct from specific sources into classrooms. The licenses also will authorize the broadcast of educational and entertainment matter to the general public. But no sponsored programs will be permitted.

With Joe, a trained parrot, announcing the time signals, WAAF will introduce a new streamlined Breakfast Express from 7 to 9 a. m. Monday. Featuring Don Norman as master of ceremonies and Edna Earle, comedienne, this show of novelties and musical recordings will run every weekday morning. Several times a week visiting celebrities will be introduced—that is, if v. c.'s can be induced to get up that early.

A lot of favorable comment has been filtering in from listeners on that program of recordings, Music As You Desire It, aired nightly except Saturday over WENR. This program's unusual aspect is that it features classical music exclusively at an hour when swing usually holds sway.

Tomorrow night the program calls for Contralto Marian Anderson singing Schubert's "Aufenhalt," Brahm's "May Night," and the spiritual, "Go Down, Moses"; the Philadelphia orchestra in Debussy's "Nuages" and Yella Pessl, harpsichordist, and Georges Barrere, flutist, in a portion of Rachmaninoff's Concerto in C Minor and Bach's Sonata No. 1 in B Minor.

Radio stars who will be on hand to help entertain at the President's birthday ball tonight in the Palmer house include Fibber McGee [Jim Jordan], Dolores Gillen, Ella Logan, and Milton Douglas. Changing off as masters of ceremonies will be Harlow Wilcox, Pierre Andre, Truman Bradley, Bob Elson, and Hal Totten. Paul Pendarvis' band will provide the music which will be aired over WMAQ at 11 p. m.

COL. W. J. FISHER, NATIONAL GUARD COMMANDER, DIES

Col. Walter J. Fisher, commander of the 53d cavalry brigade, Illinois National Guard, died yesterday in his home at 3953 Jackson boulevard after an illness of several months. He was 58 years old. He enlisted in the cavalry before the Spanish-American war. He received his first commission in 1903 and rose to the rank of lieutenant colonel shortly before the world war, in which he served with the 108th ammunition train. During the war he became a colonel of cavalry, and was cited for meritorious service. In civilian life he was trafic manager for the Armor Grain company. He leaves his widow, Lydia. Col. Fisher's body will lie in state in the 122d Field Artillery armory, 234 East Chicago avenue, from noon tomorrow to 2 p. m. Monday, when military rites will be held. He will be buried with military honors in Oakridge cemetery.

2 DIE IN TOLEDO APARTMENT FIRE; SEVEN ARE HURT

Toledo, O., Jan. 28.—[Special.]—Fire that followed a birthday party for a young Yale university graduate today killed him and a woman neighbor, injured seven persons, and demolished a two story apartment house.

Robert G. K. Stewart, 28 years old, son of W. W. Stewart, former treasurer of the old Willys-Overland Automobile company, and Mrs. Dorothy Schaub, 28 years old, were suffocated. Five firemen and two other residents of the apartment house were injured.

A party had been held at Stewart's apartment last night in celebration of his 28th birthday. Shortly after dinner his parents visited him, but they left before the party started.

C. W. ANDERSON, U. S. REVENUE COLLECTOR, DIES

New York, Jan. 28.—(AP)—Charles W. Anderson, 72 years old, United States collector of internal revenue here under seven presidents, died of pneumonia today at his home in Harlem.

Anderson, a Negro, was appointed collector of the 2d district, known as the richest in the country because it comprised lower Manhattan, including Wall street, by President Theodore Roosevelt. It was one of the most important political posts given to a Negro up to that time and aroused widespread opposition in congress.

Bright Frock for the Spring

WOMAN'S AND MISS' DRESS.

Now is the time to begin your spring wardrobe. The balmy days are not as far off as you may think, and the first thing you know you will be caught short with a collection of lovely woolens which will be far too warm, however pretty. The dress illustrated today is a bright model to shove your spirits up a notch or two.

There is a rounded shoulder yoke which may be left plain or be trimmed with embroidery. The pattern we suggest is No. E-11185, and it's available for 10 cents extra. Under the yoke there is shirring which lends attractive fulness to the bodice. The skirt is paneled for a neat fit through the hips and plenty of width through the hemline. Around the waist there is a soft sash of the material which you buy for the dress. Short sleeves are going to be universal for spring, and this dress has them.

Use any type of printed or light colored silks for this model.

Style No. 3403 is designed for sizes 14, 16, 18, and 20 years, and 32, 34, 36, 38, 40, and 42 inches bust measurement. Size 36 requires 3¼ yards of 39 inch material, with ⅝ yard of 39 inch for the sash.

Here Are Ten Resolutions as Guide to Chic

BY ANTOINETTE DONNELLY.

Copyright: 1938: By The Chicago Tribune-N. Y. News Syndicate, Inc.]

Just a few resolutions are offered for your consideration. Coming as they do from one of the noted fashion authorities of the country, they should interest any woman with will to be chic, smart and attractive.

1. I never will allow my stocking seams to be crooked, or my heels run down, remembering that neatness may be the only difference between the best dressed woman in the world and myself.

2. I will faithfully see that my grooming is as perfect as daily home care and a weekly wave and manicure can make it, remembering that reputation for smartness isn't acquired in a day.

3. I will change my coiffure at least once during the year, remembering that variety is the spice of fashion.

4. I will buy dresses large enough to cover hips and shoulders without strain, remembering that the quickest way to serve notice of added weight is to wear too small a dress.

5. I will wear comfortable shoes, remembering that there never was a smart woman whose feet pained her.

6. I will plan my wardrobe on paper each season, selecting a central color scheme and mapping out dresses I'll need with complete accessories, before I go out to buy anything, remembering that my life is my own, and not that of Mrs. Harrison Williams or Kay Francis.

7. I will make two dresses do the work of three, and spend the difference on better hats, shoes, bags and gloves, remembering that a costume is as effective as its weakest detail.

8. I will dress to please the man I have or the man I want, remembering that there always is a hat or a dress that we both will like.

9. I will try to suit the costume to the occasion, wearing sports clothes in the country, street clothes in town and evening clothes of the right degree of formality, remembering that suitability is an important secret of chic.

10. I will go completely haywire once during the year, buying something I don't need, can't afford, but can't live without, remembering that a pinch of madness makes perfection interesting.

THROUGH THE LOOKING GLASS

It seems a little silly, considering all the wonderful educational work that's been done in the last few years, even to hint that women are a bit slack about deodorants. But it's true—and more apt to be true in winter than in summer.

In hot weather women don't need to be reminded. But in winter we think they do. They forget that perspiration isn't exclusively a summer complaint. Just shop or work for a while in a wool dress and you'll know.

Our personal nomination for a most satisfactory deodorant for use now, because it's efficient and quick drying, is an eau de cologne deodorant that has everything to recommend it. It's of the cream variety, but it's greaseless. It disappears into the skin with admirable speed. It's refreshing and, according to the most careful tests we could make, it is not irritating to the most sensitive skin.

We love the smell of it. Instead of the chemical odor so often found in deodorants it has a charming eau de cologne fragrance. But best of all it really does it's job. It destroys every bit of the odor of perspiration.

It is used as a vanishing cream would be; you simply smooth it into the skin under the arm and let it dry, which it will do in practically no time. Use it daily if you feel you need to. Naturally, since some perspire more than others, you must, with this as with all other deodorants, work out the system that suits your individual needs.

One thing we like about this is that you can use it at a moment's notice. You don't have to spend twenty minutes waiting for it to dry before you let fabric touch the creamed area. It sells in one ounce jars and isn't at all expensive considering its efficiency and its quality.

Young Samuel Culbertson to Wed Easterner

BY JUDITH CASS.

WHEN Mrs. Robert F. Carr Jr. threw her bridal bouquet just after she had ceased being Miss Vesta Culbertson, her maid of honor, beautiful Miss Beatrice Kunhardt of New York, caught it. That was on Jan. 15. Today, in keeping with the old superstition, announcement is being made of Miss Kunhardt's engagement to Mrs. Carr's brother, Samuel A. Culbertson II.

Miss Kunhardt is the daughter of Mrs. L. Stuart Wing and H. Rudolph Kunhardt of New York and the granddaughter of the late Dr. and Mrs. Walter F. Chappell of that city. Her other grandparents are Mrs. Henry Rudolph Kunhardt and the late Henry R. Kunhardt, also New Yorkers. Miss Kunhardt is a graduate of the Santa Barbara Girls' school and made her debut in New York in 1935.

Mr. Culbertson's engagement to Miss Barbara Lewis of Santa Barbara was broken by mutual consent not long after it was announced last August, although her parents, Mr. and Mrs. George Meeker Lewis, did not make any formal statement concerning the broken engagement. So young Mr. Culbertson was heart-whole and fancy-free when he flew to Chicago from the University of Virginia early last November to attend the dinner-dance at the Casino at which announcement was made of the engagement of his sister to young Mr. Carr.

Make Plans for Wedding in June.

Miss Kunhardt had come from New York for the party and it was there that she and Mr. Culbertson met. They both were here again for the wedding and the gay round of parties that preceded it. And now they are planning to be married on Thursday, June 16, in New York, just after Mr. Culbertson finishes his second year at law school.

He and his bride-to-be already have found a house just out of Charlottesville, where the university is situated, in which they will live until he finishes his studies.

After the wedding Mr. Culbertson, whose parents are Mrs. Wallace F. Kirk of Chicago and Craig Culbertson of New York, and his bride will sail for California via the Panama canal. After a stay in Burlingame they will come to Chicago for the last half of the summer.

Mr. Culbertson prepared for the University of Virginia, where he went to college, at the Choate school in Wallingford, Conn. Before that he went to the Harris school in Chicago.

Grove House Benefit Tonight.

The directors of Grove house are doing their best to bring an atmosphere of 19th century Chicago to those attending its benefit performance "In Old Chicago" tonight at the Apollo theater. Coffee is to be served in the lobby in an intermission, as it is done in London, but the young women serving it will wear costumes that were rescued from the Benjamin H. Buckingham house on Rush street at the time of the great fire in 1871.

Miss Judy Butler, Miss Eleanor Wilson, Miss Margot Reid, Miss Mary Trumbull, and Miss Louise Blossom will serve the coffee. Miss Wilson's mother, Mrs. Morris K. Wilson, has been in charge of tickets for the benefit. Miss Butler's mother, Mrs. Francis P. Butler, is a member of the board. Mrs. John M. Butler is chairman of the party.

Elysian Fields Party Tonight.

The sixty guests Mr. and Mrs. Robert Pyzel have invited to an Elysian Fields party at 9 o'clock tonight in their Scott street home have been asked to come in costume, but their costumes will not be restricted to Greek gods and goddesses, for any one could be in the Elysian Fields. Accordingly, emperors and kings, knights, famed beauties, and courtesans will be welcomed to the Pyzels' to make merry in the temples of Bacchus, Eros, and Terpsichore. The apartment is to be decorated as the temples.

Four out of town guests have come for the party—Mr. and Mrs. Gordon Tevis of California and the Daniel Ericourts. Mr. Ericourt, French pianist, is on a concert tour. He will appear here later in the season.

Dunham Woods Ice Carnival.

The cold weather of the last few days has been welcomed at the Dunham Woods club, which will hold an ice carnival tonight and tomorrow afternoon.

This evening dinner will be served in the clubhouse and afterward the members of the club, in masquerade costumes, will put on their own ice carnival without the help of professionals. The impromptu program and grand march, with every one on skates joining in, are under the direction of Hugo Layer, teacher of waltz and school figures.

The Lone Skaters' club, originated by Mrs. J. McWilliams Stone and Charles R. Lindsay III., will show their more skillful friends just what progress they have made in the last few weeks.

Tomorrow afternoon at 3 o'clock members of the Chicago Figure Skating club and the Ice club of Chicago will give an exhibition, after which supper will be served in the clubhouse.

The Exmoor Country club's annual ice carnival will be held at 3:30 o'clock tomorrow afternoon, weather permitting.

Saddle and Cycle to Hear Story of Voyage.

Capt. Warwick M. Tompkins will illustrate a lecture he will give tomorrow night at the Saddle and Cycle

Looking at Hollywood
By Ed Sullivan

Glamorville-on-the-Coast

Hollywood, Cal., Jan. 28.

Sunday night: The Trocadero is jammed for the first west coast appearance of Henry Youngman, the zany violinist known to radio because of his appearances on the Kate Smith program. Greatest performers in the world get the shakes when called upon to perform at the Troc, most famous club west of the Rockies, because of the faces at the ringside tables.

A performer, from the elevated platform on which he works, sees before him the famous of his own profession—Jolson, Benny, Burns and Allen, Jack Pearl, Joan Crawford, Bill Powell, Jack Haley, Spencer Tracy, Don Ameche, Groucho Marx, Loretta Young, the Ritz brothers—and looking at them, the performer chokes up a bit.

In addition he knows that on this performance he will win or lose a movie contract. More credit then to the gangling Youngman, for he steps out there, looks them right in the eye, and clicks. The hop from 52d street, New York, to Hollywood has been completed.

Monday night: A visit to "The Women," which is playing here. The audience loves it, proving that east and west do meet in appreciation of comedy lines.

The road show performers, however, should be ashamed of their amateurish makeups. Most of them are reddened up like Indians, and several of them have failed to extend the makeup to their hairline, so that two inches of white skin gives them a scalpy look. Such carelessness rates a spanking.

Tuesday night: "Goldwyn Follies" opens at the Warner Hollywood theater. Autograph fans are held back by police battalions, but elude them to get the names they want. Out here the kids, in addition to their autograph books, carry also a complete stock of pictures, so a celeb is fairly startled, and flattered no little, when a youngster pops out his or her picture and asks the star to sign it.

"Goldwyn Follies" is a big musical in technicolor mounted in the usual Goldwyn manner. Not since Ziegfeld has any producer had the discriminate taste of Goldwyn for form or color, and the picture would be noteworthy even for that.

Balancing opera and ballet against slapstick makes an interesting formula, and the presence of Edgar Bergen and Charlie McCarthy, the Ritz brothers, Phil Baker, Adolphe Menjou, Kenny Baker, Andrea Leeds makes this sure fire as a box office attraction.

The picture is too big for any performer to run off with major laurels, and ten minutes could be sliced out of the preview length. Helen Jepson is disappointing; Zorina's water ballet number won cheers; the Ritz brothers are hilarious in two spots; Bergen and McCarthy are badly spotted; Andrea Leeds is too saccharine; Menjou is excellent, Phil Baker very amusing, and Kenny Baker's tones magnificent.

Wednesday night: Joe Schenck stages a benefit affair at the Clover club at $25 a plate for the Warm Springs Foundation fund. This is the greatest show I've ever seen, as great in detail as the badly run Ted Healy testimonial was deficient.

Big hit of the night is when Joe Schenck, Darryl Zanuck, and Bill Goetz walk on the floor and impersonate the Ritz Brothers, with Zanuck doing a dance, Schenck doing a comedy patter, and Goetz just plain unhappy in the spotlight. . . . As they exit the Ritz Brothers come on made up as Schenck, Zanuck, and Goetz, with Harry Ritz wearing a Zanuck mustache and beating the floor with a polo stick.

Thursday: The town gasping over the exploits of David Oliver Selznick at the gaming tables. Selznick, according to reputable and startled eyewitnesses, hit No. 17 three times in a row at roulette for $6,200. And lost it all back. Ouch!!

Friday: Nothing scheduled. So I play golf with George Von Elm, Director Howard Hawks, and Johnny Gallaudet. Von Elm goes around Lakeside in an even 70, with seven missed putts.

Before we started Dan Topping was complaining to Randy Scott and Johnny Weismuller about his golf. "I can't even break an 80," says Topping. "Bet you $50 you can crack 80," proposes Von Elm. So Topping comes up to the 17th tee needing two 5's to break 80, and gets them to beat himself for $50.

Saturday: Radio City revels set for preview and the unveiling of young Anne Miller as a star. The townsfolk, however, will gather first at the race track and bet another cool million into the pari-mutuel machines. That is quite a sum of money for one day's wagering, don't you think?

Los Angeles storekeepers are raising cain, on the grounds that people aren't paying their bills because they are betting their dough at the races.

Sunday night: The end of another week in sight, and another influx of young hopefuls for auditions at the Trocadero. Week after week they stream here from all over the country, reherse diligently Sunday afternoon and then make their bid for fame and fortune on Sunday night.

Despite the seeming impassivity of the audience it really is generous and appreciative. If a performer has charm his battle is half won at the Troc, but if he is fresh or even remotely vulgar he is a dead pigeon. Charm is a powerful persuader, and when it runs hand in hand with modesty and talent a star is born.

Ryerson Gifts on View Today at Art Institute

BY ELEANOR JEWETT.

This is a crowded week-end. At the Art institute the Martin A. Ryerson bequest of paintings, sculpture, and oriental and decorative arts is on view just for today and tomorrow.

In the Marshall Field galleries tonight the 14th Annual Hoosier salon will open with, for highlights, a quartet of portraits by Wayman Adams and a room hung with water colors.

The Ryerson collection is sparkling. Many of the more important paintings will be familiar to those who have seen them in Mr. Ryerson's lifetime installed in his home. For instance, the magnificent Winslow Homer, "The Herring Net," hung alone in the dining room and the beautiful Renoir, "At the Piano," hung above the Ryerson piano.

As one goes through the paintings one is struck by the fact that Mr. Ryerson was chiefly interested in the primitives and the moderns; not one of these paintings belongs to the later sixteenth, seventeenth, or eighteenth century. There are sixteen early Italian paintings which are exquisite and in the nineteenth century French field there are several remarkable canvases.

Corot's "View of Genoa" is a lovely little canvas. Four paintings by Renoir give the institute enough priceless gems from that master's brush to enable the museum to hang an entire room of Renoirs.

Manet, Degas, Redon, Puvis de Chavannes, Sisley, Alfred Stevens, and Albert André are other artists whose works help to swell the gorgeous total of the collection.

In the Tudor gallery, Chicago Woman's club, there hangs an interesting group of portraits by Nan Rice. Note especially the stunning portrait of Robert Tait and the charming painting of Mrs. MacNair, in a Chinese setting. Miss Rice is taking her portraits to the Fairfax hotel Feb. 6.

Caxton Club.

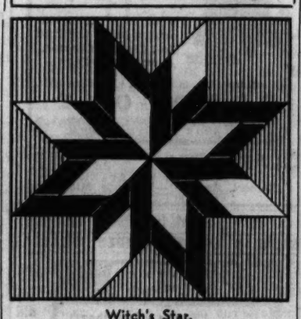
James Weber Linn of the University of Chicago will speak on "The Literature of Information and the Literature of Power" before the Caxton club at 12:30 o'clock today.

"Witch's Star" Quilt Is Version of Basic Design



Witch's Star.

Patterns of this design are 5 cents, stamps or coin. Address Nancy Cabot, Chicago Tribune, or call at one of the Tribune Public Service offices, 1 South Dearborn street or Tribune Tower.

BY NANCY CABOT.

Eight pointed stars always have been prime favorites among quilters, and "Witch's Star" is merely an elaboration of early, fundamental patterns. Usually eight pointed stars are appliqued upon a background, but therein lies the novelty of this design. It is entirely pieced. Three colors are used in this pattern, red, ecru, and white. The stars are of red and white and the ecru furnishes the background. The square is 14 inches when completed, and 30 pieced blocks are required for a coverlet. These are set together with three inch bands between the blocks.

Henry Isham Heads Board of Passavant Hospital Governors

Henry P. Isham, president of the Clearing Industrial District corporation, was elected president of the board of governors of Passavant hospital yesterday. He succeeds Russell Tyson, who resigned the post after fifteen years of service.

Resolutions were adopted thanking Mr. Tyson for his work and expressing gratitude to Miss Edith Patterson for the endowment of the Patterson Cancer institute. The annual report of the hospital showed an increase in service given free to patients.

Other officers elected, in addition to Mr. Isham, were: Vice president, Theodore W. Robinson; secretary, Edison Dick, and treasurer, Lawrence Williams. Present members of the hospital staf were reëlected.

Good Morning!

John Barrymore is certainly the murdering blackguard in this one! A doctor, too—whish! whish!

With a Barrymore acting up like that you can well believe that the picture featuring him would be something to make the hair stand on end. And "Night Club Scandal" tells a right shivery little murder story.

It has plenty of suspense, but no mystery—for you know right at the start that Dr. Tindal has murdered his pretty wife whom you have seen lying on the bedroom floor of their apartment.

Methodically and unemotionally the doctor goes about the business of covering his tracks and arranging evidence so that the finger of suspicion shall point accusingly at his wife's lover. . . .

And so it does. . . . But—there's a smart newspaper reporter—who falls in love with the suspect's pretty sister. It doesn't take long for him to smell a mouse, and due to his untiring and clever activities the cunning M. D. is finally outwitted. . . .

Excellent acting and deft production make "Night Club Scandal" as believable as it is exciting. Mr. Barrymore's craftsmanlike performance is flanked by slick work on the part of Lynne Overman, who plays the reporter, and Charles Bickford as a police inspector. Friendly enemies, these men, who like, razz, and listen respectfully, if sardonically, to one another. If you are at all familiar with their work you're aware that they are always alert and dependable actors.

Louise Campbell as the sister, Elizabeth Patterson as the apartment-hotel housekeeper, and Cecil Cunningham as the Tindal cook are outstanding in an all-around good cast.

So I hand you "Night Club Scandal" with trustful feeling that you're going to enjoy it.

Hospital Party.

The Freda Komaiko Stone Heart club this afternoon will give a party for little patients at the Shriners' Hospital for Crippled Children, 2211 North Oak Park avenue. There will be a program by stage and radio performers. Miss Buddie Schackette is chairman.

Gown Saved from Great Fire

Miss Eleanor Wilson, wearing a gown saved from the home of Benjamin H. Buckingham during the Chicago fire in 1871, will serve coffee in the lobby of the Apollo theater tonight at a benefit performance for Grove House of "In Old Chicago."

Mary E. Armstrong Wed Secretly; Second Time in 25 Months

Miss Mary Elizabeth Armstrong, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Horace White Armstrong of Winnetka, engaged Thursday in her second secret marriage in twenty-five months, it was learned yesterday.

Miss Armstrong, who made her debut in 1935, is 21. Her new husband is Charles H. Penikoff, 38 years old, president of a West Madison street restaurant. The couple were married Thursday by Circuit Judge Harry Fisher.

Miss Armstrong's first husband was Arthur Clayson Swallow of Milwaukee, with whom she eloped to Crown Point, Ind., in December, 1935. She obtained a divorce on Dec. 28, 1936, in Janesville, Wis.

"I've known him for nearly twenty years," Judge Fisher said of Mr. Penikoff. "He's a fine young man. I didn't know her, although I learned who she was when I married them."

Both Mr. and Mrs. Armstrong are in California. Mr. and Mrs. Penikoff left yesterday for New York, where they will sail on a two months' cruise to South America.

Benefit Party.

The auxiliary of the House of the Good Shepherd will hold its annual benefit card party at 2 o'clock today in the grand ballroom of the Drake hotel.

GUNHAMMERED GOLD

By Luke Short

[Copyright: 1938: By Frederick Dilley Glidden.]

SYNOPSIS.

Poco St. Vrain arrives in the western town of Christian City, escaping a pursuing troop of cavalry. There Two-Way Hornbeck approaches him with a scheme. Abe McCandless, who framed Poco and made an outlaw of him, owns a gold mine on a mountain peak. Two insurance agents sent to meet at the mine and bring down the gold are murdered by two different bands of outlaws. Two-Way persuades Poco to pose as one of the agents, Jake Finger, whose papers he has, and get the gold. At the mountain camp Poco finds Espey Cardowan, killer gunman, posing as the other agent. They dare not give each other away to Shayne, the mine manager, and his lovely daughter, Kate. On their way down the mountain with the gold Cardowan crowds Poco off the cliff and leaves him for dead. When he joins his men, waiting for him down the trail, he finds them surrounded by Two-Way and his gang. Meanwhile Kate helps rescue Poco from the bottom of the cliff.

INSTALMENT XII.

A CLAIM ON HIS LIFE.

Poco saw that the ledge sloped up a little before it disappeared entirely. He worked his way to the very end, and it gave him almost five additional feet. Perhaps with his lariat he could make it.

He called up to Kate, "Take off your boot and put it in the loop."

The rope went up again. When it came down next her boot was in it. The boot was well within roping distance and lying against the wall of snow, and Poco set about to loop it. He did, finally, loop the toe of the boot and it was on the fifty-seventh try in midafternoon.

He opened his mouth to call directions, but she seemed to understand. She pulled the rope up, his own hooked on the toe of her boot. Presently the whole thing was lowered again, his rope tied to hers. He could just reach it. He waited until she anchored it and signaled him and then he looked up. He was weak from hunger now, but a sort of desperation gave him strength. His jaw clamped shut and he began the ascent. The first half of the climb he negotiated easily. But he was tiring. When he could go no farther he twisted the rope in his foot and rested.

"Can you make it?" he heard Kate ask him from above. To save his breath he only nodded. When he had his strength back he looked up. It seemed miles until he would reach the trail, but he took the weight of his body off the rope, untwisted his leg, and started again.

Finally, when he knew that he could go no farther, he heard a voice say close above him, "If you can make it another two feet I'll get your wrists."

He did, but he never knew how. After an eternity of struggling he felt two wire taut hands grab him by the wrists.

"I'll try to hold one wrist while I make a loop," she said.

The rope was pulled up under him for a ways, there was a pause, and she said, "Push away and let it slide down under you. The loop is just below your knee."

He felt for it and got it with his foot and the weight slacked off. In another moment, after he had rested, he climbed the rest of the way with her aid.

Once up, he sat on the trail, his head hung on his chest. He was aware that she was half dragging, half lifting him until his back rested against the wall. Presently he felt a biscuit thrust into his hand and he ate it in two swallows and took the canteen she gave him and gulped three deep swallows before it was yanked away.

"You'll get more later," she said. "Can you talk?"

He looked up at her and he could see her frown, almost flinch. He knew his face was cut, caked with blood and sweat, and that his clothes were in rags and his hands a bloody pulp.

He said huskily, "Yes, enough to thank you."

"What happened?" she asked. "Did you fall off?"

Poco heaved a deep sigh. Slowly he drew out his gun and laid it on his lap and said, "I was shoved over with my horse."

He knew it had to be faced sometime, that she had to know, and some dim instinct of self-preservation told him that while he didn't mind the inevitable punishment, he would not accept it before he killed Cardowan.

Kate said, "By Shelton?"

"He's not Shelton," Poco said quietly. "He's Espey Cardowan. I'm not Jacob Finger, either."

"I know," she said quietly. "You're Poco St. Vrain, aren't you?"

He looked up at her quickly, curiously. "How did you know?"

"I guessed it," she said dully.

"Then why did you help me up?"

"I would have done the same for a dog," she said, her voice flat and toneless and weary.

Poco watched her, saw the look of loathing in her face, and for once he was humble.

She said, looking out over the ragged mountains of rock that tumbled away on all sides of them, "The gold is gone, of course—stolen."

"Yes." He did not look at her until he heard her sobbing quietly. Poco cleared his throat. "What's it to you?" he asked curiously. "The gold belongs to Abe McCandless."

She said bitterly, "You know him. Do you think they'll pay dad a cent for this year's work when they find out how he was fooled?"

"You've been fed and clothed. There are other jobs for him."

She whirled on him, her face cold with fury. "You blind fool! Do you think Abe McCandless will let it go at that! Didn't dad advise sending for an insurance company to take out the gold? Didn't he tell McCandless not to interview the agents? Didn't he ask for secrecy, for a lone hand in all this? Do you think McCandless will believe you had the right credentials and that dad wasn't hand in glove with you? Do you think he won't go to prison—or that you haven't ruined his life and made it impossible for him to get other work?"

Poco considered this a moment in silence, staring at the gun in his lap. He had gone into this a lone wolf, to work his own will and be damned to the world. And now for the first time in his life he saw how it worked out for other people.

He looked up at Kate.

"I can get that gold back," he said quietly.

Her lip curled, and the contempt in her face was keen and cold and without pity.

"You wouldn't if you could—and you can't."

"Listen," he said, "I said I can get that gold back. I can."

"You can't even steal it for yourself. A poor, weak thief doesn't turn into a decent strong man overnight!" Kate said coldly. "You're arrogant because you have to be, because you have to assure yourself that you're as good as Cardowan."

Poco said in a thick voice, "There's not a man living would say that to me."

"Because you would either run or shoot him," Kate said. "You've got gun courage. It's like whisky courage. Any man can have it. You've got a gun in your hand now; you drew it when you had to face a showdown with a woman."

Poco said narrowly, "That was because I won't be caught—not by you, not by any woman, not by any man, until I settle this score with Cardowan."

"And get the gold and spend it, while my father rots in jail for your crime."

"I said I would get it back for you—not for McCandless! For you."

"You lie!" Kate said coldly.

"Maybe I lie, then," he said. "If I do or if I don't, you're not going back up to the camp."

"I don't intend to," she said. "I'll ride to Abe McCandless with news of this. I can spare my father that, anyway."

"I'll search your outfit first," Poco said tonelessly. She stood aside while he searched the bedroll and the contents of the pack on the second horse. He found a six-gun in the bedroll, and he plugged out all the shells, then put it back. He worked slowly, beaten with fatigue, but his face was arrogant as of old. When the horse was packed, he said, "Lead off."

Kate did not move. She had been watching him all this while with an aloof contempt she took no pains to hide. She said now, "Let's get this straight. Do you think I have any claim on your life?"

"Yes."

She nodded. "Then don't be surprised if I try and take it."

Boy Meeting Girl Finds His Heart Skipping

BY DORIS BLAKE.

"To be truthful," Marty writes, "your column always has appeared a bit incongruous to me. Why? Because heretofore I never had participated in that competitive sport which enthralls 95 per cent of our people, that is, Boy vs. Girl.

"My life has been greatly devoted to athletics. I have attained a marked proficiency in several lines. At present I am entering my senior year in college. I am taking a circuitous route to come to the subject matter, but since this is my first experience, please have patience with me.

"Now for the history of my life. I met this dilemma of mine seven months ago in a place which I abhor, a 'cellar club.' At the outset I accepted the presidency of the club because I wanted to weave closer friendships among the boys. We started out as a fraternity, since we all are college students, but girls filtered through, upsetting our plans. Thus, my tear-jerking story.

"One night this girl in question came down with a girl pal. Her companion we knew from previous visits, but this dark lass was a newcomer. She is exceptionally pretty, with what it takes to incite heedless youth to make overtures. Not wishing to get mixed up in anything, I took a corner seat with my school chum. The boys were boisterous in their ardor to capture this enticing one.

"In order to pipe them down I took the lead and asked her to sit between my friend and me. She sat quietly and listened to our conversation. Suddenly, she rose and began dancing by herself, being especially adept at the Lindy Hop, and soon things were going gayly again. I beckoned her again to come sit down, which she did. And then we got to talking, the girl revealing a character hitherto unsuspected, explaining that she disliked 'fresh' boys, and so on. That was seven months ago and she has me, to put it briefly, in a terrible dither. She is as straight as a die, I have found out, but mad about a good time. Dancing is bread, meat, and life to her. But she won't go further than admit she likes me. I love her, would jump college and go to work at the drop of the hat for her. Is it love? Is it temptation? What's the cure?"

Just temptation probably, Sonny. Better get out and around with other girls as a panacea for your present emotional state. Your girl education is a bit lopsided, which is why you fell so hard for the first little number.

Enjoy Reuter's Quiet Evening of Good Music

BY EDWARD BARRY.

The virtuoso recital, where a pianist swings and fumes and crowds his instrument to the ropes, is hardly a novelty. But the quiet and careful evening of music provided at the Goodman theater last night by Rudolph Reuter, resident pianist and teacher, was far enough from the usual type of piano recital to deserve a much larger audience than the slim one which actually came.

In a program predominantly lyrical and boasting but a single virtuoso display piece, Mr. Reuter found ample opportunity to exploit that wealth of gentle effect of which the piano is capable and to show to its best advantage his own thoughtful, finely planned musical manner.

Let this not imply that the evening was deficient in extremely difficult music. Certainly the Brahms-Handel Variations constitute as hard a musical and technical nut as any pianist should want to crack.

Aside from the Brahms and some excerpts from a Bach Partita, the program consisted almost exclusively of short pieces. Such neglected men as Busoni and Henselt and Faure found a place on it.

The recital was designed to raise money for young artists' appearances. The Society of American Musicians, which will administer the fund, desires to offer artists whom it sponsors not only the privilege of a public appearance but some financial compensation as well.

The society has announced that its regular annual contests will be held this season. Interested pianists, violinists, organists, and vocalists should write to Edwin J. Gemmer, 1625 Kimball hall, for full information.

At tomorrow afternoon's Great Northern theater concert by the Illinois Symphony orchestra Clara Siegel, pianist, will perform the solo part of Felix Borowski's D minor concerto. Izler Solomon will conduct.

According to CULBERTSON

[Copyright: 1938: By Ely Culbertson.]

Theoretically, the function of bidding is to achieve a final contract representing the greatest trick-taking possibilities of two combined hands. Theory and practice do not always jibe, however. There are risks that inevitably attend "exploring." In a bridge sense, the risk is that, in the search for the best trump suit, too high a bidding level may be reached. With hands whose honor strength is doubtful, it is better to rest at a reasonably good contract, while the opponents remain quiescent, than to climb into the "doubling range" in search of a better one.

Neither side vulnerable.

The bidding:

| South | West | North | East |
|---|---|---|---|
| Pass | Pass | 1 spade | Pass |
| 2 hearts | Pass | Pass | Pass |

Particularly in match point duplicate it is wise to open third hand with a minimum holding. This, however, does not mean that the opener should continue bidding merely because he gets a so-called positive response from his partner. North's action in passing to the two hearts was eminently proper. Presumably South had a five card suit for his overcall at the two level and, although North himself had only two, it was far better to drop the bidding at a low stage than to search for a better spot at the possible expense of reaching a high level. The logic of North's action was made manifest by the final result.

Against an opening diamond lead the declarer, playing quite normally, lost only two heart tricks and two clubs, for a score of 90 plus the part-score bonus. Actually, he could have made four-odd by leading a heart toward dummy and, when West properly ducked, putting in the ten. But this would have been incorrect technique, succeeding only because of the particular heart break that existed.

Had North searched for a better spot, it probably would have been found, but the result would not have been as happy. Had North bid two spades over two hearts, South then would have shown his diamond suit. North, of course, would pass and four-odd in diamonds would have been made. But this would have returned only a point score of 80, plus 50, which would not give as good a match point score as did the heart contract.

Patent Lether Bags Dress Up Winter Coats

BY RHEA SEEGER.

Patent lether bags, good roomy carryalls, are out, ready for a cruising shopper in search of something bright to revive a winter coat. These are flat affairs in vivid green, red, yellow, the newest blazing coppertone and blacks, and a few pastels and plenty of whites. Strapped bags are smarter than ever, from the chubby little numbers that look like lunch kits, to the huge models almost big enough to hang from the shoulders. Belts to match are available.

We recommend such shining loot for rainy weather, combined with shoes also of patent lether. Quick cleaning can be achieved with a daily flip of a damp cloth on belts, bags or footgear.

Equal to any dark day or wandering cold snap are the newest striped blouses. They're slick tops for the two piece suits that are being worn under fur coats or heavy winter fur trimmed coats or swaggers of tweed. Some of the stripes are as wide as four inches, sometimes there are only four alternating stripes to the blouse, but the color contrasts have been worked by experts. The sleeves are short and slide under suit sleeves with ease. Linen textures and heavy crêpes are the materials.

Your last raid for warm sleeping outfits will find flannelette gowns with super comfortable long sleeves and a streamline that fits. Some are in candy striped pink and blue material, others in ladylike floral designs. If you demand pajamas you find the same warm, cozy stuff featured in fetching two piece models cut for freedom and warmth, the tops with short or long sleeves. Price tags are low.

It's Child Who Suffers from Estrangements

BY GLADYS HUNTINGTON BEVANS

A wife left her husband. I believe they might have become reconciled if he had been different about their child. Whenever they arranged to meet so that, as he said, he could see the little girl, he would make bitter and slighting remarks to the child about her mother. This had been going on before their separation, but when it continued afterwards the mother felt that, even if she put her own feelings aside, such a life would be destructive to any growing child. A case like this came to my attention recently.

A column on child training has to be at times just a column in adult human relationships. It is that today. So let me say this: When there are children, a superhuman effort should be made to make a marriage successful and keep a home together. But too often the effort and sacrifice are all on one side, either the husband's or the wife's. This is not fair and will not work.

I have had several letters lately some from husbands, some from wives, in which they describe the effort they are making to hold things together, but in which one side makes critical and disparaging remarks about the other in the children's presence. In these cases often it is only one parent who has the large view and "builds up" the other one in the child's eyes.

It is a beautiful and unselfish thing when a wife in such a strained situation, plays her part so well that she builds up her husband to the children. But it is a selfish and vengeful thing when the husband destroys that child's faith in and respect for his mother. He is not really adding glory to himself, because one fine day his son may find him out.

It isn't sporting to let his wife down in this joint effort to keep the home together. But worst of all, if it's the children he cares about—and he evidently does—he is doing them a great harm. Not only now, but later in adolescence and young manhood, serious inner conflicts may arise as a result of such a destructive attitude. Unfortunately it is far too common a situation.

I have been asked for advice. All I have to offer is this appeal for a change of heart to the one who is in the wrong.

If two people can unselfishly shed their animosity in the common cause of their children the years may even bring them truly together once again.

Our "Mothers' and Fathers' Litany" is specially printed and is obtainable on request. Please enclose postage but no envelope in this case. Address Mrs. Gladys Bevans, the Chicago Tribune, Chicago, Ill.

Mrs. Bevans' column also appears in the Sunday Tribune.

HORNER CONFERS WITH CRONIES ON DIETERICH'S JOB

Slate Makers Start Work on County Ticket.

BY PERCY WOOD.

Gov. Horner and a number of Chicago and downstate Democrats who acknowledge his leadership conferred last night in the executive mansion at Springfield over a candidate to oppose the renomination of Senator William H. Dieterich of Beardstown. Among them was Congressman Scott W. Lucas of Havana, one of three potential candidates in a position to receive the support of the Horner forces.

The growing senatorial boom for United States Attorney L. Igoe of Chicago, which started with his downstate friends and was received with favor in Chicago, was thought to have caused the Springfield conference.

Courtney Attends Conference.

The governor would not comment, even to the extent of refusing to confirm or deny the fact of the meeting. Other sources, however, declared that in addition to Lucas those meeting with Horner included State's Attorney Courtney, Chairman James M. Slattery of the commerce commission, Albert J. Horan, bailif of the Chicago Municipal court, and F. Lynden Smith, state director of public works and Horner's 1936 campaign manager.

The question to be answered was whether Mr. Horner, who has said several times that he thought downstate should have a candidate against Dieterich, should oppose the Igoe boom. If it is decided in the affirmative, then Lucas, John E. Cassidy of Peoria, or Speaker Louie E. Louis of the Illinois house would be the leading prospects.

Work on County Ticket.

Thirty-one Democratic slatemakers went to work on the county primary ticket yesterday with less than a half dozen political offices to allot. By tonight or tomorrow they probably will have these parceled out and the way cleared for consideration next week of the state ticket and its knotty problem of the senatorship.

The two major offices for which a dozen candidates are asking consideration are county treasurer and sherif. None seemed to have a clear inside track for either job last night, but two aspirants for sherif whose names were mentioned often outside the Morrison hotel meeting place were State Representative James P. Boyle and Ald. Henry Sonnenschein [22d].

Toman for Treasurer, Perhaps.

Sherif John Toman, who cannot succeed himself, was high on the list of those being considered for the treasurership, although several dark horse candidacies for this important office were being nurtured in secret.

What will happen to Treasurer Horace G. Lindheimer had every one guessing. Prevented, as is Toman, from standing for reëlection, he will be out of office next year unless slated for one of the few vacancies.

The belief that all Democratic incumbents would be reslated gained strength during the first two meetings of the slate committee. An exception might be County Judge Edmund K. Jarecki, who took a lacing from several committeemen at the county committee meeting late Thursday. The judge has sentenced a number of party workers to jail for vote frauds, although this was not mentioned at the meeting.

His opposition did not appear to worry the judge yesterday. He marched into the hotel, joked with reporters, and declared firmly that he would be on the ticket.

"And I'll be the next county judge," he added.

Mrs. Erskine Caldwell with daughter, Janet.

Augusta, Me., Jan. 28.—[Special.]—A suit for divorce accusing Erskine Caldwell, author of "Tobacco Road," of cruel and abusive treatment was on file here today. The couple maintained a summer home several years at Mount Vernon, near here, but Charles P. Nelson, Mrs. Caldwell's attorney, said she and the couple's three children were now at Hollywood, Fla. Caldwell is in New York. Mrs. Caldwell, the former Helen Lannagan of Charlottesville, Va., married the author in Georgia fifteen years ago.

WIFE RELENTS, COURT PRAISES HER AS 1 IN 1,000

Judge Philip J. Finnegan was ready yesterday to send Edward Johler, wealthy insurance man, to jail for owing his wife, Beulah, $400 for support of herself and their children, Edward, 17 years old, and Robert, 11. Then Mrs. Johler, who lives at 6440 Emerald avenue, spoke up.

Because her husband had promised to be worthy of his sons, Mrs. Johler said she did not want to send him to jail or to collect the arrearage. Commending her as one wife in a thousand, Judge Finnegan canceled the arrearage.

Then Mrs. Johler's attorney, Edward L. S. Arkema, appeared before Judge Albert M. Crampton of Moline, sitting in Superior court, and dismissed a $25,000 suit for false arrest and malicious prosecution against Mrs. Murine Frank, 34, a teacher in the Tilden Prevocational school. Mrs. Frank previously had been identified as the co-respondent named in Mrs. Johler's separate maintenance bill.

G. O. P. POLICIES TO BE STUDIED AT 2 MEETINGS SOON

The Republican party's national program committee of 200 members, appointed by the national committee at St. Louis last month, will hold its first organization meetings in Chicago Feb. 28 and March 1 at the Palmer house.

Dr. Glenn Frank, chairman of the program committee and former president of the University of Wisconsin, in Chicago yesterday said the meeting would be held to consider forms of organization and procedure.

Permanent headquarters for the committee, Dr. Frank said, would be opened soon in Chicago.

Dr. Frank will make his first political speech since his appointment at the annual Kansas Day dinner in Topeka tonight. He will speak on "Kansas, the Nation and the Republican Party."

INJURIES IN FALL FATAL.

Mrs. Winnifred Farley, 83 years old, died yesterday in St. Elizabeth's hospital from injuries incurred in a fall in her home at 105 North Lamon avenue.

CARRY ATTACK! THAT'S A TIP TO GOLDEN GLOVERS

It Counts Heavily in the Scoring.

BY WILFRID SMITH.

Now that the first stage of the annual Golden Gloves tournaments, the physical examinations, nears completion, the contestants who have filed their entries and those who will enter the Chicago bouts by midnight tomorrow night may consider the matches by which they hope to advance to the Tournament of Champions in the Stadium.

Dave Miller.

Physical examinations, at which each contestant must submit written permission of his parents or guardian to compete, will be completed Monday night and next Friday night. After these examinations, the eligible list of contestants for each sectional will be prepared to be printed in the programs. Each boy also receives at these examinations a copy of personal instructions and of the referees' instructions. These must be studied carefully.

Gloves Weigh Eight Ounces.

Each boxer should provide his own shoes and supporter and gauze bandage for his hands. If possible he must bring his own trunks. All other equipment is provided. The boxing gloves used in all matches weigh eight ounces each. Supporters and cups, and trunks, if necessary, will be provided. Clothes are checked with attendants.

Each boy receives a second physical examination on the night he reports to fight. He also is weighed and if he is entered in the welterweight class [147 pounds] for example, he cannot weigh more than 148 pounds and compete. The one pound allowance is permitted in all classes up to heavyweight.

More important to the contestants, of course, is the system of judging the bouts. Rules of the A. A. U. are followed throughout. The referee and two judges determine the winner of each match. The referee has charge of the boys during each round.

Referees are Veterans.

Nine men form the group of referees for Golden Gloves bouts. They also are in charge of the matches during the Tournament of Champions. The majority of these referees have officiated since the inception of the tournament in 1928.

The referee always will stop a bout if in his opinion a boxer is outclassed or unfit to continue. With the judges the referee renders a decision at the end of three rounds. Points are scored for each round. If the round is a draw, each boxer is awarded twenty points. The winner of each round receives twenty points and the boxer losing the round is given a lesser number of points. Total points at the end of three rounds determine the decision.

How Points Are Scored.

Points are scored for attack, for direct, clean hits with the knuckle part of either hand, when closed, on any part or sides of the head or body above the belt. Points also are scored for defense, for guarding, slipping, or ducking punches, counter-hitting and getting away. Where points are otherwise equal, consideration is given to the boxer who does the most leading.

Stanford park's Golden Gloves team is highly elated over the victory scored against the Marquette park team. The Stanford park team, which is coached by Norm Volz, defeated Marquette, 8 to 1.

The War Is On!

Mail orders are being accepted NOW for tickets for this ring carnival, as well as for the finals on March 11, when Chicago's intercity team will be chosen.

HOWELL NAMED ARIZONA STATE TEACHERS' COACH

The terms, unofficial sources said, provide that Howell be paid $2,100 for seven months, $300 for spring practice and may bring with him an assistant of his own choice.

PATTY BERG WINS GOLF TITLE WITH 10 AND 8 VICTORY

Punta Gorda, Fla., Jan. 28.—[Special.]—Patty Berg of Minneapolis today defeated Jean Bauer of Providence, R. I., 10 and 8, in the 36 hole final round of the annual women's winter golf tournament. Miss Berg was 6 up at the end of the morning round and this afternoon took the second, fifth, seventh and tenth holes to end the match.

Budge Beats Bromwich to Win Australian Title

MAROONS MEET MINNESOTA FIVE AT MINNEAPOLIS

Chicago Is Hopeful After Beating Loyola.

Minneapolis, Minn., Jan. 28.—[Special.]—Tail enders in the Big Ten conference basketball race, the University of Chicago and the University of Minnesota, will meet for the first time this season tomorrow evening. The co-champion Gophers have won one game in four starts—from Illinois with whom they shared the title last year—while the Maroon quintet has dropped its first three conference engagements.

The Maroons, however, upset the Loyola five last week, 44 to 29. Dick Lounsbury and John Eggemeyer, Chicago forwards, made eleven goals in that game. Coach Nelson Norgren of Chicago realizes that the Minnesota squad now is on the upgrade after a disastrous season start and aims to keep on winning.

Must Stop Kundla, Rolek.

If Chicago is to enter the victory bracket it must check Johnny Kundla, flashy Gopher forward who was fifth high scorer in the conference last season, and Marty Rolek, guard. Probable starting lineups:

| CHICAGO. | | MINNESOTA. |
|---|---|---|
| Eggemeyer | F | Kundla |
| Lounsbury | F | Addington |
| Amundsen | C | Manly |
| Rossin | G | Maki |

DE PAUL MEETS WESTERN

HAWKS ENDANGER HAPPINESS; PLAY NIMBLE RANGERS

Playoff Hopes Set an Altitude Record.

BY EDWARD BURNS.

The New York Rangers, excellent exponents of fast hocky, will be in Chicago Stadium tomorrow night to see what can be done about the more or less rampant Blackhawks. The Blackhawks aren't scared at all.

Manager Bill Stewart's boys yesterday put in the biggest day of elation they have enjoyed since the day after they won the Stanley cup in the spring of 1934. After glowing all week over their unexpected victory over the Boston Bruins last Sunday night, the Hawks' exuberance was multiplied many fold by their 4 to 3 triumph Thursday night over the Detroit Red Wings.

Though the Bruins are and were leading the National league and the Wings are in the cellar of the entire league, the Hawks got an infinitly bigger wallop out of beating the lowly Wings than they did in conquering the exalted Bruins.

Playoff Hopes Soar.

The fact the ever popular Johnny Gottselig made two goals in the last four minutes and nine seconds to accomplish the victory was a cheer provoker of the most inspirational type, especially since the Hawks had just seen a 2 to 0 lead switch to a 3 to 2 deficit.

Then, too, the victory over the Wings did much to buoy Hawk hopes to get in the Stanley cup playoffs. To do this they must keep ahead of the Wings, whom they now lead by 2½ games.

Their two game dramatic winning streak is not the only reason the Hawks are not frightened by the impending engagement with the Rangers, who are in second place in the American division. Though the Rangers have won sixteen victories to nine acquired by the Hawks, the Hawks have whipped the Rangers three times in four games. The Chicagoans won two encounters in New York by scores of 3 to 1 and one here, 2 to 1, before the New Yorkers socked them 4 to 1 in the Stadium Jan. 6.

The Hawks should be well rested for tomorrow night's engagement. Skipper Stewart gave the squad a layoff from practice yesterday as a reward for the accomplishments of the week and promised not to work them too hard at the drill scheduled for today.

They're Ambitious.

Despite the vacation, Jack Shill, new left winger, who pleased in his debut Thursday night, and Earl Seibert, who is trying to be a slick right winger after a life spent on defense, took a workout and were joined by Louis Trudell in the skating phase of their exercise. Trudell is out of commission with a fractured right wrist, the result of an accident in practice two days ago.

The harassed Wings face a much more strenuous week-end than do the Hawks, despite the class of the Rangers. Tonight the Wings will play the Maple Leafs in Toronto and tomorrow night they will play the Bruins in Detroit. In both games the Wings will be without the services of Bucko McDonald, their tough young defense man, who suffered a fractured rib and a kidney injury in the second period Thursday night when he was knocked down by Art Wiebe of the Hawks.

DICK METZ HAS BROKEN RIB; OUT OF GOLF 6 WEEKS

Oakland, Cal., Jan. 28. — (AP) — A broken rib, discovered ten months after he suffered it, will prevent Dick Metz, Chicago professional, from participating in golf tournaments for the next six weeks.

Metz was injured in an automobile accident in Florida last March. He resumed golf last September, but continually complained of a pain in his chest. Following completion of the Pasadena open last Monday he entered a hospital in Hollywood. Examination revealed the broken rib.

Earns Trip

Richard Selgo, 10 year old Port Clinton, O., bowler, who will compete in the A. B. C. tournament which will open March 3 in the Coliseum. He earned the trip by becoming an honor student.

Ohio Boy, 10, to Compete in A.B.C. Meet

Port Clinton, O., Jan. 28.—[Special.]—Richard Selgo, 10 year old Port Clinton boy, will compete in the singles event of the American Bowling congress tournament in Chicago. Richard, the youngest bowler ever to enter a national tournament, will accompany his father, Emil [Hark] Selgo, who will bowl with a Port Clinton team.

Richard has been bowling for three years and in a tournament last year he totaled 533. His high game is 222. Last week he scored 210 on the alleys at Sandusky. He uses a regulation sixteen pound ball and can deliver a straight ball or a hook with good results.

Richard's father had promised him the trip to Chicago if he qualified as an honor student and he made good in his studies.

Two Port Clinton teams, the Centennial Beers and the Split Specials, will represent Port Clinton in the A. B. C. meet opening in the Chicago Coliseum on March 3. The members of the Centennials are: George Sibrel, captain; Ed Buck, Emil Selgo, Defoe Cherry, Clarence Quisno, and Wanda Brown. The members of the Split Specials are: Donald Kohanke, captain; Dewey Felder, Paul Hachet, E. Puffenberger, Waldo Lindemann, and Donald Schweck.

Entries for the tourney will close Tuesday.

MICHIGAN DENIES RUMOR ITS NEW COACH IS PICKED

Ann Arbor, Mich., Jan. 28.—[Special.]—Michigan athletic authorities tonight denied rumors that Michigan's new football coach had been selected and that the announcement was being withheld until after a meeting of the board of regents next month.

Prof. Ralph W. Aigler, chairman of the board in control of physical education, said "if the new coach has been appointed I would probably know it and I positively do not know it. There has been no meeting of the board in control of physical education which will make recommendations on the new coach to the president and the board of regents."

President Alexander G. Ruthven likewise denied the coach had been selected.

BALKY PITCHER WELL SATISFIED, SAYS MacPHAIL

Bartell Turns Down Giants' Terms.

New York, Jan. 28.—[Special.]—Van Lingle Mungo, speed ball pitcher variously reported to be on his way to the New York Giants, Chicago Cubs, St. Louis Cardinals, and other clubs, is almost certain to do his pitching at Ebbets field for the Brooklyn Dodgers again this year. And what is more he already is a member in good standing with the Dodgers with his contract for 1938 approved and signed.

Van Lingle Mungo.

This information was revealed today by Larry MacPhail, recently appointed executive vice president of the Brooklyn club who arrived in New York following a trip through the middle west with Manager Burleigh Grimes. MacPhail lost no time in spreading the news.

"I have Mungo's signed contract right here in my pocket," said MacPhail, "and you can say that Van is perfectly satisfied with the terms, is ready to give the Dodgers the best season of his career and what is more, I'm confident he will do all of that."

Terms Not Revealed.

What terms the big right hander accepted were not revealed, but it is believed he will receive about $15,000, which is the amount he would have drawn for his efforts last year except for the inroads made by fines and suspensions.

Asked to amplify on how he had managed to complete this master stroke, deemed by many the most ticklish of all the various tasks that he inherited upon assuming the Brooklyn job, MacPhail said he actually encountered less difficulty than he had dared to expect.

"Following my whirl through the west," said MacPhail, "I decided to get in touch with Mungo in Florida. I asked him to meet me half way. He did. He came up to meet me in Columbia, S. C. We sat down to talk the whole Brooklyn situation over and inside of a couple of hours we had the whole thing settled.

Slight Chance for Trade.

"I honestly believe he is absolutely sincere in his assurances that he will give us his best. Shucks, the fellow is only 26, an age when anybody is liable to make a mistake. He has made several, knows now what they are, and I'm pretty sure Brooklyn will see a different Mungo this year."

Asked whether there still was a chance of Mungo figuring in a deal, MacPhail said he entertained extreme doubts.

"Of course we are still in the market for players who will help the Dodgers," said MacPhail, "and that means most anybody is apt to go, but if what I've been offered for Mungo to date is absolutely tops with those other fellows, you can rest assured the big boy will stay right in Brooklyn.

Hoyt Isn't Satisfied.

Waite Hoyt, veteran righthander, said today he would go back to pitching for the Dodgers. He added that while he had received his contract and had not yet signed he preferred not to be listed as a holdout.

"I talked things over with Manager Grimes at the close of the 1937 season and was led to expect certain things," Hoyt said "The contract I got some two weeks ago ignores these details. But I am quite sure that after I have talked with Burleigh on Sunday I will get a new agreement covering the points in question."

BARTELL BALKS AT OFFER.

Oakland, Cal., Jan. 28.—(AP)—Dick Bartell, shortstop of the New York Giants, said today he had returned his 1938 contract unsigned. He wants a raise, even though his salary of $17,000 made him probably the highest paid shortstop last season.

"I received $17,000 last year and even though I was the highest salaried shortstop in the game I feel that I am worth more money now. I had the best season of my career last year and I expect to be better this season. If a man cannot command his highest salary at his peak, when can he?"

Tony and Mike Each Win for the Sopko Family

Martin O'Gradney beat Jimmy Davenport [5].
Mike Sinko knocked out Carl Gutler [1].
Ralph Merkel stopped Ross Griswald [2].
Jessie Robinson beat Richard Stoen [3].
Harry Sobotnik beat Eddie Steele [3].
Bill Wallack beat Keith Carrigan [3].

SIX DAY BICYCLE RIDERS TRY NEW COLISEUM TRACK

13 Teams Ready for Start of Race Tomorrow.

The 26 riders who will compete in the six day bicycle race opening tomorrow night reported in the Coliseum yesterday and most of them tried out the new pine track.

The Coliseum will be open to the public free today and also tomorrow until 6 p. m. so fans may acquaint themselves with the riders as they finish preparations.

Amateurs Open Program.

Amateur riders of twelve cycling clubs will race for two hours before the start of the six day whirl, which will begin at 9 o'clock. When the amateurs finish their chores Judith Allen, an entertainer, will fire the gun that will signal the start of the long grind.

Gustav Kilian and Heinz Vopel, the German stars, will be out for their tenth straight victory. Their last triumph was achieved recently in Cleveland when they gained a lap in the final minutes to beat out Al Crossley and Jimmy Walthour. In November, 1936, when the Germans had another string of nine victories, they were halted by the French team of Emile Ignat and Emile Diot in Chicago Stadium. Walthour and Crossley beat the Germans the next month in Madison Square Garden. Kilian and Vopel have not been beaten since.

One Team Replaced.

One change was made yesterday in the lineup, Ramigio Saveedra and Caesar Bienetti being replaced by Ted Harper and Ray Ligman.

The field:

Walthour-Crossley, Kilian-Vopel, Audy-Buhler, Van Kempen-Huertgen, Yates-Ottevaere, Gruber-Heaton, LePage-Wambst, Rodak-Korsmeier, Zach-Vrooman, Peden-Spencer, Fielding-McNauwens, Harper-Ligman, and Camastro-Seatta.

Skating Stars Race Today at Glen Ellyn

The Illinois Skating association will hold races today at Glen Ellyn, the field including most of those who will compete for state championships at Aurora tomorrow afternoon.

Among the twenty-six events scheduled this afternoon are three for men and three for women of title qualifications. The events for the class A skaters are the 440 yard dash, 880 and mile. Defending state champion, Eddie Schroeder of the Northwest club, will have his last chance to get a line on his opposition before the Aurora events.

Races for Illinois high school championships will be held today on Mastodon lake in Aurora. Six local teams and a dozen downstate schools will compete. Chicago will be represented by Tilden, Lane, Austin, Lindblom, Crane and Schurz.

ROSEMEYER IS KILLED IN ROAD RACE SMASHUP

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

BERLIN, Jan. 28.—Bernd Rosemeyer, German automobile driver, winner of the Vanderbilt cup last year, was killed today in a race on the Frankfurt-on-the-Main-Darmstadt road. Rosemeyer was doing 275 miles an hour when a front tire flew off. The car skidded eighty yards, somersaulted twice and crashed. Rosemeyer was thrown into the air and landed on an embankment. He died instantly.

The attempts for new records were called off immediately after the accident. Rosemeyer was seeking to capture the recognized record for one kilometer with a flying start. This morning Rudolf Caracciola made 268.5 miles an hour, breaking Rosemeyer's mark of 252.5 miles per hour.

Rosemeyer held the European championship in 1936. During that season he won the Nurnberg ring race and the Italian Grand Prix. Last year, preparing for the Vanderbilt cup race at Westbury, N. Y., Rosemeyer claimed a new world record of 223.90 miles an hour for ten miles from a flying start. He averaged 82.56 miles per hour to win the 300 mile Vanderbilt event.

Oliver Loses to Fargo in 8 Rounds

Jack Fargo, former Hillsboro High school football player, won his first major victory when he defeated Art Oliver, 1936 American Olympic Golden Gloves heavyweight champion, in an eight round bout in the Rainbo Fronton last night. The decision of Referee Johnny Behr and Judges Edward Hintz and Carl Witt was unanimous. In the third round Oliver was dropped to his knees for an instant. The verdict was in doubt, however, until the last bell. It was Fargo's second triumph in two starts this year.

Jimmy Clark, another Golden Gloves graduate, scored a two round technical knockout over Elby Johnson in the secondary feature, also booked for eight rounds. Tom Kenneally, who suffered his first knockout recently at the hands of Fargo, stopped Eddie Dykes in the third round. In four round bouts Owen Wood whipped Joey Richards and Harry Frederickson conquered Johnny Rock.

King Levinsky, the former Chicago heavyweight boxer, used a few right crosses, uppercuts and a shoulder press last night to pin a 225 pound wrestler named Scotty Dawkins in the windup of the weekly professional wrestling show at the Marigold Gardens. Levinsky accomplished the feat in 6 minutes and 50 seconds.

Cardiff Giant, who weighs 340 pounds, used a half nelson to toss Bob Jensen in 7 minutes and 48 seconds in the semi-windup. In other matches Charles Petersen won from Cowboy Ackley in 16 minutes and 18 seconds; George Mack threw Jim Harris in 13 minutes and 55 seconds, and Husk Kewley was awarded a 30 minute decision over Vic Soldat.

Chairman Joe Triner of the Illinois boxing commission yesterday sanctioned Mique Malloy's application to promote a nontitle bout between Henry Armstrong, featherweight champion, and the best available opponent in Chicago Stadium Feb. 25. He indicated Varias Milling, veteran Filipino fighter, would be approved as the antagonist. The match originally was to be held Feb. 18, but a prior Armstrong engagement forced postponement.

Woods and Waters By Bob Becker

A German made rifle shooting seven .22 caliber bullets simultaneously is the sort of gun oddity that would intrigue either a gun collector or a hunter. Such an unusual rifle, the first that we ever have seen, recently has been acquired by a Chicago gun collector. It was made in Germany and is said to have been designed as a goose gun. The rifle bears the factory mark of the famous Krupp company of Germany.

Weighing ten pounds, this .22 rifle has a muzzle 1¼ inches wide. The heavy barrel, with seven rifled chambers, is 26 inches long. A lever of much the same type that is on some of our standard American rifles opens the breech. When the breech is open you may see the seven firing pins which strike the heads of the cartridges. The rifle is equipped with an ejector which is supposed to throw out all seven shells at once.

Using standard American .22 ammunition, we tested this gun in the woods of the experimental farm the other day. Apparently, the gun is not adapted to American ammunition, as we had difficulty in extracting shells. The rim on the head of each shell would have to be wider in order to be handled by the ejector. When it came time to remove empty shells we found that they had slipped over the ejector, making it necessary to remove them with a knife.

If this unusual gun was made to kill geese there isn't much doubt that the designer considers it a success. It makes a pattern that is quite suitable for shooting a good sized bird like a goose. In tests at twenty yards with paper targets we found that the seven .22 caliber bullets usually were placed within an eight inch circle. At thirty yards the bullets spread out over a twelve inch circle. In these circles we found one or two bullets at the top, three usually in the center, and two invariably near the bottom.

Although we couldn't get close enough to a wary crow [the only ones seen were in open fields] to see how the gun would perform on a bird of that size, it is apparent that this rifle wouldn't be of much value in hunting these pests unless the hunter could get within thirty yards of them. With the seven bullets barely getting into a circle twelve inches in diameter at thirty yards, it would be difficult to score a hit at forty or fifty yards [common ranges for the crow hunter using a twelve gauge shotgun and No. 5 or 6 shot] because the bullets would spread too wide.

Tests which we made on small birds show that this unusual rifle, because of the bullet spread, lets birds of the size of a starling sift right through the shower of .22s. We had several easy shots at starlings. The rifle sprayed bullets all around them, but did not touch them. But this same spread of bullets would be ideal when shooting at a bird of the size of a wild goose, as seven .22 bullets in a twelve inch circle at thirty yards would bring down a ten pound goose or a wild turkey without any trouble.

10 SKATE RACES MAKE UP CARD AT JACKSON PARK

Ten skating races have been arranged as a program tomorrow for the first ice carnival sponsored by Jackson park. The races, held under the auspices of the Neighborhood American Legion posts, will start at 2 o'clock. Only novices may compete and registration is restricted to persons residing in the area bounded by Cottage Grove avenue, 33d street, 79th street and east to the lake.

U. High Track Team Wins from Lake View

University high school defeated Lake View in a track meet yesterday in the University of Chicago fieldhouse. The seniors won, 63 to 29, and the juniors triumphed, 57 to 14.

Hines Scores 67; Leads in Oakland Golf

Oakland, Cal., Jan. 28.—(AP)—Jimmy Hines posted a 67 to lead the field today in the opening round of the $5,000 Oakland 72 hole open tournament. Hines hit the short but trying Sequoyah course for a 32 on the outgoing nine and finished with a 35 to set the pace for nearly 200 starters. Par is 35—35—70.

Hines, present metropolitan open champion, took up where he left off in the Pasadena open, ending last Monday, in which he finished second. He had a last round of 67 at that time on the par 71 Brookside links.

Ghezzi Gets 69.

Leonard Ott, Denver, and Johnny Perelli, Tahoa, Cal., followed Hines by one stroke. Vic Ghezzi, Deal, N. J., was within easy firing with a 69, with a 36 for the outgoing nine.

Jimmy Thomson, winner of the recent Los Angeles open, had putting trouble, compiling a pair of 37's for a 74. Sam Snead, winner of the 1937 Oakland open, showed a return to form with a 34—37—71.

Revolta Scores 71.

Johnny Revolta, Evanston, Ill., who opened the big swing with a victory in the Miami open, turned in a 35—36 for a 71, while Horten Smith, Chicago, scored a 75 with 37—38 respectively.

Stationed at par 70 with Cooper and Picard were Ben Hogan, Fort Worth, Tex., and Al Zimmerman.

Bloomington, Ill., Jan. 28.—[Special.]—Bob O'Farrell of Waukegan, who managed both the St. Louis Cardinals and Cincinnati Reds in the National league, was today named manager of the 1938 Bloomington Three Eye league club. O'Farrell began his baseball career in the Three Eye with Peoria twenty years ago.

Collegians Beat Kokots; Miller Nationals Win

The Collegians started their second half schedule in the Windy City Basketball league last night by defeating the Kokots, 31 to 21, at the Park Casino. The Miller Nationals won from the Chicago Hebrews, 41 to 34, in another league contest. The Queen Anns beat the Brownies, 33 to 23, in a girls' contest.

122d Artillery Poloists Meet 124th Tonight

A game between the 124th and 122d Field Artillery teams will head tonight's polo program in the 124th Field Artillery armory, Cottage Grove avenue and 52d street. The first game of the evening will bring together the Chicago Rangers and Olympia Fields, junior division contenders.

By winning tonight, the 124th threesome of Lieut. Don Rice, Capt. Romeo Mura, and Lieut. Bill Fergus will go into the high goal lead in the league. They are now tied with the undefeated Chicago Ramblers, each having two victories.

Four points will be presented to the 122d Field Artillery combination of Lieuts. Arnold Pio, Cliff Harrison, and Carl Johnson at game time. They rate one, two, and three goals respectively, for a total of six, as against ten for the 124th.

ST. PHILIP SENIOR FIVE AND LOYOLA JUNIORS BEATEN

Dealt First Losses in Catholic League.

St. Philip's seniors of the south section and the Loyola juniors, who had shared the north section lead, were dealt their first Catholic league basketball defeats of the season last night.

St. Philip, which had a chance to tie the idle Leo quintet for the lead, went down before Mount Carmel, 50 to 29, while St. Mel was shading Loyola, 21 to 19, to take over undisputed possession of first place in the north division. St. Mel's victory was its fourth without defeat.

Fenger Routs Calumet.

Fenger's juniors routed Calumet, 48 to 24, to take undisputed possession of first place in the Chicago Public High School league's south section race. The two schools entered the game tied for the lead, each having won four games in as many starts.

The Calumet and Hirsch seniors each won to remain in a tie for second place in the south section race. Calumet whipped Fenger, 46 to 23, and Hirsch defeated Parker, 33 to 23. It was the third victory in four starts for each.

Evanston Fives Win.

The Evanston frosh-soph quintet, meeting Oak Park for the undisputed leadership of that section of the Suburban league race, whipped the west siders, 29 to 20. The victory was Evanstor's fifth against one defeat. The Evanston heavies strengthened their first place position by routing Oak Park, 54 to 18. Waukegan dropped New Trier out of a second place tie by beating the Winnetka school, 32 to 28.

The York heavyweights, leaders in the West Suburban conference, won their seventh straight game, defeating La Grange, 41 to 25. Hinsdale remained in the running for the title by defeating Glenbard, 31 to 26, for its sixth triumph in seven starts.

STOCKS RECEDE ON ROOSEVELT'S DEFENSE PLANS

Seats Sell Lower

New York, Jan. 28.—[Special.]—A New York Stock exchange seat was sold today for $65,000, a decline of $10,000 from the last previous sale on Jan. 12 and within $4,000 of the 18 year low level established last October, when a membership sold for $61,000. The high quotation for 1937 was $134,000 in January. Today's decline came in the wake of two important events touching stock exchange affairs. One was the Securities and Exchange commission's recent order tightening restrictions on short selling. The other was the report yesterday of a special committee appointed by the exchange recommending sweeping changes in administrative policy.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, Jan. 28.—For the seventh successive session stock market prices lost ground again today. Losses at the close ranged from fractions to around 2 points in pivotal stocks, and up to 5 points in less active issues. Final prices in numerous instances, and particularly in the industrial sector, represented improvements of 1 and 2 points from the day's lows.

Volume for the day was 1,189,830 shares, or just slightly under Thursday's volume of 1,208,050 shares. The selling was concentrated in two periods, shortly before and shortly after noon, with the turnover heavy when prices were falling.

Decline After Roosevelt Message.

The selling came in the face of President Roosevelt's national defense message. The message proved to be little different than anticipated, contemplating an outlay of close to one billion dollars, mostly for naval expansion. However, the outlay to be made over the next few months and the coming year was considered by many to be much below what traders had expected, and it was on this score, it was asserted, that stocks were sold.

Stocks which stand to profit most from rearmament were hardest hit after receipt of the President's message, although they were the leaders toward the close, when steadier tendencies prevailed. The failure of the list to show vigor on an opening bulge was advanced by some commentators as contributing to the selling, especially for the accounts of disappointed "longs."

Steels Rally Near Close.

Illustrating the late recovery, U. S. Steel common advanced from 51⅝, a new low for the current move, to a final quotation of 53, off ⅜ net. Similar behavior characterized other steels, with final losses running up to 1¼ points. Bethlehem Steel was the leader both as to volume and price loss. Crucible Steel, among the few issues which advanced, closed fractionally improved.

Anaconda, American Smelting, International Nickel, and Kennecott lost fractions in the copper division.

Aviation issues, which were among the hardest hit on the selling, came back to close within fractions of previous final quotations, and a few, notably Douglas and Boeing, even pushed into the plus column with modest fractions.

General Motors and Chrysler in the automobile group both closed ⅛ of a point down. Yellow Truck firmed a fraction.

Allied Chemical Higher.

In the chemicals Allied Chemical came back to its best price of the day, to close 1 point higher. Other chemicals lost a point or so.

New York Central was an active feature in the carrier division, dropping ½ point. Fractional declines were the rule, although Santa Fe and Union Pacific each dropped 1¼ and 1 point, respectively. The latter made a new low for the 1937-'38 range. Pennsylvania, after dropping to a new low, came back to close unchanged. Chesapeake and Ohio and Baltimore and Ohio both bulged fractionally.

Gold mining shares were a bright spot. Dome Mines made a new high for the year with a fractional increase. McIntyre, up 1 point, also advanced to a new high. Homestake added a fraction, while Alaska Juneau receded a fraction.

U. S., Canada to Make New Trade Treaty

Washington, D. C., Jan. 28.—(AP)—Secretary Hull issued today formal notice of intention to negotiate a new trade agreement with Canada. He called on producers, exporters, and importers to submit by March 12 their opinions on possible reductions of tariffs. Public hearings on the agreement will begin April 4.

Sec. Cordell Hull.

The secretary also published an 18 page list of Canadian exports to this country on which tarif reductions may be considered.

Replaces Present Treaty.

The negotiations will be for a trade agreement to take the place of the existing one which went into effect Jan. 1, 1936. The new accord will broaden the base of the present one, making new tarif reductions.

Among the products on Hull's list were:

Includes Many Foods.

Also maple syrup, beef, veal, mutton, lamb, swine, pork, bacon, whole milk, buttermilk, eggs, several varieties of fish, barley, buckwheat, oats, oatmeal, rye, wheat, wheat flour, dried beet pulp, berries, cut flowers, tree and shrub seeds, beets, seed potatoes, Irish potatoes, carrots, radishes, cauliflower, rhubarb, flax straw, hose, several varieties of paper, several types of furs, moccasins, gloves.

EUROPEANS WANT U. S. STEEL FIRMS TO JOIN CARTEL

New York, Jan. 28.—(AP)—A delegation of European steel leaders will arrive here next Thursday to invite American steel companies to join the European steel cartel, with the view of stabilizing export steel prices, trade quarters revealed today.

The cartel is an international organization which allocates export quotas to participating steel makers, with a view to eliminating price cutting and competition in the export market. Members of the cartel include Great Britain, Germany, France, Belgium, Poland, Czechoslovakia, and Austria.

American steel executives stressed that thus far America's joining the cartel is only in "the conversational stage." They said next week's parleys will continue talks under way for several months.

An official of one large American producer stressed the point that any conferences with the Europeans would be in regard to export prices, and that prices of domestic steel do not enter into the situation.

Estimate Week's Output of Automobiles at 59,365

Detroit, Mich., Jan. 28.—(AP)—Ward's Automotive Reports said today that output of the automobile plants for the current week would be 59,365 units, against 65,418 last week and 76,620 this week a year ago. The survey said indications were that the "general trend would be somewhat lower for the coming few weeks," and estimated a February output of approximately 210,000 cars and trucks, a decline of about 45 per cent from the comparative February figure for 1937.

Bank of France Earns More; Dividend Payment Boosted

[Copyright: 1938: By the New York Times.]

PARIS, Jan. 28.—The Bank of France announced today that 1937 gross profits were 713,000,000 francs, a decrease of 139,750,000 francs from the preceding year. [The franc is currently quoted at about 3.26 cents.] However, economies gave a net profit of 250,350,000 francs, exceeding last year's by more than 17,000,000. The dividend was increased from 250 to 285 francs.

TVA DEFENDS LAND PURCHASE, DESPITE SELLER'S BIG PROFIT

Knoxville, Tenn., Jan. 28.—(AP)—Two officials of the Tennessee Valley authority defended today a $678,000 purchase of phosphate lands in Williamson county as "worth every cent we paid for it." Their statements were made after publication of a report that the International Argicultural corporation made a profit of $527,185 in selling 353 acres of land to the TVA several months ago.

J. J. Watson, the company president, told stockholders in annual meeting that "sale of certain phosphate rock lands in Tennessee to the Tennessee Valley authority resulted in a net profit of $527,185 to the company." [The report was published in THE TRIBUNE of Wednesday morning.]

Neil Bass, administrative assistant to Dr. H. A. Morgan, TVA director, said he understood the International Agricultural corporation paid comparatively little for the land.

"We don't care what the International Agricultural corporation paid for the land," Bass said. "We are interested in whether the land was worth what we paid for it. Our engineers examined the land and are convinced it is worth every cent we paid for it."

Dr. Harry A. Curtis, TVA chief chemical engineer, agreed with Bass.

ARMOUR HEAD REPORTS MORE INVENTORY LOSS

Robert H. Cabell, president of Armour & Co., told stockholders at the annual meeting yesterday that inventory losses which hurt the company's earnings in the fiscal year ended Oct. 30 had continued because of price declines during November, December, and part of January.

Prices have recently shown some signs of stabilizing, and "if consumer demand increases, we believe we can operate profitably for a reasonable time," he said.

Stockholders approved a plan to modify the company's $75,000,000 refinancing program authorized last June, before the securities market slump. The amended plan makes it possible to issue convertible bonds or debentures from time to time, as market conditions permit, instead of issuing the aggregate amount of $75,000,000 at one time. Proceeds are to be used to retire bank loans and 7 per cent preferred stock of Armour & Co. of Delaware.

The five directors whose three year terms had expired were reëlected. Directors reëlected all officers.

MIDDLE WEST ASKS APPROVAL OF CLAIM PLAN

Approval of a settlement of claims against Insull Utility Investments, Inc., and Corporation Securities company was sought yesterday by the Middle West corporation from the Securities and Exchange commission.

Middle West, under the terms of the settlement, would acquire title to 250,080 shares of Central and Southwest Utilities company and 27,402 shares of North American Light and Power stock and $35,000 cash from the trustees of the two companies.

The claims grew out of a switch of securities made by the companies in 1931 when Samuel Insull was attempting to obtain money for the two investment firms. Middle West Utilities, predecessor of Middle West corporation, turned over to Insull Utility and Corporation Securities stocks they could use as collateral for bank loans. They received in return the securities it now proposes to take title to.

Many Oil Wells in Texas Forced to Close by Floods

Austin, Tex., Jan. 28.—[Special.]—More than 1,000 oil wells were forced out of production today by a flood in the Sabine river through the East Texas fields. A serious menace of widespread fire damage, and the prospect that another 1,000 wells may be engulfed by the flood were reported to the Texas railroad commission.

International Shoe Gets Million Dollar U. S. Order

Boston, Mass., Jan. 28.—(AP)—First army corps headquarters today announced award of a million dollar contract to the International Shoe company of St. Louis, lowest bidder, to furnish 450,004 pairs of service shoes for the Civilian Conservation corps. Prices of the shoes will range from $2.14 to $2.32 a pair.

U. S. Steel Puts Office Staf on 5 Day Week

Curb Cuts Salaries

New York, Jan. 28.—(AP)—Due to the decline in income caused by light securities trading, the New York Curb exchange today reduced salaries of its 500 to 600 employés between 10 to 15 per cent, and eliminated fees paid governors and committee members for attending meetings. The exchange said no employé's pay would be reduced under $15.

Pittsburgh, Pa., Jan. 28.—(AP)—White collar workers of the United States Steel corporation, from the board's chairman, Myron C. Taylor, down to the office boys, were notified tonight of a "share work" plan which would amount to a pay reduction of approximately 9 per cent. An official estimated that between 20,000 and 25,000 workers would be involved.

Effective Feb. 1, the office and executive forces will be placed on a five day week instead of the present five and one-half day schedule. Several other corporations have made similar changes without reducing the base pay.

Negotiate Soon on Labor.

The move came on the eve of negotiations scheduled to begin Feb. 7, between the company and the steel workers' organizing committee regarding a new labor contract for mill workers. Preliminary conferences to these negotiations were held in New York last month, leading Steel Labor, the committee's magazine, to predict that the contracts would be renewed. They expire Feb. 28.

Since that time however, President Roosevelt brought up the question of high prices, causing Benjamin F. Fairless, president of the corporation, to inform a senatorial investigating committee that wages would have to be reduced if steel prices were forced down.

AFFECTS CHICAGO AREA.

About 5,000 office workers and executives in the Chicago district are affected by the action of United States Steel corporation in reducing the hours of these employés, representatives of the company said last night.

The order results, it was explained, in setting a maximum of 40 hours a week for office workers, compared with the present 45 hours. The rate of pay is not changed but the reduction in hours means a cut of approximately 9 per cent in wages of individuals. The total pay roll will not be reduced.

"Our general plan of spreading work continues to apply in all classes of employment in all departments of our activities," a company representative said.

Officials of the Inland Steel company, large Chicago independent steel company, said last night that they had taken no action on salary reductions.

SCIENTIFIC RESEARCH TERMED STRONG FOE OF UNEMPLOYMENT

Scientific research, a basic factor in the constant advance of the world's industry, was termed one of the strongest foes of unemployment by Dr. Edward R. Weidlein, director of the Mellon Institute of Industrial Research, in an address to members of the Commercial club of Chicago at the Blackstone hotel last night.

Dr. E. R. Weidlein.

Pointing out that enterprises and industries created by scientific research in the last fifty years have given employment to untold millions, Dr. Weidlein said that technical application of such research is just beginning.

"The increasing productivty of industry resulting from scientific research is very benefical to workers in there ever-increasing efforts to raise their standard of living," he said. "Industrial research brings new opportunities to labor, and always is antagonistic to unemployment."

Syndicate to Finish Giant Structure.

Washington, D. C., Jan. 28.—[Special.]—The federal government has awarded a $34,442,240 contract to the Interior Construction company, Oakland, Cal., for completion of the Grand Coulee dam on the Columbia river, Secretary Ickes announced today. The Interior Construction company is a syndicate of ten large construction companies. It was the lowest of two bidders for the job.

The contract is one of the largest ever awarded for a federal reclamation project, according to the secretary. It calls for placing approximately 5,250,000 cubic yards of concrete on the recently completed foundation for the dam. The dam will be 550 feet high when finished.

Work to Start Soon.

According to Secretary Ickes, work must begin within 30 days after the reclamation bureau notifies the company to proceed. Notification will be given as soon as the contract is on file, the bureau said.

"The new contract involves principally the manufacture of concrete and its placement, whereas the first contract covered excavation of the foundation areas as well as the placement of about 4,450,000 cubic yards of concrete," Secretary Ickes said.

Approximately 160,000,000 pounds of steel, 10,000,000 pounds of pipe and fittings, 50,000,000 pounds of gates and operating devices, 24,000,000 pounds of trashrack metal work will go into the dam.

Contract for Construction.

The government will supply all materials for the project except sand and gravel, which will be obtained from nearby deposits, the secretary said. The new contract involves only actual construction.

Grand Coulee dam, when completed, will stretch almost a mile across the Columbia river gorge. According to government engineers it will create a reservoir 151 miles long, thereby assuring water for irrigation of 1,200,000 acres of land in central Washington.

The foundation dam, begun in 1934, rises approximately 177 feet above bedrock. About three times as much concrete as went into Boulder dam on the Colorado river will go into the Grand Coulee structure, according to specifications.

Arrangements called for posting of bonds totaling $7,500,000 by the company. Of this amount, $5,000,000 was to guarantee that terms of the contract will be fulfilled. The remainder was to assure payment of bills.

Members of Syndicate.

The contracting firms comprising the Interior Construction company include Silas Mason company, New York City; Walsh Construction company, Davenport, Ia., and Atkinson-Kier company, San Francisco, who combined to form the M-W-A-K company which built the foundation dam; Morrison-Knudson company, Boise, Idaho; J. F. Shea company, Los Angeles; McDonald & Kahn company, Los Angeles; Pacific Bridge company, San Francisco; Henry J. Kaiser company, Oakland, Cal., and Utah Construction company, Ogden, Utah, members of the Six Companies, Inc., which built Boulder dam, and General Construction company of Seattle.

ROCK ISLAND'S NET OPERATING INCOME CLIMBS

The Rock Island railroad had a substantial increase in net operating income in 1937, E. M. Durham Jr., chief executive officer, reported yesterday. The total was $4,458,707, against $1,000,681 in 1936. December, 1937, net operating income was $415,101, against $865,849 in December, 1936. The 1937 gross revenues of $81,643,250 were the largest since 1931.

Net operating income of the Illinois Central railroad in 1937 was $17,881,-815, against $17,115,016 in 1936. December net operating income was $2,176,210, against $2,560,724. Net income was $1,960,316, against $764,743 in 1936.

Net operating income of the Canadian Pacific for 1937 was $23,742,247, against $23,311,111 for 1936. December net operating income was $2,925,-366, against $3,541,807.

Franc Rallies on Support of U. S. and French Funds

The French franc rose 0.03875 cent to 3.265 cents on exchange transactions yesterday. Support for the currency was said to have been given by the French and American stabilization funds. Other foreign currencies advanced. The British pound closed ½ cent higher at $5.00⅜, and the Belgian unit and Swiss franc rose 0.015 cent each. The New York Reserve bank reported the engagement yesterday of $330,000 gold in India for shipment to this country.

Lima Locomotive Works Gets Order for 6 Engines

Lima, O., Jan. 28.—(AP)—The Lima Locomotive works announced today receipt of an order for six streamlined passenger engines from the Grand Trunk Western, a Canadian National railway subsidiary operating in the United States. The engines are to be of the eight-four typo with 77 inch drivers. The cost was reported to be about $100,000 each.

Chicago's First Zinc Rolling Mill

The above half million dollar plant of the Illinois Zinc company, to be erected in the Kenwood manufacturing district, on West 47th street, will be Chicago's first zinc strip rolling mill. It was designed and will be built by the Austin company.

Copper Price Is Reduced to 10c a Pound

The price of domestic copper was cut to 10 cents a pound yesterday by both custom smelters and primary producers, bringing the market back to the low level of last December. Before yesterday, smelters had quoted 10¼ cents a pound, and producers 10½ cents.

In line with the cut, leading fabricators reduced prices of wire products ⅜ to ½ cent a pound. Copper futures reacted, closing 0.14 to 0.16 cent lower. Other metal futures were steady to slightly lower.

Seek Base for U. S. Bids.

Simultaneous action of producers and smelters was believed in trade circles to mean that leading copper sellers were seeking a quotation base for bids on government business. It was pointed out, however, that actual contracts for the enlarged armament program were not expected for some time.

Sugar futures rose 0.01 to 0.01⅓ cent in the world market and .01 to .02 cent in the domestic contract. Raw sugar was unchanged in the spot market, and refined was steady at 4.65 cents to 4.75 cents.

Cocoa futures climbed 0.14 to 0.19 cent a pound. Rubber futures dropped 0.10 to 0.13 cent, and hides were down 0.02 to 0.06 cent. Silk was irregular, closing ½ cent lower to 1 cent higher.

Coffee contracts were irregular, with the Rio contract closing 0.04 cent higher, and the Rio futures dropping 0.01 to 0.05 cent.

Cash Eggs Steady.

Eggs in the Chicago cash market were steady, with dealers reporting increased regular demand. Egg futures on the Chicago Mercantile exchange were irregular. The old crop contracts, in which trading expires today, closed at 15¼ cents, down ¾. February fresh and October storage contracts rose ⅛ cent.

Butter futures sagged ⅛ to ⅜ cent in slow trading. November contracts reached a new low for the season at 29¾ cents. Butter for immediate delivery was unchanged to ¼ cent higher.

The Associated Press average of 35 wholesale commodity prices declined to a new 1937-'38 low of 72.64 from 72.68 Thursday.

FREIGHT TRAFIC DECLINES MORE THAN NORMALLY

Revenue freight trafic in the week ended Jan. 22 showed a slightly more than seasonal decrease, the total number of cars loaded being 10,267, or 1.8 per cent, less than in the preceding week as well as far less than during the corresponding week of 1937, according to the report issued yesterday by the Association of American Railroads.

There were 370,333 cars loaded in the week ended Jan. 22, a decrease of 95,013 cars, or 14.3 per cent, from the corresponding week a year ago. The total also was 2½ per cent less than two years ago.

ILLINOIS ZINC TO BUILD BIG CHICAGO MILL

Will Be First of Kind in City.

BY AL CHASE.

Chicago will soon have its first strip zinc rolling mill. Contracts were let yesterday for a half million dollar plant to be erected on the south side of West 47th street, opposite Sacramento avenue, in the Kenwood Manufacturing district, by the Illinois Zinc company. The Austin company, engineers and builders, are to construct the new plant.

Work is scheduled to start at once with the expectation by company officials of having the plant completed by May 1 and in operation soon afterward.

Building Design Modern.

The building, to be of modern design, will be of steel, concrete and brick construction, 130 by 500 feet, one story in height.

According to officials of the Illinois Zinc company, producers of zinc since 1870 at Peru, Ill., the new plant will be equipped with the latest type of rolling equipment. This will enable it to operate more economically than at Peru and to produce zinc alloys and strip zinc of improved quality, it was said.

Will Move Some Equipment.

The present Peru strip rolling mill equipment will be moved to Chicago. The Peru sheet zinc rolling mill will remain down state. The company's general offices are at 323 South Michigan avenue, Chicago, and in addition to its sheet and strip rolling mills at Peru, it has zinc smelters at Dumas, Tex., and zinc mines at Hanover, N. M.

The factory site, 775 by 130 feet, was purchased from the Phipps Industrial Land trust, owner and developer of the Kenwood Manufacturing district, represented by J. H. Van Vlissingen & Co.

DAWES AND DUNN MADE DIRECTORS OF RADIO CORP.

New York, Jan. 28.—[Special.]—Charles G. Dawes, former Vice President of the United States, and Gano Dunn, noted scientist, engineer, administrator and president of the J. G. White Engineering corporation, were elected to the board of directors of the Radio Corporation of America at the regular meeting of the board held today, it was announced by David Sarnoff, president. They fill vacancies due to the recent deaths of Frederick Strauss, banker, and Newton D. Baker, former secretary of war.

United States, Department of the Interior, National Bituminous Coal Commission, Washington, D. C. Order No. 204. An order providing for a hearing for the purpose of receiving evidence relating to the commission's motion made pursuant to section 4-11—(B) of the act to review and revise minimum prices and marketing rules and regulations relating to sales of railroad locomotive fuel, fixing the time and place of such hearing and prescribing the giving of notice thereof. Pursuant to act of congress entitled "An act to regulate interstate commerce in bituminous coal, and for other purposes" (Public, No. 48, 75th Cong., 1st sess.), known as the Bituminous Coal act of 1937, the national bituminous coal commission pursuant to section 4-11—(B) of the act, upon its own motion proposes to review and consider a revision of the present established minimum prices and marketing rules and regulations applying to sales of coal for railroad locomotive fuel, as contained in the schedules of minimum prices now in effect and applying to coals of code members produced within the several districts, the modifications of such minimum prices and marketing rules and regulations which will be considered by the commission being set forth in the following proposal:

That minimum prices established for application to sales of railroad locomotive fuel and based upon a value in use for that purpose be rescinded; and all sales and offers for sale of coal for railroad purposes be made at not less than the minimum prices established by the commission for general application in the market area in which is located the mine from which shipment is made, subject, however, to the following limitations and conditions:

(A). No discount, commission or other allowance or deduction from minimum prices shall be paid or allowed to any sales agent, registered wholesaler or other purchaser of railroad fuel.

(B). No substitution may be made upon any order or contract for railroad fuel, of a grade or size of coal taking a minimum price higher than the price stipulated in the order or contract; that is to say, that in every case of sale and purchase of railroad fuel the seller shall charge and the purchaser shall pay not less than the minimum price established for the grade and size of coal actually delivered.

(C). No distinction or difference as to minimum price for railroad fuel shall be made between sales of coal to "on-line" railroads and to "off-line" railroads.

(D). Where coal sold for railroad fuel purposes is crushed before delivery (excluding any case where crushing of coal is regularly done preliminary to any cleaning process) the minimum price for such crushed coal shall be the price established for the grade and size of coal before crushing, plus a charge of not less than five cents a ton for crushing.

(E). No reduction shall be made in any minimum price applying to sales of railroad fuel by reason of any difference in cost of transportation from the mine to the point of distribution or consumption in the case of "on-line" railroads or in the case of "off-line" railroads because of any difference in the amount of freight charges paid on such coal by the "off-line" railroad as between competing mines and districts.

Now, therefore the commission hereby orders and directs:

That a hearing be held on the 14th day of February, 1938, commencing at the hour of 10 o'clock A. M. in the hearing room in the Walker Building, Washington, D. C. at which time all interested parties may submit evidence relating to the proposed revision of railroad fuel prices and marketing rules and regulations, as said proposal is set forth herein.

2. Notice of the time, place and purpose of hearing to be held under this order shall be given by the secretary of the commission by causing to be published a copy of this order in a newspaper of general circulation in districts Nos. 1 to 20, inclusive, and Nos. 22 and 23 and by mailing a copy of this order to the secretary of each of said district boards and to all code members in the respective districts and to the consumers' counsel and shall cause to be published a copy of this order in the Federal register.

3. The hearing provided to be held under order No. 122 of the commission and now adjourned to the 7th day of February, 1938, is hereby directed to be further adjourned and to be consolidated with the hearing to be held on the 14th day of February, 1938, as herein provided.

4. The proposal herein before contained is not to be construed as an order of this commission but merely a proposal under consideration and does not permit sales of railway fuel to be presently made at the prices and on the terms and conditions set forth in said proposal. Railroad locomotive fuel prices and marketing rules and regulations heretofore in effect shall continue until further order of the commission.

By order of the commission.

(Seal) F. Witcher McCullough, Secretary.

Farm Credit Administration, 1300 P Street Northwest, Washington, D. C., January 21, 1938—Sealed bids will be received at this office until twelve o'clock noon February 15, 1938, and then opened for the sale of the following described property: "One frame, iron clad grain elevator of approximately 20,000 bushels capacity together with appurtenant buildings and machinery and/or equipment therein or used in connection therewith, all of which are located on land owned in fee Lots One (1) Two (2), Three (3), Four (4) and Five (5) in Block "D" of Oakley as per Plat recorded in Book 6 page 159 of the Records in the Recorder's Office of Macon County, Illinois: One steel iron clad grain elevator of approximately 25,000 bushels capacity, together with appurtenant buildings and machinery and/or equipment therein or used in connection therewith, all as located on the right-of-way of the Wabash Railway Company at Oakley, Macon County, Illinois." The conveyance transferring title to this property will be quit claim deed and bill of sale without warranty executed on behalf of the United States of America by the Governor of the Farm Credit Administration. Each bid submitted must be for cash and accompanied by certified check for $2000.00 and the sealed envelope of transmittal should be marked "Bid—Oakley, Illinois, to be opened February 15, 1938." The right is reserved to reject any and all bids.

W. I. MYERS, Governor.

Stocks, Bonds

New York Bonds.

New York, Jan. 28.—(AP)—The bond market had firm spots today despite continued liquidation at lower prices for a number of railroad and utility issues.

United States governments provided an example of strength for the low-yield corporate group, with gains running from 1-32 to 9-32 point and largely outnumbering declines. Treasury 3¼s of 1964 dropped 23-32 on a sale of 7 bonds. Declines in others were small.

Obligations of several railroads recently under severe pressure turned steadier. Ending with minor fractional advances were Erie 5s, Southern railway 4s and Rock Island 4s. Others gaining ground were Boston and Maine 5s of 1967, up 3%; International Paper 5s, up 1%; American Water Works 6s, up 2, and Armour 4s, up 1¼.

Chicago Stocks.

Most Chicago stocks moved fractionally lower yesterday in trade totaling 27,000 shares. Of the 96 issues traded, 51 decline, 9 advanced, and 36 were unchanged. THE TRIBUNE average of 20 representative stocks closed at 9.26, down 0.15.

Among volume leaders, Commonwealth Edison at 24½ and Armour at 5⅝ were ⅛ lower. Chicago Corporation was unchanged at 2. Middle West advanced ⅛ at 4⅞ and Cities Service gained ⅛ at 1⅞.

Arrangements were completed for the sale of two memberships unchanged at $2,000 each, and one at $1,900, down $100.

Bank Stocks.

Chicago bank stocks were quiet yesterday after two days of comparatively wide price fluctuations. The largest change yesterday was a $5 decline in Northern Trust company shares, which previously had bucked the current to make a $10 advance. City National Bank and Trust company stock dipped $2 a share and First National $1. Most others were unchanged from Thursday.

C. & O. TO ASSUME CONTROL OF ERIE, NICKEL PLATE

Stock Purchase Will Take Effect Today.

Cleveland, O., Jan. 28.—(AP)—Chesapeake and Ohio railroad tomorrow will take direct control of Erie and Nickel Plate railroads through purchase of capital stock from the Alleghany corporation, top holding company of the Van Sweringen railroads, and the Virginia Transportation corporation, a Chesapeake and Ohio subsidiary.

A spokesman for the roads, which now are controled by Robert R. Young and eastern associates, said today that the transfer will take place at the New York Trust company in New York.

What C. & O. Will Pay.

Chesapeake and Ohio, biggest money maker of the Van Sweringen roads, proposes to Pay Alleghany corporation $5,065,475 for 167,000 shares of Nickel Plate common and 215,000 shares of Erie common stock. All but $550,000 already has been paid and this will be arranged tomorrow through cancellation of a debt which Alleghany corporation owes to Chesapeake and Ohio. These holdings represent 49.58 per cent of Nickel Plate and 10 per cent of Erie stocks.

Through an arrangement by which Chesapeake and Ohio will cancel an equal amount of stock it holds in the Virginia Transportation corporation, C. & O. is obtaining Virginia Transportation's 7.44 per cent interest in Nickel Plate stock and 45.68 per cent interest in Erie.

Stock to Be Transferred.

The stock, authorized to be transferred, includes 25,100 shares of Nickel Plate common, 151,405 shares of Erie first preferred, 60,195 shares of Erie second preferred, and 769,800 shares of Erie common.

Together, Alleghany and Virginia Transportation have owned 57.02 per cent of Nickel Plate and 55.68 per cent of Erie, which now is in reorganization with a trustee scheduled to be named in federal court here Feb. 14.

U. S. PULLING OUT OF DEPRESSION, SAY RAIL CHIEFS

Pittsburgh, Pa., Jan. 28.—(AP)—Several railway chiefs—including heads of three of the nation's largest roads—surveyed the business front today and concurred in the opinion that the country is pulling out of the recession.

M. W. Clement, president of the Pennsylvania, said, "business has already dragged bottom. It is starting on the upgrade. There will be a great improvement in the spring."

E. E. Norris, president of the Southern: "Very soon things will be humming so that the American people will hardly know they have had a depression."

L. W. Baldwin, head of Missouri Pacific: "We have not only hit the bottom in this depression, but we are on the way up."

H. G. Ellerd Named Head of A. of C. Executive Group

Harvey G. Ellerd of Armour & Co., was elected chairman of the executive committee of the Chicago Association of Commerce yesterday. Avery Brundage was elected vice chairman. Other new members of the committee are John Holmes, Lawrence H. Whiting, Walter J. Delaney, J. D. Allen, Otto K. Eitel, Merle J. Trees, and Sanford B. White.

Americans Invest More in Canada than Britons

MONTREAL, Que., Jan. 28.—[Special.]—An analysis as of Dec. 31, 1937, just completed by the dominion bureau of statistics and made public today, shows that foreign capital invested in the dominion amounted to $6,848,000,000 of which $2,721,000,000 came from the United Kingdom and $3,996,000,000 from the United States.

Double Liability.

Until recently owners of national bank stock were responsible individually for the debts of the bank up to the amount of the par value of their shares. Similar liability has attached to bank stock under the laws of most states. It is known as "double liability" because the shareholder, after suffering the loss of his investment, is liable for the additional amount equal to the par value of his shares.

Stockholders' liability in national banks was removed as part of the legislative program creating the Federal Deposit Insurance corporation. Many states have likewise repealed the liability provision. The step has been justified on the grounds that banks must pay the cost of insuring their depositors' claims and should be relieved of additional liability.

Some states, notably Illinois, still have the double liability clause. Its presence has discouraged the investment of new capital in Illinois banks. Since the banking moratorium in 1933, 106 banks in Illinois have been granted national charters, sixteen of them recruited from the state banking system. In the same period Illinois has chartered only five state banks.

Ten states have removed double liability in recent years and nine others have eliminated it in cases where the banks provide deposit insurance. Massachusetts and North Dakota have adopted similar legislation which will become effective soon. In addition, the question is now pending in five states, including Illinois, whose voters will ballot this year on a proposed amendment to the state constitution to eliminate double liability.

Tomorrow: Fully Paid and Non-Assessable.

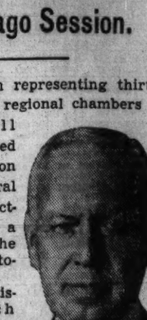
BUSINESS MEN PLAN TO UNITE ON LEGISLATION

Entire U. S. Represented at Chicago Session.

Business men representing thirty-two states and regional chambers of commerce will prepare for united political action on proposed federal legislation affecting them at a meeting at the Palmer house today.

Among the issues on which these delegates will attempt to unite for action are the wages and hours bill, the Borah-O'Mahoney bill providing for the federal licensing of all corporations, the undistributed profits tax, capital gains and losses provisions of the federal revenue act, and the proposed reorganization of government in regional TVA bills.



C. G. Ferris cites business men's common interests.

Every District Represented.

The Illinois Chamber of Commerce will be host at this gathering, at which every part of the country will be represented. An effort will be made to correlate viewpoints into a common, aggressive action. This will include the relationship between the thousands of individual members of the state commerce groups and their congressmen.

C. G. Ferris, executive vice president of the Illinois chamber, said:

"Fundamentally, the memberships of the various state and regional chambers scattered from the Atlantic to the Pacific have a common interest in the many national issues which are now before us.

"Time to Do Something."

"Present conditions are so abnormal that these state organizations feel the time has come for attempting to reach an agreement on fundamentals and to do something about it through coördinated action. This plan was followed during the special session of congress in a united stand on the Black-Connery wage and hour measure, which, though defeated by a slight margin, will unquestionably be revived through the introduction of several bills at this session."

IDLE INCREASE ABOUT 1,300,000 IN DECEMBER

New York, Jan. 28.—(AP)—The national industrial conference board in a survey today estimated the number of unemployed increased about 1,300,000 in December, bringing the total to 8,998,000. Since September the number of unemployed has risen approximately 3,000,000, it said.

"The greatest declines in employment in recent months were in manufacturing, transportation, construction, and agriculture," it said. "Between September and December employment in manufacturing declined 1,278,000 workers; in transportation, 134,000; in construction, 152,000, and in agriculture, 1,470,000. Employment in trade, distribution, and finance showed an increase of 407,000 in this period."

The total number of employed workers was estimated by the survey at 44,292,000 in December.

U. S. Bureau Asks Report from Commodity Brokers

The Commodity yExchange administration yesterday asked brokers dealing in commodity futures for a statement of their market commitments as of Jan. 31, 1938. Representatives of the CEA here said the request had no special significance.

SEVERAL FIRMS DECIDE TO PAY LESS DIVIDENDS

Hamilton Watch Payment Is 25 Cents.

The Hamilton Watch company and several other corporations yesterday declared smaller dividends than in preceding quarters. Hamilton Watch ordered a quarterly payment of 25 cents per common share on March 15. This is the same amount as was paid a year ago, but the company boosted its quarterly dividend to 40 cents last June, to 60 cents in September, and 75 cents in December.

Announcement also was made that directors of the Bunker Hill & Sullivan Mining and Concentrating company have decided to discontinue common dividends because of the state of general business and particularly the unsatisfactory condition of the base metal markets. The company is primarily a lead and zinc producer.

Eaton Company Pays Less.

The Eaton Manufacturing company, makers of automobile products, ordered a 25 cent common payment Feb. 15, compared with 75 cents each in the preceding two quarters and 50 cents quarterly previously. In addition, a year-end payment of 75 cents was paid last December.

Munsingwear, Inc., will pay 25 cents Feb. 10. It made two 75 cent payments last year, plus a distribution of one-half share of Wayne Knitting mill.

The H. W. Gossard company ordered a 25 cent payment on March 1. It paid $1.25 in 1937, including 50 cents on Nov. 24.

A payment of 25 cents will be made March 15 by Sylvania corporation, which paid 35 cents each last May and August, and 25 cents in November.

Declares Special Dividend.

A special dividend of 50 cents, the same as the last previous payment on July 1, 1936, will be paid by Chickasha Cotton Oil company on March 1.

The Curtis Publishing company will pay $1 on its $7 preferred stock April 1. This is the same amount as was paid Dec. 1, increasing dividend arrears to $9.25 a share.

Northern Pacific.

Investors' Guide: I am interested in the Northern Pacific railroad. Is it strong?—J. B.

Answer: The Northern Pacific Railway company operates one of the three big railroad systems serving the northwest. The road's main line extends from Lake Superior cities to Minneapolis, Minn., and from there to important cities of Washington, Oregon, and British Columbia. Roughly, it parallels the lines of the Great Northern and the Chicago, Milwaukee, St. Paul and Pacific.

Northern Pacific has about 6,728 miles of track. Together with the Great Northern, it controls, the Chicago, Burlington and Quincy railroad, a 9,300 mile system operating in the central western states. Northern Pacific alone owns 48.59 per cent of Burlington's capital stock.

An important subsidiary of Northern Pacific is the 100 per cent owned Northwestern Improvement company, which has large blocks of land, coal mines, deposits of iron ore, and other property. The Northern Pacific also has substantial land holdings exclusive of those owned by the Northwestern Improvement company.

Trafic of the road is diversified. Classification of commodity tonnage for 1936 showed that products of agriculture accounted for 18.28 per cent of trafic, animal products 2.71 per cent, products of mines 26.83 per cent, products of forests 28.87 per cent, manufactured goods and miscellaneous produ ts 21.83 per cent, and less than carloao lot shipments 1.48 per cent.

The road this week reported 1937 net income of $117,741, a decline of $1,699,041 from net income of $1,816,783 in 1936. This decrease approximated the reduction in the Burlington dividend paid to the Northern Pacific in 1937. In 1936 the Burlington paid $3,320,718 in dividends to Northern Pacific. In 1937 the Burlington dividend received by Northern Pacific was just half the amount received in 1936, or $1,660,358. Earnings in recent years:

|---|---|---|---|
| 1936 | 61,906,306 | 1,816,783 | 0.73 |
| 1935 | 53,845,654 | 431,782 | 0.17 |
| 1934 | 51,407,775 | 899,406 | 0.36 |
| 1933 | 47,578,677 | 303,979 | 0.12 |
| 1932 | 47,084,176 | *1,991,406 | *0.80 |
| 1929 | 96,522,348 | 21,808,309 | 8.79 |

*Deficit.

The road has 2,480,000 shares of $100 par capital stock outstanding on which no dividends have been paid since 1932.

Equipment trust obligations and main line first mortgage bonds are regarded as sound. Junior obligations are somewhat speculative. The common stock is speculative.
